LONDON, Aug. 11, 9:45 p.m. — While the Russians are fighting desperately to extricate themselves from the cordon of Austro-German troops, which is steadily closing them more closely in Poland, their allies are working feverishly and with considerable success against the Dardanelles, through which they hope to pour into Russia much needed munitions of war.

On Saturday night, when fresh British forces were landed on the Gallipoli Peninsula, there has been almost continuous fighting on the Turkish road. In these operations the Australians and New Zealanders in the Anzac region, a name taken from the initial letters of the words Australian New Zealand army corps, have co-operated with new forces to the north. LOS ANGELES MAN ACCUSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, Aug. 11.—William Clark, who says his home is in Los Angeles, was in County Court this morning on the charge of slander. The complaining witness was Mrs. G. W. Henderson, wife of a mining man of Mexico. She alleges Clark declared "that she had gone to Juarez with his (Clark's) son and spent money in the gambling places."

The statement is alleged to have been made after a preliminary hearing in a justice's court in which Mrs. Henderson alleged Clark, Sr., had passed drafts on her which were not supported by funds.

As a defense Clark is alleged to have declared that the money was spent by Mrs. Henderson while in Juarez. Judge Adrian Pool refused to dismiss the charge. Clarke is also held on bond in the original charge of swindling. Clark returned from Los Angeles to answer the charge.

COTTON ENTERS GERMANY, BRITAIN MAY BUY CROP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—At a meeting held tonight to impress upon the government the necessity of declaring cotton contraband of war, a letter from Lord Beresford was read which he advocated as the solution of the problem the purchase by the British government of the entire cotton crop of the United States to be held after the war even if at a loss. It was said that had cotton been declared contraband at the beginning of the war the conflict now would be approaching its conclusion.

"Cotton still is entering Germany" said Lord Beresford's letter. "Germany might as well be allowed to import "Neutral powers should be informed that we intend to maintain rights as a belligerent. Of what use to us is mastery of the sea unless we are to profit by its advantages?

"We do not wish to hamper the trade of the great English speaking nation across the Atlantic. There are difficulties but difficulties were created to be faced."

Sir William Ramsay, the eminent scientist, in an address at the meeting declared cotton was the only substance required for the manufacture of munitions with which the Germans could not supply themselves.

Sir Charles Macara, president of ahe Master Cotton Spinners Association of Great Britain, presided at the meeting and Sir William was the principal speaker. He declared that cotton was going into Germany by devious routes.

TEN MORE STEAMERS SUNK BY THE GERMANS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The sinking of ten more craft was announced this afternoon. They were the British steamer Oakwood, the Norwegian bark Morna and seven trawlers, the Young Admiral, the George and the Illustrious, Calm, Trevire, Rose and Utopia. The crews were saved.

The French bark Francois also was sunk. Her crew was landed.

The Oakwood sailed from Portland, March 27, for United Kingdom ports. She was a vessel of 2212 tons register and was owned in London.

The Oakwood was a steamer of 1,600 gross, 280 feet long, 48 feet 2 feet deep and was built in 1891. She was owned in London. Her last reports sailed on March 28 from Portland, Or., for the United Kingdom. She was of 1512 tons gross, built in 1877 at Liverpool and owned in Stavanger.

LONDON, Aug. 7, Monday (delayed by censor.)—Announcement was made here today that the American tank steamer Petrolite had been taken into a British port.

Danger of Raids by Mexicans.

Texans in Three Counties are Preparing for All Emergencies.

Conspiracy to Seize Lone Star State Said to Have been Revealed.

Three Thousand Natives Pledged to Revolution, According to Funston.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 11.—Gov. Ferguson of Texas telegraphed tonight from Rockport, where he is spending his vacation, to President Wilson, asking him to double the number of Federal troops now on duty in the Rio Grande Valley. Gov. Ferguson said he purposely delayed making the request, hoping the situation might clear up. Conditions now are perilous and grave, he said.

Gov. Ferguson's telegram recites that citizens are being murdered and property looted and continues:

"The offenders are mostly Mexicans from across the border and only a few are American citizens.

"I have increased our ranger forces almost to the maximum and yet, on account of the great area of disturbed district it is doubtful whether I longer can control the situation. I do not overdraw the picture when I say a reign of terror exists on the Mexican border and that any unusual occurrence now would cause a disastrous invasion of Texas from Mexico."

TROOPS EN ROUTE.

ROBSTOWN (Tex.) Aug. 12.—The third battalion, Ninth United States Infantry passed here at midnight en route to Brownsville from Laredo. The train was running at slow speed, and without lights.

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Aug. 11.—Practically every American citizen in the three southernmost counties of Texas—Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr—is under arms tonight in fear that the overwhelming Mexican population of the section may break out in a racial fight.

Disturbances, attributed to Mexicans on the international border, spread rapidly today. Rumors of trouble came from widely-separated localities, some of them even from Laredo, on the border, 200 miles distant from Brownsville.

The outstanding feature of the day's developments was the circulation of a rumor in many quarters—even reaching to the State Department at Washington—that the disturbance was an effort on the part of the Mexicans to turn back a portion of Texas to Mexican control.

This scheme, it was rumored, was backed by Mexicans living on the American side of the Rio Grande, assisted by escaped convicts and fugitives from Juarez, and also, according to the report, by a considerable number of irresponsible Mexicans, both soldiers and civilians, who were said to have crossed the American border from Mexico. Impetus was given the movement, it is believed in many quarters, by border political conditions.

FLAG CAPTURED.

Rangers in Hidalgo county, pursuing some of the gang which killed an American trooper near Mercedes last night, were reported today to have captured a flag bearing the words in Spanish:

"Army of Liberation for Mexicans in Texas."

MEXICO COMMITS SUICIDE, VIEW IN SOUTH AMERICA.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 11.—Most of the newspapers discuss editorially the Mexican peace conference, in which South American diplomats are participating.

The telegram sent by Gen. Carranza to President De la Plaza is a bad omen, according to La Nacion, which says:

"We presume this telegram was based only on an imperfect knowledge of the American nations' intentions. We believe when these intentions are known this suspicion will disappear. However, if Carranza is moved by personal ambition and party spirit, we hope there will be found among the Mexican people elements which will be ready to establish a stable and lasting government."

Notwithstanding the present situation in Mexico, El Diario declares, respect of Mexican sovereignty forbids any intervention encroaching on its integrity.

The general thought of the South American people, La Razon says, it that their governments should respect the independence of Mexico and its institutions, not meddling with its internal affairs, which the Mexican people should settle according to their own best interests.

In an interview published by La Razon, Foreign Minister Jose Luis Murature is quoted as saying:

Offensive.

IS PETROGRAD OBJECTIVE OF GERMAN ADVANCE?

PETROGRAD, Aug. 11.—(via London, Aug. 12.)—The Novoe Vremya discussing today the theory that Petrograd is the real objective of the German offensive says:

"There is an enormous difference between the war of 1812 and the present conflict. The Germans are hurling against Russia forces equivalent to seven such invasions as that of Napoleon and supported by the latest technical appliances, whereas in 1812, the Russian army in the latter respect was fully on a par with the French.

"The Germans are indefinitely better posted as to the position of Russia than was Napoleon and they are incapable of regarding Moscow as the key to the empire. They know that Petrograd is the political center and it is only half as far from Riga as Moscow. It is only a nights' railway journey between Riga and Petrograd, and the distance is 260 miles over good roads and two lines of railroad does not offer insuperable difficulties. This is no second war of 1812, but something far more serious."

The Rech advises the population of Petrograd that air raids on the capital are likely in the near future and that a hostile cavalry force may possibly get near the capital. It says, however, that there is no fear of anything further at present.

Kovno.

GERMANS ARE DEVELOPING A FRESH OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The Germans are now developing a fresh offensive in the direction of the interior of Russia, apparently with the support of huge new levies, according to a Petrograd correspondent of the Times.

Without waiting to accomplish the envelopment of the Russians who are falling back from the Vistula, the Germans are endeavoring to storm Kovno, advancing at the same time on an extended front between the Niemen and the Dvina on a dash northward toward Riga, eastward toward Dvinsk and southward toward Vilna, the correspondent says. In the Riga district the Russians are taking the initiative. German efforts to enter the Gulf of Riga have been suspended but are likely to be renewed at any time.

The German Baltic fleet has occupied Libau, Russia, as a naval base, says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Mail. A large force of experts is working night and day repairing, adapting and fortifying the harbor works.

Libau, in the province of Courland, was occupied some time ago by German forces. It is about sixty miles by water from the entrance to the Gulf of Riga and about 140 miles by water from the city of Riga.

TWO GIRLS IN FIGHT WITH JITNEY BUS MEN.

AFTER battling with two men on the Redondo road two miles from Los Angeles early this morning Miss A. McCoy of Redondo and a friend of hers whose name the police failed to learn were picked up in a nearly unconscious condition by a jitney bus and taken to one of their homes near Eighth and San Julian streets.

According to the story of C. C. Stocker of No. 919 Arcadia avenue, who was driver of the machine which picked up the two girls, they told him they hired a jitney bus early last evening in the down town district and directed the driver to take them to the home of one of them living near Eighth and San Julian streets.

After picking up another man the driver of the bus drove the machine out on the Redondo road. When some miles outside of the city the two men attempted to force their attentions upon the two girls. Both of the girls resisted their advances and in the struggle were thrown to the pavement.

According to the story of Mr. and Mrs. Clide Mills of No. 119 East Fifty-second street who were in Stocker's machine when he picked up the two girls, both of them were suffering from the effects of the battle. Miss McCoy according to them was suffering from the loss of several teeth and her friend was badly bruised.

According to Stocker after picking up the two girls he turned about and traced the machine in which the two girls had had their struggle. The machine was overtaken but after a struggle the two men in the machine escaped.

Stocker reported the matter to the police but had failed to get the number of the jitney bus which took the two girls out of the city. Efforts will be made today to locate the machine and driver.

BERLIN IN WAR-TIME; FOOD PLENTY AND CHEAP

Crowds in Cafes and on the Streets; Wounded Soldiers Everywhere.

Although Speaking of English by Americans is not Resented, it is Far from Popular—Greatest Precautions Taken to Prevent the Entry of Spies—Officials Prompt and Business-like.

BY HARRY CARR.

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, July 30.—Our third taste of the war field was getting across the German border. We left Copenhagen at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. That afternoon we landed from a ferry steamer at a little German summer resort—Warnemunde. All the way over the passengers had regaled us with stories of the ferocious treatment we were sure to receive at the border.

As we drew into the ferry slip, we looked up into the face of a crowd of German soldiers who were hanging over the rail. We found out afterward they had come to greet the German doctors from Kiao-Chow. I happened to look up into the face of one who was cross-eyed and at the same minute I happened to remember that in my pocket I had a letter from one of my children telling me of the adventures of Gen. Von Kluck. The "General" is a Belgian hare who occupies a place in our affections. As I gazed into the face of that cross-eyed infantry reservist, it occurred to me that I was going to have a swell time trying to convince the German government that Gen. Von Kluck was a harmless Los Angeles rabbit. I had a dim idea it was going to be something like the San Francisco street car strikes where you said one wrong word and then they called the undertaker.

When we had to mount the gangway, we kept so close together that I am positively calloused on one side. Some one whispered to us excitedly not to speak a word of English. So we stood on the wharf in frozen silence. Once when it became necessary for one of us to speak to the other, the drop of a pin would have sounded like the discharge of a forty-two centimeter mortar in comparison to the lowness of our whispers.

HERDED IN LOW SHED.

We all were herded into a long low shed and waited there for a long time wondering what the solemn German placards meant; and we had an easy feeling that we violated every placarded law and would be lucky if they didn't do anything worse than shoot us. The big sliding door at the end of the shed opened and two passengers at a time were admitted. When my turn came, I found two officers standing at a little rough desk. They were checking off passports. I handed them my passport with one hand and a letter from Capt. von Papen of the German Legation in Washington with the other. They read the letter together. Then they asked some question in German. I could only look hopeless and unhappy. I couldn't understand a word they said. They looked again at the letter; then they asked me some other questions. We three again stood there for some time staring at each other glumly and hearing things that we couldn't understand.

Finally one of them called down the hall which was full of passengers undergoing examination. "Here," I thought, "is where I get a brick wall and the firing squad." After a short wait, a young officer came out of the crowd and said in excellent English, "Say, what on earth is it you want, anyhow?" "I don't want anything," I said. "I just want to go to Berlin." "Then for heaven's sake why didn't you say so?" "How in hell could I say so?" I retorted indignantly. He laughed and called a soldier who picked up my baggage. The next I knew I was snugly packed in a compartment of the Berlin train. "I thought I had better put you aboard or you would get into more trouble," explained my officer friend, laughing. We shook hands and parted.

GREAT PLACE FOR SPIES.

My letters had saved me a very severe examination. Warnemunde is a great place for spies to come into Germany. Those under most suspicion are women. Many of the passengers were searched down to the last pocket and coat lining. Every scrap of paper is read and must be explained. Even the bands of the hats are examined. Those who went through the ordeal told me that the German officers were very tactful although very thorough. For instance, one of the linen importers had to hand over his pocketbook for a thorough search. Among other things he carried was a photograph of his little daughter. As the German officer came upon this, he spoke of his own daughter of the same age and continued talking pleasantly about the little girl while he went through the other papers.

We got into Berlin late at night as a consequence of the large number of passengers who had to be examined. The following morning we had an opportunity to see Berlin in war time.

Berlin is said to be the most like America of any city in Europe. Except for the large number of soldiers on the streets, the life of the city seems just like the life in any of our own cities. There are fewer big war head lines in the newspapers and not more talk of war than in New York. The cafes are crowded with just the same kind of crowds that we have. The meals are somewhat cheaper than in America. I can see no indication whatever of any food shortage. Everything I ever heard of to eat is for sale at any cafe. The only difference is that on arrival at your hotel you are furnished with a bread ticket which looks something like a street car transfer. At every meal you have to present this to your waiter and he tears off some coupons. Every day at breakfast time the hotel waiter exchanges your old ticket for a new one.

SPEAKING ENGLISH.

We had been cautioned many times before leaving America about the danger of speaking English in the street. The first day we ambled all over the city, always speaking English. One or two

New Appeal for Peace in Mexico by South American Powers and United States

Petition.

END FEUDS AND AGREE, MESSAGE TO LEADERS.

Factions Asked to Lay Down their Arms and Join Prosperity Move.

All Representatives of Countries Which Took Part in Conference Make it Clear They are Against Intervention by Force—Lansing Says Battleship was Sent to Protect Lives.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Secretary Lansing, on behalf of the United States government and the diplomatic representatives of Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala, signed an appeal today addressed to the leaders of all factions in Mexico, petitioning them in the name of humanity and national patriotism to cease their civil strife and assemble a peace conference.

The action, taken after a two hours' session, was not of a joint character but identical, as an informal but unanimous note expressing the views of their several governments, that the conditions of chaos in Mexico had injured the prestige of the nation abroad and supplicating the Mexican leaders and generals to make a supreme effort to bring together all elements in the creating of a provisional government that can be given world-wide recognition.

Beyond this step today's session did not go, reserving until a later date consideration of the situation that may be created by a refusal of some of the factions to participate in a peace conference. There was no discussion, in fact, of eventualities, notwithstanding that press dispatches reported Carranza's outspoken objections to the Pan-American methods of settling Mexico's struggle. The assembled diplomats simply took the view tonight that when their appeal, which is to be transmitted in Spanish in a day or two, is fully disclosed to Gen. Carranza he will not misunderstand their purposes or accuse them, as he has, of attempting to interfere in the internal affairs of Mexico.

FEELING OF OPTIMISM.

When the conference adjourned tonight there was a feeling of optimism and confidence that a decisive step toward restoring Mexico to her place in the family of nations had been taken. The appeal, which is brief and courteously phrased, calls upon the Mexicans to consider the injurious effect throughout the world which the constant turbulence in Mexico has caused and suggests that a peace conference be held on neutral territory in Mexico. The governments signing it express their willingness to act, if invited, in any practicable way to assist in bringing the factions together for the conference.

The communication will be given the widest publicity throughout Mexico and will be delivered by the diplomatic and consular agents of the various governments signatory to it. Replies are definitely asked for with the hope being expressed that these will be received within ten days after the communication reaches the leaders, unless some just cause for delay presents itself.

MISSION OF LANSING.

Secretary Lansing, who left for Washington today, will show President Wilson tomorrow the text of the appeal as finally agreed upon and a statement will be prepared by Mr. Lansing explanatory of the purposes of the appeal, which in many quarters had come to be interpreted as the forerunner of military intervention.

Not only had the Latin-American diplomats here today made it clear that they would object to such a course or any that would impair Mexico's sovereignty, but President Wilson and Secretary Lansing are equally anxious that present peace plans be accompanied by no physical act. For this reason Mr. Lansing took occasion at the very outset of today's conference to explain to the diplomats that the warship yesterday ordered to Vera Cruz was sent for the protection of Americans and foreigners to afford a place of refuge and render such assistance as may be necessary if their lives are endangered.

Ultimately—if all peace plans fail, officials of the United States government realize that the interest of foreigners may require more drastic steps, but at present it can be stated authoritatively that the plans under consideration contemplate the restoration of peace in Mexico by friendly means, by using the power of recognition to assist a government into being.

NO DEFINITE ACTION.

No step of any definite character in the future has been finally acted upon. Tentatively, however, it has been agreed to await the result of the peace conference and if all the factions do not participate, the government set up by those elements who do attend, will be given recognition, nevertheless, provided it gives promise of stability. Immediately an embargo on arms would be enforced against all other factions and an amnesty declared permitting contending groups to lay down their arms without fear of punitive measures. Through this process it is hoped by the proponents of the plan that all armed opposition, however powerful at first, will gradually disintegrate as a result of the legitimate assistance of a diplomatic and economic character given the recognized government.

One thing which all the ambassadors, ministers and Secretary Lansing are determined upon, is that the triumph of the revolution in Mexico shall be recognized. There is no intention to afford recognition to any element except those which have overthrown Huerta and fought the present revolution with its programme of reform.

LANSING'S STATEMENT.

At the conclusion of the conference Secretary Lansing said:

"The conference agreed on a form of note to be sent to the different factions in Mexico urging them to compose their differences and we have also agreed on the form we will recommend with references to a movement in Mexico."

Secretary Lansing said there would be further meetings of the conferees. He did not think, however, another meeting would be held until after some reply had been received from the Mexican factions. The Secretary added that armed intervention was not discussed at the meeting.

Americans in Arms.

of the disturbance are working under the so-called plan of San Diego.

Federal officials last winter believed they nipped one attempt to put a revolution into effect when they arrested a Mexican on charges of sedition. Details of the so-called plan of San Diego, which were published at the time, were said to have been found in his possession.

"DEATH TO AMERICANS."

The plan as published calls for the death of every American male over 16 years of age in communities along the Rio Grande and also along the border of New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston said tonight it had been reported that more than 3000 Mexicans are pledged to a revolutionary organization already.

Authorities here tonight are guarding the Rio Grande at a point below Brownsville, where it was reported several hundred armed Mexicans had gathered intending to cross the river under cover of darkness. A Mexican rancher in Hidalgo county, about fifty miles up the river from Brownsville, this afternoon appealed for aid, asserting that eighty armed Mexicans were in hiding on his ranch. He said they threatened to kill him if he told of their presence.

CARRANZA BLAMED.

It was rumored this afternoon that officials on the Mexican side of the river, which is under Carranza control, are responsible for some of the troubles on the American side, either by laxness of discipline or by direct connivance. However, there is no evidence that any of the higher Mexican authorities are involved.

Officials here have reports that 1700 former Carranza soldiers have crossed the river along a zone 120 miles wide from a point below Brownsville to Rio Grande City up the river. At least thirty different parties are said to have crossed. Most of this river bank winds through brush and woods far from any roads, so that a small army of troops would have difficulty in guarding it.

TROOPS ARRIVE.

The arrival today of troops appears to have caused the bandits to shift rapidly westward into the less populous sections. Telephone messages tonight from the portions of Cameron county north of here, where fighting has been going on for two weeks, indicated that the outlaws had either left or were in hiding.

About Mercedes, a few miles northwest of here, rangers and cavalrymen pressed the bandits so hard today that some of them fled across the river. Cavalrymen captured thirty-five horses from one band near Mercedes after a long chase in which, so far as could be learned, no one was wounded.

Reports that politicians on the American side were responsible for the uprisings aroused much resentment here. At San Benito a mass meeting of protest was held. Speakers declared that the outbreak was mainly an outgrowth of lawlessness which has long existed on the Mexican side of the river. On June 4 they declared the Secretary of War was informed that trouble was likely to break out on the American side from this very source.

Many Mexicans along the American side of the border tonight were seeking the protection of American guards in the towns. Thus far the outbreaks have been in the newer communities, populated largely by persons unfamiliar with Mexican ways.

Among leaders of the Mexican gangs are known to be two men under indictments in this county and one escaped convict from the American side.

Laredo today was disturbed by rumors that Mexicans were preparing to cross into Zapata county, which lies on the Rio Grande just below Laredo. Mexicans in Laredo were reported to have said they believed a dangerous sentiment has been fomented among Mexicans, particularly across the border from the Laredo section, about the alleged harm done Mexico by the failure of the United States to recognize Carranza.

These Mexican reports also said that they feared that all they needed was a good opportunity for this sentiment to break into violence against the American border.

Laredo reported tonight that one American passenger arriving today from Monterey said there had been an increase of anti-American sentiment there.

FOUR AMERICANS SENT TO PRISON.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Aug. 11.—Passengers arriving from Tampico today reported that four American residents of that city have been sentenced to long penitentiary terms, charged with counterfeiting. It was reported that these Americans had been placed aboard the Mexican gunboat Bravo and sent to Vera Cruz.

WANT MINISTER IN MEXICO CITY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. — The American Society in Mexico City today appealed to the State Department to send a representative in place of Senor Cardosa, the Brazilian Minister, who is coming to the United States. The society asked for a man from outside of Mexico—"a man of force, ability and prestige." The United States is without a diplomatic representative since the Brazilian Minister's departure.

In Hidalgo, Starr and Cameron counties, Texas, all the whites are in arms to defend their lives and property against Mexican raiders, who are said to be animated by the ambition to wrest the Lone Star State from the United States. Prominent citizens of the counties named issued a statement last night in denial of allegations that the disturbances are political "frame-ups." Also shown in the above map are the United States military posts in easy reach of the border. Eleven thousand American troops are on the Mexican border now.

THREE AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS MAY BE SENT TO VERA CRUZ.

Anxiety in Official Circles Slightly Relieved by Statement that Excitement is Subsiding.

Carranza Adopts Defiant Tone Toward Washington, Virtually Serving Notice on Conference of South American Powers He Will Brook No Interference—Funston Ready to Cope with Brigands.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—After two days of uncertainty and wire conferences between the navy officials and President Wilson regarding the sending of warships to Vera Cruz, Secretary Daniels announced tonight that three battleships of the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet had been ordered "to southern waters for any duty that may be required."

The three ships are the Louisiana and New Hampshire, which sailed from Newport, R. I., last night, and the Connecticut, now in Haitien waters. Whether they will be directed by wireles to proceed to Vera Cruz or will be kept in readiness for action somewhere in the South Atlantic or in the Gulf of Mexico will depend on developments of the next few days.

Anxiety in official circles over the situation at Vera Cruz was considerably relieved today by reports that excitement there had subsided and that he Carranza Governor had issued a public statement deprecating antiforeign demonstrations. Such demonstrations Monday caused Commander McNamee, senior American naval officer in Mexican waters, to send an urgent request that his little force of gunboats be reinforced by a battleship squadron.

CARRANZA TO LANSING.

Gen. Carranza, through his Washington agents, notified Secretary Lansing today that "the Mexican people view with displeasure" any attempt tending to frustrate the success of Carranza's armed forces. Carranza's message referred to the Pan-American conference and was taken as plainly signifying that he would not agree with its action toward Mexican affairs.

Tonight Mr. Arredondo, Carranza's agent, made public a note sent to Gen. Carranza by Gen. Candido Aguilar, Governor and military commander of Vera Cruz protesting against interference in Mexican affairs by the United States and Latin-American republics. Similar protests, it was anounced, were received from the Carranza adherents in Yucatan, Hidalgo, Puebla, Orizaba, Tabasca, Campeche and at other points.

OTHER NOTIFICATIONS.

Carranza also has sent a similar notification to the diplomatic representatives of all the Latin-American republics participating in the Mexican conference, saying that any attempt between them and the American government to solve the internal situation of Mexico "would involve an act which could not be looked upon with levity, as it would mean on the part of the Latin-American nations the acceptance of the precedent that they can take part in any internal affairs of a sister nation with the co-operation of the United States, something absolutely undesirable, not only in so far as it may affect the relations between the Latin-American nations themselves, but also because it might involve the moral support of any future decisions which grow out of similar conferences."

PRACTICAL DEFIANCE.

Carranza's communication was regarded as little less than a defiance of the United States in its effort to bring all the Mexican factions into a conference for a a peaceful settlement of Mexican affairs.

What the next move of the Pan-American conference in session in New York today would be in the face of Carranza's warning that he intended to brook no outside interference in Mexican affairs was eagerly awaited.

In a letter to Secretary Lansing Mr. Arredondo expresses surprise that a Pan-American conference had undertaken to devise a plan for the pacification of Mexico and says reports to that effect "have caused the constitutional government to feel justly alarmed." He declared he had been instructed by Carranza to communicate with the Secretary on the subject.

"Mr. Carranza and the persons who co-operate with him," says the letter to Secretary Lansing, "are of the profound conviction that if the American government would know the true situation in Mexico it would understand that the only possible, just and acceptable solution would be to leave the revolution to follow its natural course until the complete victory of the party representing greater necessities and popularity.

"The Constitutionalist government, represented by Mr. Carranza, abstains from passing any comment on the conferences that are being held, because it has no knowledge of their character, or of the conclusions which may have been reached and because it does not want to afford the supposition that they tacitly consented to it; but at the same time it considers it its duty to inform the American government of the displeasures with which the Mexican government and people would view any act which would tend to frustrate the success practically accomplished against the reactionary factions by the Constitutionalist army representing the hopes and ideals of the Mexican people."

CARRANZA MISINFORMED.

Carranza evidently had been misinformed that Brazil refused to participate and sent a message to Rio Janeiro expressing his gratification. He took occasion, however, in the note to Brazil to assail the Brazilian Minister in Mexico City, who is now leaving for the United States.

"I regret to say that Minister Cardoso de Olivera," said Carranza, "has been one of the persons who have brought the greatest evil on the republic of Mexico and who in a certain way may be responsible for the present status of our relations with the government of the United States."

Argentina already has replied to Carranza's protest, saying the Mexican people should regard the conference as a proof of friendship for Mexico.

REPORT OF FUNSTON.

Gen. Funston reported to the War Department today that the best information he can gather indicates that the brigandage in Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr counties, Texas, was caused by Texans with headquarters at Brownsville, who, having a political feud, sent bandit gangs to rob and attack each other.

The majority of those engaged in the lawlessness, Gen. Funston reported, were residents of the United States, although some were known to have come from the Mexican side.

Secretary Garrison said he had no report that Carranza troops had entered Texas territory. If they were captured, he said, they would be disarmed. If they attempted resistance, he declared, they would be shot.

Secretary Garrison telegraphed today to Gen. Funston he would send all the troops available if the general needed them. The Secretary said Gen. Funston had not asked for more troops and that none had been ordered to Texas or been given orders to be in readiness to move. The War Department has referred to Gen. Funston for reports on all calls for more troops, including that of the American Consul at Nuevo Laredo.

SAYS TROUBLE IN TEXAS NOT DUE TO POLITICS.

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Aug. 11.—Fifty-one citizens, representing all political factions here, addressed the following statement to the Associated Press tonight:

"Statements attributed in today's dispatches to the Secretary of War and Gen. Funston to the effect that conditions of brigandage in Cameron and Hidalgo counties are due to any political feud are absolutely without foundation. We represent all shades of political belief and all political factions, and we absolutely know that statements made are untrue. All factions here are co-operating as American citizens to restore order and obtain adequate protection for our families and property."

Telegrams of protest were sent to Gen. Funston and the War Department.

AVALANCHE OF PROTEST ON BRITAIN'S BLOCKADE

Fur Merchants' Association Calls Attention to Demoralization in Their Trade—Organization in California Insists that Detention of American Vessels Cease or Export of Munitions be Stopped.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—After listening to a speech by Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, more than 300 New York importers today adopted a petition to President Wilson urging him to take prompt and strenuous action to relieve American importers of the conditions caused by Great Britain's refusal to allow products of Germany and Austria to be shipped from neutral ports to the United States.

Senator Smith declared the blockade, as carried out by Great Britain, was one of the most flagrant and inexcusable violations of neutral rights in naval history.

"I have determined the only thing to do," said Senator Smith, "is to tell Great Britain to revoke the blockade order or she can have no neutral trade with us. The excuse that Great Britain seized vessels having cargoes of goods produced in Germany or Austria, or of goods intended for Germany or Austria, but consigned to a neutral port, as a retaliatory measure against Germany does not make the seizure lawful."

A committee representing various importers' associations was appointed to draw up a petition to be voted on later, asking President Wilson to call a special session of Congress to discuss ways and means of relieving the importers.

FUR MERCHANTS PROTEST.

At a joint meeting today of the Raw Fur Merchants' Association, and the Fur Merchants' Credit Association, which include in their membership substantially all of the New York dealers, importers and exporters of furs, a petition addressed to President Wilson was approved, calling attention to the demoralization in the trade by reason of the British blockade and asking that steps be taken to modify these conditions in order to benefit the industry.

According to the petition upwards of 75 per cent. of the business of buying and selling furs and 80 per cent. of the entire fur manufacturing of the country is conducted in this city so that the conditions set forth are those existing throughout the United States.

The demoralization which now affects the fur industry, the petition states, is caused by the British Order in Council declaring all ships and cargoes contraband of war by reason of the effects of the "attempted blockade of German ports."

"Plan of San Diego."

"DEATH TO AMERICANS," MEXICAN LODGE PLEDGE

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 11.—Gen. Frederick Funston, in command of United States troops on the border, has sent a report to Washington that secret organizations are enticing Mexicans under the so-called plan of San Diego. The plan calls for the death of every American male over the age of 16 in the States bordering on the Rio Grande and in New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California. This would be followed by the seizure of these States and the establishment of the republic for Mexicans, negroes, Japanese and Chinese.

TO ENFORCE SEAMEN'S LAW.

Partial Regulations Adopted by Navigation Bureau.

Notice of Treaty Abrogation has been Sent Abroad.

Sailors' Union Indorses the Measure by McAdoo.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Partial regulations for the enforcement of the new seamen's law were issued today by the Bureau of Navigation. Rules for the enforcement of many provisions of the measure cannot be framed until the Attorney-General has passed upon the effect of certain clauses in the law referred to him for an opinion.

Regulations sent today to collectors of customs, shipping companies and other officials cover that section providing for "allotments" or the advance payment of a seaman's wages to persons other than dependent relatives of the seaman. All allotments must be shown on the ship's articles, clearance to be refused where the articles show violations of the law.

The regulations become effective December 4 as to American ships, and March 4, 1914, as to foreign vessels, except in cases where treaty provisions would be violated, when the effective date is postponed until the expiration of the treaties. Notice of termination of treaties involved already has been given, and most of them will be abrogated automatically on July 1.

ACTION BY SEAMEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—With the announcement that all of last year's officers had been re-elected and that the next meeting place would be in New York, the first Monday in December, 1916, the delegates to the annual convention of the International Seaman's Union of America today made public a number of resolutions adopted at the closing session.

The resolutions included indorsement of the McAdoo shipping bill, an appeal to the press for fair play, and a chance for the Seamen's Act, a request for an independent investigation and reorganization of the United States steamboat service, and a request for the revival of certain Federal statutes guaranteeing protection to American seamen in foreign ports.

Importers Must Put up a Bond to Insure Against Re-exportation and This Security will be Held Until the Shipment is Consumed or the European War is Over.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Arrangements for handling shipments of Russian goods to the United States under the recent agreement modifying the Russian embargo were completed today by the Department of Commerce. Under the plan, already approved by the Russian Embassy here and forwarded to Petrograd for ratification, all imports from Russia consigned to the Secretary of Commerce will be received at the office of the commercial agent of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in New York, who will undertake distribution to importers under guarantees that the goods will not be re-exported in any form.

Shippers desiring to import Russian products will be required to submit to the commercial agent a statement of the goods to be obtained and to deposit a bond to be held pending the consumption of the imports or until the end of the European war.

The Russian embargo has held up importations amounting to millions of dollars, importers being particularly anxious to secure the release of vetch seed, used as fertilizer, hides and furs and mineral oils.

Union Pacific is Authorized to Cease Through Fares Over the Rio Grande Beyond Ogden.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—In the so-called Ogden gateway case, the Interstate Commerce Commission held today the proposed cancellation by the Union Pacific of through routes and joint fares in connection with the Denver and Rio Grande through the Ogden gateway was fully justified, but suggested continuance of through accommodations for travelers desiring to pass over that route at lawful fares available.

The commission laid down the proposition that "the commission has power to prevent the cancellation of through routes and joint rates voluntarily established by the railroads when the circumstances and conditions are such as would not warrant action by the commission to compel such arrangements if not already established."

The Union Pacific's proposal caused several protests.

"The controversy," the commission said, "is of importance not only to the traveler, who heretofore has been accorded a free and unrestricted choice of routes in going to and from points reached by the Oregon Short Line but is important to the Denver and Rio Grande, the principal protesting railroad."

WIDOW SUES MILLIONAIRE.

MRS. GOWDY OF LOS ANGELES ASKS HEART BALM.

Declares Herman C. G. Luyties Proposed Marriage to Her Last February and Failed to Keep His Promise After Installing Her as Housekeeper in St. Louis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11.—Herman C. G. Luyties, millionaire president of the Sanitol Chemical Laboratory Company, today was sued for $250,000 damages for alleged breach of promise by Mrs. Kathleen E. Gowdy, a 29-year-old widow, who lives near Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Gowdy alleges Luyties proposed marriage to her in California February 28, and later sent for her to come to St. Louis and installed her as mistress of his palatial home in Portland Place, the most exclusive residence park in St. Louis, again promising to marry her. He departed for California several weeks ago, after failing to keep his pledge, she says.

Before the suit was filed in the Circuit Court, the allegations were submitted to the United States District Attorney for investigation as to whether there would be grounds sufficient for issuing a warrant charging Luyties with violation of the Mann act.

"I trusted Mr. Luyties," said Mrs. Gowdy after filing the suit. "I had implicit faith in him. He was so gentle and tender with me and his promises were made in such apparent good faith that I could not doubt him.

"I am making no excuses for my own actions. I should have known better. But what woman ever believes aught ill of the man she loves?

"I shrunk from the idle gossip I knew this will cause. But I owe a duty to another whose life will be blighted as a result of all this and for whose very being I cannot evade responsibility. And for the sake of this one I have been prompted to the course I have adopted."

Would Place Supervision in Navy Department.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Changes in the rules and regulations of the steamboat inspection service and the appointment of a special committee to recommend steps for safeguarding passenger traffic on the Great Lakes, were ordered today by Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce, as a result of his investigation of the Eastland disaster at Chicago.

New regulations will be based upon the report of the Board of Inquiry which, with Secretary Redfield, conducted the investigation and recommended the following:

"Increases in passenger-carrying permits must be issued by inspectors only after personal inspection of the vessel, of which inspection a written record shall be made.

"All inspectors are ordered to require owners of vessels whose stability they have any reason to question, to make 'inclining tests' on such vessels, under the supervision of expert naval architects provided by the Department of Commerce."

RULE FOR INSPECTORS.

The department today issued the following announcement:

"Instructions have been given by Secretary Redfield to the supervising inspectors-general of the steamboat inspection service to incorporate the suggested rules as promptly as possible in the rules and regulations of the service.

"Instructions have also been given for the formation of a committee of supervising inspectors selected from the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts, jointly with those in charge of the two districts on the Great Lakes, to study conditions in the service on the Great Lakes with special reference to the safeguarding of passenger traffic and to take such steps in connection with the same as may seem to be necessary, suggesting such changes in the rules and regulations as may, in their judgment, be required."

CHICAGO INDICTMENTS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Indictments charging manslaughter and criminal carelessness were returned before Judge Kersten in the Criminal Court today in connection with the Eastland disaster.

The captain and engineer and four officers of the St. Joseph-Chicago Steamship Company, owners of the boat, were named.

Those indicted were: George T. Arnold, president of the company; William H. Hull, vice-president and general manager; W. C. Steele, secretary-treasurer; Ray W. Davis, assistant secretary-treasurer; Harry Pedersen, captain of the Eastland; Joseph M. Erickson, engineer.

Bonds were fixed at $20,000 each for the company officials and $10,000 each for Pedersen and Erickson. The two last named are charged with criminal carelessness, and the officials with manslaughter.

Separate bills were returned against the captain and the engineer, while the four officials were named in a joint indictment.

FROM THE REPORT.

The report of the grand jury finds that the disaster was caused by "instability under conditions of loading," and states that the instability was due to "one or three main causes, or any two, or all of them," as follows:

(1.) The overloading of the vessel with passengers.

(2.) The mishandling of water ballast.

(3.) The construction of the vessel.

The report says that the Eastland began loading passengers without water ballast, and belated efforts to fill the tanks failed of success.

"We recommend," the report goes on, "that the steamboat inspection service be reorganized in a manner to make all branches co-ordinate and thus eliminate the confusion caused by the statute delegating special powers and authority to subordinate branches. Such service should be provided with technical experienced inspectors, all under proper, systematic control."

It is further recommended that the inspection service be removed from control of the Department of Commerce to the Navy Department, and urges Illinois's representatives in Congress to endeavor to obtain legislation to this end.

Counsel for the officials of the company stated this afternoon that Arnold, Hull and Davis will resist extradition from Michigan, of which State they are residents. According to C. F. Kremer, one of the attorneys, these three have never been legally in Illinois, and therefore technically are not fugitives from justice. Steele's case is said to be different, as he submitted to arrest and is out on bond.

TWO WARSHIPS SUNK IN THE NORTH SEA

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The British warship Ramsey has been sunk in the North Sea by the German steamer Meteor, it was officially announced tonight. The Meteor, as she was being chased by British vessels, was blown up by her commander, the statement adds.

The text of the statement follows:

"H.M.S. Ramsey, Lieut. S. RAby, R.N.R., a small armed patrol vessel, was sunk by the German armed fleet auxiliary steamer Meteor on the 8th of August in the North Sea. Four officers and thirty-nine men were saved."

The Meteor subsequently sighted a squadron of British cruisers and her commanding officer, realizing that escape was impossible, ordered the crew to abandon the ship, and then blew her up.

The Admiralty in a casualty list issued tonight said five officers were lost in the taking of the Ramsey and that two were lost in the sinking of the torpedo-boat destroyer Lynx when she struck a mine in the North Sea last Monday.

The Meteor was formerly owned by the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, and was built at Hamburg in 1904. She was of 3613 gross tons, 328 feet long, 44 feet beam and 18 feet deep.

The Ramsey was a merchant vessel which went into commission in the British navy in 1914.

CAREER OF THE METEOR WAS SHORT BUT SWIFT.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 11 (via London, Aug. 12, 1:40 a.m.)—The German version of the exploits of the auxiliary cruiser Meteor, which was blown up by her commander to escape capture by British warships, is contained in an official statement issued by the Admiralty at Berlin. The statement says:

"The auxiliary vessel Meteor, after having boldly broken through the British watching forces, waged a commercial war. Saturday night she encountered the British auxiliary cruiser Ramsey, which the Meteor attacked and destroyed, saving forty members of the crew and four officers.

"The following day four British cruisers surrounded the Meteor. As battle was hopeless and escape impossible, Commander Behnke sank the Meteor after the crew, British prisoners and the crew of a sailing vessel, which it had sunk as a prize, had been secured. The Meteor's crew safely reached a German port."

The report states that the Meteor was a merchantman outfitted as a mine layer.

To Russia Via Turkey.

Krithia road and those to the north of the "Anzac" zone, the Australians and New Zealanders took the offensive yesterday and succeeded in trebling the area formerly held by them. The comrades to the north, who assisted them, made no further progress, however.

Simultaneously, the French battleship St. Louis attacked the Turkish batteries on the Asiatic side of the straits, which had been bombarding the allies' position on the peninsula and put five guns out of commission.

These actions are believed here to be preliminary to a more ambitious attempt, which has been planned by the Anglo-French commanders, to sweep the Turks before them. Very heavy losses which already have been inflicted on the Turks have had a discouraging effect upon the Ottoman troops, according to reports from Greece.

Although Enver Pasha, the Turkish Minister of War, admits the allies have landed 50,000 fresh men in their new operations, he seemingly is optimistic as to the final results of the campaign. Two regiments of the newly-landed forces, according to Enver Pasha, were virtually annihilated, only sixty men escaping death or wounds. These were captured. The War Minister added that the Turks are entirely convinced that they can cope with any situation the allies can create for them.

On the eastern front Kovno is the danger point in the Russian line. The armies of Grand Duke Nicholas apparently have arrested the German offensive against Riga and Evinsk, but are being hard pressed on the Kovno front, which the Germans are attacking with guns of all caliber, including the famous sixteen-inch cannon, which no fortress hitherto has been able to withstand.

Mrs. William Thomas Says the Way to Prevent War is by Educating the Young Properly.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 11. — "Absurd, impracticable and ridiculous," was the way Mrs. William I. Thomas, executive secretary of the Woman's National Peace party, today characterized the proposal of Marion Craig Wentworth that 1,000,000 married women declare a sex strike and refuse to bear any more children until the war ceases.

"The way to prevent war is not to stop bearing children," said Mrs. Thomas, "but to educate them so that they may know the foolishness of war and prevent it in the future."

FORMER CONGRESSMAN LAFFERTY IN STREET QUARREL OVER A LAWSUIT.

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 11.—Former Representative in Congress, A. W. Lafferty, today engaged in a street altercation with Special Detective Lou Wagner, during which Lafferty drew and opened his pocket knife, threatening Wagner with it. Bystanders interfered and separated the combatants.

The trouble arose in the Municipal Court, where Lafferty was defending a jitney driver charged with speeding. Lafferty resented Wagner's whispering to the deputy District Attorney, who was prosecuting. The pocket-knife incident followed outside when Wagner threatened to thrash the ex-Congressman.

A YEAR MORE FOR EXPOSITIONS.

MOVEMENT IS STARTED TO KEEP THE FAIRS OPEN DURING 1916.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) Aug. 11. —A movement to keep the California expositions open next year was initiated by the Salt Lake Commercial clubs today, based on the conclusion that the European war and generally unsettled financial conditions had made it impossible for many of the people of the country to visit the expositions.

Plans have been made to take the matter up at once with commercial organizations, State governments, newspapers and railroads through the West with a view to ascertain public sentiment in the matter and if the sentiment be found favorable to crystallize it in definite action.

The club expresses the opinion that the full benefits of the expositions cannot be obtained by the people of the country unless the closing dates are materially postponed.

FAIR MUST CLOSE.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 11. — Despite the petitions from Salt Lake and elsewhere that the exposition be kept open another year, the directors say such a move would be impossible.

Village of Metlakahtla, in Alaska, is to be Taken Away from Father Duncan.

SEATTLE, Aug. 11.—Dr. P. P. Claxton, Federal Commissioner of Education, departed last night for San Francisco to attend the meeting of the National Educational Association at Oakland. He had just completed a tour of Southeastern Alaska, during which he arranged for a readjustment of affairs at the Indian village of Metlakahtla, founded many years ago by Father William Duncan. For a long time the village flourished, but lately the Indians have been leaving because unable to obtain employment or enjoy school facilities. The village, Dr. Claxton said, will be taken out of the hands of Father Duncan.

HOW TO HELP LUMBER TRADE.

BLOEDED PRESENTS THREE WAYS TO FEDERAL BOARD.

Declares Depression in Business Could be Remedied by a Legal Combination, Curtailment of Protection or by Lightening the Burden of Taxation on Timber Tracts.

TACOMA, Aug. 11.—Three remedies for the depression of the lumber business in the Northwest were offered to the Federal Trade Commission here today by J. H. Bloedel, president of the West Coast Manufacturers' Association.

He suggested a legal combination, if possible, to curtail the production; government sanction of a selling agency to trade in foreign countries, and lightening the burden of taxation which he said had increased to such an extent that timber owners cut their timber to prevent confiscation, and thereby brought about overproduction.

"The consumer must pay about four times what is paid at the mills for lumber," said Bloedel. "The public condemns the lumbermen for the high cost of lumber in the Middle Western treeless States, but the cost of transportation and other expenses is what really counts. The time of handy lumber tracts has passed.

"British Columbia is not a factor in the foreign market, but it is now developing very actively. The government is very active, meeting and cooperating with the lumber interests. Ships requisitioned by the allies are loaded in British Columbia. That, of course, is only right, and I am giving the case just to show what the government can do to aid and assist the lumber interests if it desires."

Supreme Court Mandate in Oregon-California Grant Cases is Filed in Portland.

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 11.—The United States Supreme Court mandate in the Oregon-California land grant cases was received today by United States District Attorney Reames. It will be filed next Monday and the formal decree will be submitted to the local Federal Court within ten days thereafter.

The mandate, dated August 7, gives Congress six months in which to determine what shall be done with the 2,300,000 acres of land for which, however, the railroad company is to receive $2.50 an acre.

MORE JAPANESE SHIPS COMING.

TOYO KISEN KAISHA LINE BUYS ENORMOUS COAL SUPPLY.

San Francisco Shipping Men Say this Means a Great Increase in the Number of Steamers to Reach this Coast from the Orient During the Next Twelve Months.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 11.—Plans for a large increase in the number of Japanese liners coming to this port from the Orient were revealed today when President Seichiro Asano of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha signed a contract for the purchase of 140,000 tons of coal during the next year with the Western Fuel Company.

In the past the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, operating four or five vessels to this port from the Orient, has purchased between 60,000 and 65,000 tons of coal annually from the Western Fuel Company. The greater part of the coal used by the company is taken on at Nagasaki, where it is much cheaper than in this port, but as the vessels have not bunker space enough for the round trip voyage coal is taken on here to take them back to Japan.

Just what the new move means whereby the Toyo Kisen Kaisha is to use nearly three times the present amount of coal in this port, shipping men are at a loss to understand, except that more ships are coming into port from Japan. Whether the vessels will be the Pacific Mail liners, purchased and flying the Japanese flag, or other liners already in service in other parts of the world, is a question.

Whatever the explanation, it certainly means that there are to be twice as many Japanese steamers visiting San Francisco from the Orient next year as there have been during the last twelve months.

MEXICANS TRY TO WRECK TRAIN.

LOS ANGELES LIMITED HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

Band from Chihuahua Crosses Line into Texas and Burns Bridge Just Before Flyer from New Orleans is Due, Attacking the Section Workmen.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, Aug. 11.—It developed today in the wreck report of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company that 300 Mexicans from Chihuahua State had crossed the line near Langtry, Tex., on Sunday, had burned a big overhead bridge just before the Sunset limited train from New Orleans for Los Angeles was due and had attacked the section workmen who were attempting to rebuild and crib the bridge to permit traffic to pass on it.

The burning of the big bridge was kept a secret by the railroad company until today when the wreck report was filed by a civilian board. It stated that 300 armed and uniformed Mexicans had crossed the Rio Grande, set fire to the bridge and then disappeared.

The section men had succeeded in putting out the flames when two armed Mexicans appeared and drove them away. In the meantime the section foreman's house had been entered and robbed by the Mexican soldiers and a number of other ranch houses in the vicinity of Langtry looted. Langtry is 350 miles east of here on the main line of the Southern Pacific.

A guard has been placed at the great Pecos steel bridge for fear it will be dynamited and all travel east from here paralyzed.

School Teacher Declares Aphasia Victim at San Jose is not Missing Columbia Professor.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 11.—Positive declaration that "Harry Walker," who was believed to be Cecil F. Lavell, formerly an instructor at Columbia University, is not Lavell, was made today by Miss Charlotte A. Simpson, teacher in the High School here, who attended Lavell's classes at Columbia for two years.

"Harry Walker" showed signs of returning memory of his affairs today.

The man has described accurately Columbia and other universities and has shown in other ways that he spent much time with educators in the East.

TEACH THRIFT IN THE SCHOOL

Economists to Advocate Part of Curricula.

Extravagance of America Scored by Chicagoan.

Too Much Waste, Opines David Starr Jordan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The first attempt ever made to introduce the teaching of thrift as a part of the curricula of American schools was the result today of the first of five days session of the International Congress of Thrift, which is being held at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

A committee was appointed to confer with the National Education Association, which is to hold its convention here next week, with a view to seeking their co-operation and to consider various plans with a view to working out some programme of action. This co-operation has been promised.

The opening address of E. W. Irwin of Chicago, president of the American Society of Thrift, contained a recommendation, which was to be acted on.

S. W. STRAUS'S VIEW

He said:

"Owing to the prodigious waste abroad and the willful extravagance which has been in existence so long for generations, America must begin reaching a place where its citizens must become thrifty as a safeguard against adverse circumstances. The only way we can lay a solid foundation for the future is by training the child. Teach the child thrift now, and tomorrow we will have a thrifty nation. Thrift has never been taught in the schools of this country. The habits formed in childhood are the strongest elements in after life. The teachings in the schools can be made interesting, and the child and parent will carry its lessons home to its parents."

NAVY GOOD SCHOOL.

Admiral C. S. Pond, U.S.N., said the navy was the greatest of all schools for learning thrift. "Thrift is the big thing for the sailor," he said. "The sailor who is not thrifty during the years of his service finds himself in bad predicament when he leaves the navy."

David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford University, spoke on the philosophy of thrift. He characterized the United States as the "richest country on earth."

"It has won this position only because it wastes its substance most prodigally," he said.

"Public waste breeds public corruption as carrion breeds vermin. Public is unthrifty to waste our forests, to neglect to replace them, to neglect our fisheries, to let our children grow up with the education of the factory and the street.

PLOT AGAINST THE JAPS.

Authorities Find Dynamite in Bunkhouse in Fish Camp and Arrest Two Men.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) Aug. 11.—Joe Burke and Frank McLain, said to be of Seattle, are held at the County Jail on the open charge of being implicated in a plot against the Japanese canners at Blaine. The two men were arrested last night by the county authorities in connection with the discovery yesterday of thirteen sticks of dynamite, with fuse and cap attached, near the Japanese bunkhouse of the cannery of J. E. Smith at Blaine.

The suspects are said to have been in Blaine a month ago from Seattle by way of Anacortes, where an anti-Japanese demonstration occurred July 30. Both men admit they were at secret meetings at Blaine but deny the purpose of deciding upon means of driving out the orientals, but assert that they advocated violence.

Sheriff Wilson Stewart is now looking for a third stranger who is alleged to have been the leader of the anti-Japanese movement.

RAILROAD LOSES LAND.

Sixty-four Thousand Acres in Washington Given to Railroad and Settlers.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 11.—Title to 64,000 acres of land valued at more than $1,000,000, comprising the odd numbered sections in the Spokane Indian Reservation, was decided in favor of the Indians and the white settlers who had obtained government entry to the land by Judge Rudkin in the Federal District Court today in the suit of The Northern Pacific Railway Company, plaintiff in the suit.

Several years ago Judge Rudkin rendered the same suit, decided in favor of the railway. In a retrial the government proved the land in question had been set aside for use of the Indians prior to the time the railway filed its right-of-way maps.

ABERDEEN (Wash.) Aug. 11.—With a knife which he had concealed in his shoe, Adam Schubert, who was arrested yesterday for setting fire to his store, committed suicide today by cutting his throat in his jail cell.

Schubert confessed, according to the police, to having attempted to destroy his stock by scattering gunpowder over it and setting it on fire. Firemen quenched the blaze before it reached a trail of powder, the explosion of which would have endangered their lives. Schubert left two letters, one to his family in Pittsburgh and another to Arthur Brown, Socialist member of the City Council, in which he recommended labor and trade unions.

Fifty Thousand New Troops Landed on Peninsula.

British Losses are Said to be Very Heavy.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 9 (via Berlin, Aug. 11, via Sayville.)—Enver Pasha, the Turkish Minister of War, declared today that, according to his information, the Entente allies in their latest operations at the Dardanelles had landed three divisions of troops, composing about 50,000 men. The losses among them, however, he asserted, already had been very heavy.

Enver Pasha's statement was made in an interview with a correspondent of the Associated Press. The Turkish War Minister said:

"I am fully confident that we will be able to keep the allies in check on the Gallipoli Peninsula even if other large reinforcements are coming. We knew that the allies' action of two days ago was due, and we prepared for it, with the result that we were not caught napping.

"According to my information the allies landed three divisions, or about 50,000 men. No doubt part of them no longer count, considering the heavy losses they sustained in attacks incident to the new offensive. The allied losses have been very heavy so far in this new attempt to force the Dardanelles."

The allies yesterday, he said, were busy joining their new forces with the Ari Burnu contingent. He described the terrain now occupied by the invading forces as running from near Ari Burnu to the north shore of Salt Lake.

"We have the numerical superiority on the peninsula," said the War Minister, "and it will take many more allied reinforcements to deprive us of that. We are wholly convinced that we can meet every situation the allies can create there.

"Of course we regret the loss of the battleship Barbarossa, but we have the consolation that almost two-thirds of the crew were saved. I do not attempt to minimize the loss, but we are able to get along without her."

Enver Pasha, reviewing the events at Seddul Bahr during the last two days, says:

"The allies experienced hard resistance in their attempts to force the Turkish positions at Seddul Bahr. Two regiments attacking our center there were annihilated with the exception of about sixty men, who were captured.

"The allies made three attacks between our center and left wing with heavy losses.

"These were followed by counter-attacks by the Turks, who are still in possession of one allied trench.

"Attacks on our right were equally futile. About 2000 dead English lie outside our trenches there.

"The French troops occupying positions on our extreme left did not attack.

"The British also attacked at Ari Burnu in the night time, while the fighting was proceeding near by to the north. The British for a short time held one of our trenches there, but were driven out."

Enver Pasha reviewed briefly the circumstances of the landing of the allies' expeditionary force of the Entente powers and said that under cover of heavy fire from the fleet the

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 9, (via London, Aug. 11, via Sayville.)—Enver Pasha, the Turkish Minister of War, declared today that, according to his information, the Entente allies in their recent operations at the Dardanelles landed three divisions of troops, numbering about 50,000 men. The losses among them, however, he asserted, already had been very heavy. Enver Pasha's statement was made in an interview with a correspondent for the Associated Press. The Turkish Minister said:

"According to my information the allies landed three divisions, or about 150,000 men. No doubt part of them are no longer count, considering the heavy losses they sustained in attacks immediately on the new offensive. The allied losses have been very heavy so far in this new attempt to force the Dardanelles."

The allies yesterday, he said, were reinforcing their new forces with the Australian contingent. He described the Australians now occupied by the invading forces as running from near Gaba Tepe to the north shore of Salt Lake.

"We have the numerical superiority on the peninsula," said the War Minister, "and it will take many more allied reinforcements to deprive us of it. We are wholly convinced that we can meet every situation the allies can create there.

"The British also attacked at Ari Burnu in the night time, while the enemy was proceeding near by to the south. The British for a short time occupied one of our trenches there, but were driven out."

Enver Pasha reviewed briefly the circumstances of the landing of the Anglo-French expeditionary force of the allied powers and said that under the protection of heavy fire from the fleet the new troops early today had unsuccessfully attempted to take a range of hills.

TURKS REPORT GAINS.

CONSTANTINOPLE (via London) Aug. 11.—The following official communication was issued today:

"On August 9 we again repulsed an attack by the enemy north of Ari Burnu, inflicting heavy losses upon them.

"More to the north we drove the enemy back by a vigorous attack, making prisoners of four officers and fifty men and capturing two machine guns, a quantity of arms and heliographic and telegraphic apparatus.

"Near Ari Burnu on our left wing we captured by a bayonet attack part of our trenches which of late had been occupied by the enemy.

GEN. SANDERS RELIEVED.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, according to the Athens correspondent of the Star, has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces in the Dardanelles, succeeding Field Marshal Liman von Sanders.

Field Marshal Von Sanders has been one of the leading figures in the reorganization of the Turkish military system brought about in recent years under German tutelage. With Field Marshal Von der Goltz, also a German, he has been active in directing the Turkish army during the war and for a time was in charge of the Ottoman forces at the Dardanelles. It was reported last month that he had been seriously wounded in a battle on Gallipoli peninsula.

The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin is a general of the Prussian Cavalry and a brother-in-law of the German Crown Prince.

GERMANS TAKE MORE FORTS.

Von Hindenburg Repulses Attacks Near Kovno.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Aug. 11 (via London.)—The German War Office announced today the occupation of the fortress of Benjaminow, which lies to the east of Nowogeorgievsk, the Russian stronghold on the Vistula northwest of Warsaw. The statement follows:

"Western theater of war: North of Souches a French hand grenade attack was repulsed.

"At Courey, north of Rheims, the French were prevented from occupying a crater which they made before our front by mine explosions.

"Late in the evening our infantry repulsed an attack at Lingekopf.

"Eastern theater of war: The army under Field Marshal Von Hindenburg easily repulsed strong advances made by the Russians during the last few days along the Riga-Mitau road. An attack by strong Russian forces from Kovno failed. The number of Russians taken prisoners there since August 8 has been increased to 2166 and of machine guns to sixteen.

RUSSIANS RETREAT.

"East of Lomza our troops are advancing in the direction of the Bobr-Narew line. The enemy still holds the bridgehead at Wiznia. South of Lomza the entire Russian line is retreating. The strongly-fortified sections of the Caerwony-Brok position could not be held by the enemy. Our pursuing troops crossed the Caerwony-Brok position, and are advancing to the east thereof. The railway junction southeast of Ostrow was captured.

"East of Nowogeorgievsk, the fortress of Benjaminow, which was evacuated by the enemy, was occupied. Bombs were dropped by our airships on the fortresses of Nowogeorgievsk and Brest-Litovsk.

"The army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria during a sharp pursuit on the left wing of the allied troops reached the region of Klausszyn. On the right wing the army of Gen. Von Woyrsch took by storm early this morning rearguard positions on both sides of the Dianka west of Lukow. More than 1000 prisoners were taken.

"The army of Field Marshal Von Mackensen is engaged in making attacks on enemy positions behind the sectors of Bystrca, southwest of Radzyn; Tismenitza, west of Karczew, and on the Ostrow-Uchruck line."

MUST NOT FLY OVER CANADA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Aug. 11.—Secretary of State Lansing notified Gov. Ernest Lister of Washington yesterday that the Canadian government, through British Ambassador Spring-Rice, had complained that Washington aviators were flying over British Columbia territory, violating an order in council issued last September. The Secretary of State warned airmen that the troops of Canada were under arms and regrettable incidents might occur if the practice of flying over Canadian territory continued.

FOOD HIGHER IN GERMANY.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 11 (via London.)—The official organ of the General Federation of Trades Unions of Germany states that as one result of the British blockade the average German workman's family last May had to expend 36.49 marks (about $9) weekly for food, as compared with 24.70 marks (about $6) in May of 1914.

Berlin in War-Time.

men looked up at us in quick surprise, but no one said a word to us. In the hotels and all the shops, the clerks talked English to us and seemed rather proud of the accomplishment.

The correspondents here tell me that the only danger in speaking is in the cafes very late at night when both the speakers and the listeners are somewhat lit up. The government takes the most vigorous measures to suppress any demonstrations of this kind. One officer was court-martialed for joining in a hiss that went up when a particularly obstreperous American party began jubilating at a cafe. Since that court-martial, some of the Americans in Berlin have undoubtedly gone out of their way to parade their language in the faces of the German soldiers.

The safety with which you can speak English, however, is not an indication of undying love for Americans on the part of the German people. The feeling is undoubtedly very bitter.

Nevertheless we had dinner at one of the very fashionable German cafes the night after our arrival. It was the most beautiful dining place I have ever seen and was partly filled with the fashionable people of Berlin. During the dinner, the orchestra played "Yankee Doodle" in our honor without protest from the other guests. At this cafe as well as every other I have been in, one is confronted with big placards posted by the German government warning officers to be careful of their conversations; it is a precaution against spies.

THE SOLDIER LIFE.

The soldier life one sees on the street is very interesting. Near my hotel is the great Brandenburg gate by the portals of which is a small guardhouse with a sentry mounted on a platform. All the soldiers now stationed there are reservists who have only been in the army a few months. The sentry on guard has a perfectly dreadful time looking out for celebrities.

In all armies, it is the custom for the whole guard to form in line and stand at "Present arms" when an officer of a certain rank goes past. When the officer is of lower rank, the sentry simply salutes, but for the higher officers, the entire guard forms and salutes. It is very difficult for the green sentries to recognize officers as they go dashing by in autos in time to get the guard turned out.

The other day, a major-general of the German army went by in citizens' clothes in a big auto. The sentry at the Brandenburg gate did not recognize him, but the eye of the sergeant fell upon him just as he whirled past. He yelled for the guard, and, although the major-general must have, by that time, been somewhere near the border of Russia, or other distant scene, the sergeant punctiliously formed the guard and the men presented arms. Every time I saw this sentry during the hour or so that followed he was craning his neck up and down the street with an air of pathetic anxiety lest they slip another major-general by him.

The German drill sergeant made a great impression on me. Of late years, in our own army, there has been a fashionable affectation by which all commands are sung in a slow, low-spoken drawl. I think this is a mistake. It puts no snap into the men. This German sergeant of the guard simply roared out his commands. He could make any soldier drill.

MANY WOUNDED SEEN.

Most of the enlisted men you see in the streets are wounded. You see them limping along by twos and threes. I have seen just one man, thus far, who has suffered amputation. The city is also full of officers of all ranks and grades and branches of the service. You can't walk one city block or go into a cafe without seeing officers. Large numbers of them have through the buttonholes of the second button of their blouses, the little black and white ribbon signifying that the wearer has won the iron cross.

On the whole, the streets of Berlin in war time are decidedly tame and uninteresting. Here and there you pass closed shops that were conducted by French and English firms before the war, and here and there through the city you see magnificent mansions whose windows are curtained and whose iron gates are locked. These formerly housed the embassies of England, France, Italy and Russia.

TIRED OF FLYING ON ONE WING.

SO MISS CLARA CRABBE OF LOS ANGELES ELOPES AND IS MARRIED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11.—"I'm tired of flying on one wing so long and thought I would fly on two wings in the future," declared Miss Clara Crabbe, 42 years old, today when she eloped with A. Sherman Remington, 52, a railroad man of Fitchburg, Mass., to Clayton, in this county, then went to University City, which was founded by her brother-in-law, E. G. Lewis, where the pair were married.

The bride is a resident of the Lewis Colony, near Los Angeles, and they will go there to reside, having already purchased and furnished their home. The bride had been visiting friends here and to avoid the trouble of the conventional wedding the elopement was decided on.

VIDA BISPHAM WEDS ITALIAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Miss Vida Bispham, daughter of David Bispham, the famous baritone, was married to Riccardo Alesandro, Daddi-Bergheri, an Italian nobleman of Florence, June 16, last, according to information which reached the young lady's friends in this city today.

As her fiance was a member of the reserves and in the case of war must go to the front, Miss Bispham took up nursing and joined the little band of girls and women, who, forsaking society, took up the Red Cross course.

The wedding, which originally had been set for the fall, was arranged immediately and took place before she had time to notify her parents.

Hygiene.

BUBBLING FOUNT CALLED DANGER.

"BITE THE BUBBLE, BUT DON'T SWALLOW THE BULB."

Public Health Inspector in Washington After Witnessing Consumptives and All Classes of Persons Drinking Decides Care Must be Taken to Avoid Germ Infection.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 11.—After watching consumptives, persons with eruptions on their faces, and men chewing tobacco using the new bubbling drinking fountains, an inspector of the public health service today reported that, if improperly constructed or used, the fountains may be a greater menace to health than the common drinking cup.

The inspection was made in the union station in Washington, which is equipped with the bubbling fountains. One boy noticed by the inspector seemed to be trying to swallow the metal ball from which the water spurted, when the lips of the drinker in almost every case were placed almost completely around the ball.

In using such a fountain, an official of the public health service declared the rule should be "bite the bubble," and the lips should not be permitted to touch any part of the fountain. In no case should such a fountain be used to rinse the mouth or for expectorating.

VILLA GATHERS IN THE SILVER.

PRESENTS PLAN FOR MINES TO PAY IN PAPER.

Action is Understood to be the Outcome of Conference with Gen. Hugh L. Scott—Corporations Hold Meeting to Decide What They will Do.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Aug. 11.—Representatives of the foreign mining interests in Villa territory in Juarez today were presented a proposition by Gen. Villa to pay their employees in Villa paper currency, revoking a recent decree requiring payment in silver.

This action is understood to have been outlined at the meeting yesterday between Villa and Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff of the United States Army. The proposition was presented to the mining men at a meeting late today in Juarez by George C. Carothers, special agent of the Washington government.

The proposal, made in writing, recites in brief that in attempting to ease the suffering of the people, the previous decree forcing the mining corporations to pay workmen in silver had reacted in protests against special privilege to any class, and from railroad employees who also demanded specie payment.

Therefore the mining men, it was suggested, should cease paying in specie, buy Villa paper currency, paying silver bars, Mexican and American silver at the decree valuation of 60 cents Mexican silver or 30 cents gold per peso. Otherwise, of necessity, it was stated, the railroad service must be reduced to military requirements, with a possibility of suspension.

Railroad Record.

FEW INCREASES FOR RAILROADS.

Commerce Commission Rejects Main Advances.

Bad Management Blamed for Present Conditions.

Dissenting Opinion Filed by Harlan and Daniels.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Interstate Commerce Commission granted today a portion of the freight rate increases asked by the western railroads and refused to sanction others. The advances which the roads are allowed are comparatively small. On the items which would have netted the greatest revenue the increases were denied.

On the ground that their income was too low, the roads asked for increases in carload rates on commodities, but did not ask for any uniform advance. Their programme would have increased their income approximately $10,000,000 a year.

The majority of the commission in refusing the principal increases took the view that some of the roads which were in straits suffered from bad management and financial operations. Commissioners Daniels and Harlan, the minority, agreed with all the increases granted, contended that others should have been allowed, and held that improper financial management should not debar the roads from receiving reasonable rates for service.

The decision affects all the roads west of the Mississippi River and in the Southwest. Indirectly it affects every railroad in the United States.

THE SUMMARY.

The commission summarized its findings as follows:

"Proposed increased carload rates on grain and grain products considered as one commodity not justified.

"Proposed increase from 30,000 pounds to 40,000 pounds in the minimum carload weight of grain products justified.

"Proposed increased carload rates on live stock not justified.

"Proposed increased carload rates on packing-house products and fresh meats, except as indicated between points on the Missouri River, not justified.

MONKEY KIND NOT ALLOWED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OCEAN PARK, Aug. 11.—Newport, Palm Beach and other Atlantic beach resorts may have their monkey dinners for the benefit of the smart set, but only the "genus homo" is welcome at the functions of the seaside cities on the Pacific. At least that is the view taken by O. D. Jones, manager of the Merritt-Jones Hotel, who has refused bed and board to Maximillian, man ape, booked for a vaudeville engagement at a Los Angeles theater.

Albert Watson, the ape's official chaperon, decided that the salt air would be good for Maximillian during his engagement here, and today called on Manager Jones to arrange for accommodations.

"We are running a hotel, not a menagerie," the latter told Watson, when informed that the proposed guest was a simian. In vain Watson pleaded that educated monkeys ate off the finest gold plate and drank expensive wine from cut-glass champagne goblets at the fashionable eastern seaside hotels, surrounded by members of the smart set.

"We don't care what they do at Newport or Atlantic City," retorted Jones. "The West has a standard of its own to maintain, and red-blooded westerners do not care to associate with monkeys, educated or otherwise."

Watson made the rounds of a number of other hotels at the beach trying to house his pet, but without success, and so Maximillian will probably have to go without his salt air this trip.

JAIL MATRON ROBBED.

Custodian of Women Criminals Victim of Pickpockets while on Shopping Tour.

Matron Smith, custodian of the female department in the County Jail, was the victim of pickpockets yesterday afternoon while shopping in a downtown department store, losing $42 by the incident. As a result, the matron's fall shopping will be postponed for a few weeks until she is able to recuperate from the blow.

"Oh, well, I'm a good loser," she said last night. "Let it go."

The only real regret Mrs. Smith still retains after her philosophying is that she never really got started on her shopping tour, the theft occurring a few minutes after she entered the store. Her handbag had been opened and her purse extracted while she was looking at some goods.

JUDGMENT HOUR, TOPIC AT CAMP.

PERJURY WILL NOT PASS IN HEAVEN UNDISCOVERED SAYS ADVENTIST.

Perjury may pass undiscovered in earthly courts, but absolute justice is being done in the Supreme Court in heaven, where God now sits judging every secret thing in the lives of all men from Adam's day to the present, according to Pastor E. J. Hibbard of St. Helena, who spoke last night on "The Judgment Hour" in the big tent at the Seventh Day Adventist camp ground, Forty-first place and Moneta avenue.

"This is court week in heaven," he said. "Nothing is more certain than that every individual who has ever lived upon this earth must pass judgment in the court of heaven, and that judgment is in session right now.

"To be arraigned before the heavenly tribunal is no light matter. There God is judging the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, and his law of righteousness given at Sinai is the standard. It never has been changed. Men will be wise if they carefully consider this while probation's hour still lingers. Solomon says, 'Fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good or whether it be evil.'"

At 11 o'clock this morning a symposium on "Education" will be given at the camp. The speakers in the big tent will be C. W. Irwin of St. Helena, president of Pacific Union College; Pastor Hibbard; H. G. Lucas, president of San Fernando Academy, and Pastor R. S. Prener of San Fernando. Chinese customs and religions will be described in a stereopticon lecture at 6:45 tonight by F. E. Stafford, a missionary on furlough from Shanghai. At 7:30 Pastor E. W. Farnsworth will speak on "Why Thousands of Christians Keep Saturday as the Sabbath Instead of Sunday." At 2:30 p.m. J. E. Fulton of Australia will speak. At 11 o'clock Friday morning R. F. Cottrell of Honan, China, will speak, and at 2:30 o'clock Friday Pastor G. W. Reaser of Glendale. At 7:30 p.m. Friday "God's Great Memorials" will be the topic. A song service precedes all the evening discourses.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELPS

Nothing excites more criticism than a woman with her face all daubed with face powder in her desire to hide a faulty or an aging skin. Instead of using powder, which clogs and enlarges the pores, it is far better to use a good face lotion that will improve and permanently benefit the skin. By dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water you can make an inexpensive lotion that will do wonders as a skin whitener and complexion beautifier. It removes all shininess, sallowness and roughness, and gives the skin a smooth, velvety tone, while it does not rub off easily like powder, nor does it show on the skin.

By washing the hair with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water, one finds that it dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and very fluffy, so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. This simple, inexpensive shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all dandruff and dirt, and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling. All scalp irritation will disappear, and the hair will be brighter and glossier than ever before.

DRESSMAKER SUES.

Little Loans File Up and Motion Follows on Alleged Refusal to Pay Back.

When B. H. Hopkins, a "fine, able-bodied man" borrowed [illegible] pieces from Alta Gerth, a dressmaker, as is alleged, he had no idea that she was keeping track of the loans.

According to Alta Gerth, she brought suit yesterday in the justice court through her attorney, John A. Luter, Hopkins got loans from her on eighteen different occasions between January 26 and March 6 of this year. The largest sum at any one time was $30 and the smallest $4 each, making a total, according to Mrs. Gerth, of $93.50.

The dressmaking plaintiff says that Hopkins knew all the time that she was "touching" her for small sums because she was dependent upon them for a living and that when she asked him to return some of that he had borrowed he refused.

It will require some time for the court to figure up just how much is due the plaintiff in the event she gets judgment, for she asks for the principal and 7 per cent. interest on each loan from the date it was made.

CHARGES PLOT TO PERSECUTE.

Mrs. Wilson, of Quadruplet Fame, is Vindicated.

Dramatic Scene as Story of Neglect Collapses.

Pastor and Flock Pray While Noted "Mother's" Tried.

For the third time since the famous "birth" of her "quadruplets," the most remarkable case of its kind on record, Mrs. W. W. Wilson, formerly of Hollywoods and now of Sawtelle, was haled into court yesterday to fight for the possession of her foster-children. Had the charges of neglect, improper example and habitual intoxication succeeded in causing her children to be taken from her, Mrs. Wilson said quits simply that she would have committed suicide, not because of the charges, but because her babies were gone. But, while her pastor and friends prayed in their homes for her vindication, the charges collapsed, and Judge Dehy, sitting in the Juvenile Court, promptly dismissed the case.

Mrs. Wilson, whose remarkable love for children prompted her some years ago to present to her husband as their very own new-born babies which she had secured from various sources, followed her vindication with charges that he is being made the object of systematic persecution by persons interested in robbing her of her hard-earned bond. Color is lent to her story by the fact that she has been arraigned on three different occasions and each time has been triumphantly cleared upon inquiry.

The scene before Judge Dehy yesterday was unusually dramatic. Mrs. Wilson is of a very nervous temperament, and throughout the taking of testimony it was with the greatest difficulty that she restrained her emotions. Her sobs frequently interrupted the hearing, but only momentarily, as a woman doing her utmost to retain composure.

CHARGES COLLAPSE.

The charge against Mrs. Wilson was made by an officer of the probation department of the Superior Court upon statements said to have been made by members of the Humane Society of Pasadena, and the prosecution introduced half a dozen witnesses. With the exception of one boy, less than 16 years old, who admitted he does not like the taste or smell of intoxicating liquor, none of the witnesses testified against the defendant.

It developed that the time during which Mrs. Wilson was alleged to have been intoxicated was the day of her husband's death last April and the day following. One woman, who has known Mrs. Wilson for years and never saw her take a drink of intoxicating beverages, said the defendant acted queerly on the day in question, but she admitted she did not see her take a drink and could not detect the odor of liquor on her breath, because "I never drank myself and don't know what it smells like."

Two of the Funniest Fellows in the World with Us Now.

The more you laugh the better you'll feel and the more you'll want to laugh, so don't forget "Mr. Wad," Gale's celebrated Los Angeles character, who has a place regularly in the Pink Sheet of The Times, and in no other paper. Here are two great exclusive comic features—live ones, the genuine ever-entertaining kind. Other papers may imitate, but they can't come within a thousand miles of catching up.

Accidents.

FOUR INJURED; FREAK CASES.

PRANKS OF MISFORTUNE PLAY IN PECULIAR WAY.

Lad, Falling from Plum Tree, is Impaled on Picket; Another, Looking up Elevator Shaft, Struck by Falling Timber—Unusual Blood Clot from Autoist's Fall.

Three boys and a man were seriously injured yesterday in as many accidents, all unusual.

Bert Carver, 17 years old, a paint sprayer, living at No. 803 East Pico street, was working in a new building at Seventh street and Grand avenue. The elevator in the building is unusually large, and as he was on the bottom floor, looking up the shaft to see the dimensions, a workman on the top floor accidentaly let go a timber. Before the boy could dodge, the timber struck him on the head, cutting the scalp and injuring his skull. At the Receiving Hospital his condition is reported as dangerous.

Keeling Berger, 7 years old, was climbing a plum tree for some ripe satsumas when his ladder slipped and he fell ten feet, impaling himself on a picket fence. A hole was gored in his side, and he was taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. The wound may prove fatal.

Edgar Nelson, a delivery boy, who gave his age as 13 years, was teasing C. R. Belsher, an elevator operator at No. 812 South Broadway, by ringing the signal bell. When Belsher reached the bottom and opened the door he struck the boy and in the altercation they fell to the tile floor. The little boy's skull was injured, and he was suffering from concussion of the brain when take to the Receiving Hospital.

From a surgical standpoint most unusual was the plight of R. E. Piper of Whittier, who fell from his motor truck when it struck a rise in the paving. He was brought to the Receiving Hospital early in the morning, and felt so well, he asked to be permitted to return to his truck. He was advised to rest.

Yesterday morning his brother called, found Mr. Piper bright and feeling well, but rather weak, so he went out to get an automobile to take him home. While the brother was away, Piper suddenly became unconscious. Surgeon Kane at the Receiving Hospital diagnosed the cause as a hemorrhage of the brain.

Chief Surgeon Wiley was summoned, the man's skull was opened and a clot of blood found on his brain. The ruptured blood vessel had permitted such a small escapage of blood that it took several hours for the condition to manifest itself. Only two other such cases are on record in local surgical records.

MERCURY NEAR THE RECORD.

Will Still be Warm Today and Tomorrow, Says the Weather Man.

When the thermometer registered 94 deg. yesterday afternoon the high heat mark of the summer was reached. It was the hottest day this city has had in some months. Starting in at 5 a.m., the thermometer commenced at 70 deg. From this point it ranged to 94 deg. and then sank back to 82 deg. at 5 p.m. Ford A. Carpenter, local forecaster, prognosticated last night that no immediate relief will come today and possibly tomorrow. However, Mr. Carpenter opined that the weather would not get very much warmer.

Forest Fire.

FIGHT TO SAVE BIG WATERSHED.

Lytle Creek Canyon Seething Cauldron of Flame.

Rangers Battle with Scaling Ladders and Dynamite.

Women and Campers Rally to Halt Destroyer.

With scores of women working valiantly at the side of trained fire fighters, a fierce battle was waged all last night against the worst forest fire of the year, now roaring over the slopes of Lytle Creek Canyon watershed. Several ranches have been burned over, the residents narrowly escaping with their lives. At an early hour this morning reports from the government station at Lytle Creek Canyon stated that the fire fighters have succeeded in starting large backfires in the path of the flames, indicating that some progress has been made in the battle against the fire.

According to latest reports, the flames have destroyed valuable timberland in the canyon and are rapidly eating their way toward the big watershed that furnishes water to Rialto, Fontana, parts of San Bernardino and the orange district. Ninety-three summer houses and the big Glenn ranch are also said to be in danger.

The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin, government officials alleging that it was started by prospectors, who wished to facilitate the clearing of their claims by burning the timber off. As far as can be ascertained, the first flames were discovered by Ranger A. R. Meyers in the vicinity of his cabin in the canyon. Mrs. Meyers aided her husband in preventing the flames from jumping across the road to government property.

GENERAL ALARM.

When discovered, the flames had already gained great headway. Alarms were sent out all along the canyon and vicinity. The residents responded in a body, everyone turning out to combat the roaring flames. Government officials sent out calls to forest rangers from points as far away as Los Angeles and Bear Valley.

R. H. Charlton, supervisor of the Angeles Forest Reserve, assumed personal command of the fire fighting. Mr. Charlton hurried to the scene in an automobile immediately following his receipt of the news in Bear Valley. He was assisted by H. H. Hynie in marshalling the forces.

For the first time this year the organized mountain fire-fighting department of San Bernardino was called into action, some fifty members hurrying to the scene. They brought with them several hundred pounds of dynamite, with which to blow swaths in the canyon sides to check the flames.

When the fire fighters started in their battle, they were greatly hampered by a heavy wind that fanned the flames into a roaring blast furnace, raging up the canyon side with incredible speed.

Wall-scaling equipment was used in ascending cliffs and canyon sides so that backfires might be started from above. Campers, who lost their camps in many cases, sprang into the fight against the blaze, aiding the regular fire fighters. Women from near-by ranches worked by the side of their husbands to turn back the destroyer.

The ranch of Dr. H. A. Coburn of Riverside, situated in the main canyon, was burned over, and the buildings at the lower ranch destroyed. The upper ranch house and adjoining buildings were saved after heroic fighting and a brilliant piece of backfiring.

J. E. Turk and his family were compelled to make a hurried escape from their home in the canyon. Other families living in the vicinity, removed what they could to safer locations.

SHOVELS AND SACKS.

Although the majority of fire fighters are equipped with adequate materials with which to fight back the flames, the volunteers, of which there are many, attack their enemy armed with pickax, shovel and wet sacks.

Wandering.

NERVE-SHATTERED GIRL LOST IN THE MOUNTAINS.

UP TO a late hour last night searching parties, which were scouring the mountains back of Pasadena, had failed to find any trace of Miss Agnes Cashion of No. 1509 Landa street, this city, who has been missing from her home since Monday noon.

According to information received from the searchers, Miss Cashion walked up Echo Mountain last Tuesday, working her way in the hot sun. Her clothes were nearly in rags when she reached the summit, and she was very weak. The girl was noticed by members of a Pacific Electric construction crew, who notified Mrs. Emma Studder, wife of the engineer of the Pacific Electric Company, at the mountain power-house.

Mrs. Studder went out and found the girl and brought her to her home, taking care of her during the night. On Wednesday noon she disappeared while the family was at dinner, having refused to go in for lunch. As she is suffering from a mental breakdown brought on by overstudy, fears are expressed for her safety, and it is thought she may have been overcome by the heat or have dropped from weakness.

Mrs. Studder discovered the girl's name from a tag that had been fastened to a small package, and, when she did not return, notified Constable Newell at Pasadena. Yesterday the Constable went up the Mt. Wilson trail as far as Sturdivent's Camp, from which point he organized and sent forth searching parties. All the forest rangers and all the campers on the mountainside have been notified to watch out for the missing girl.

A number of employees of the Pacific Electric Company are out in the mountain trails endeavoring to obtain clews which will lead to the discovery of Miss Cashion, but so far their efforts have been fruitless.

Should the girl not be found by this morning the distracted mother will go to the mountains to join in the search. When her daughter disappeared Mrs. Cashion thought she had gone to Ocean Park to have some dental work done, and, until notified that the girl was in the mountains, had been searching for her at the beach.

The missing young woman is 20 years old and is 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighs ninety pounds, and has light brown hair and blue eyes. She wore a dark green skirt and waist trimmed with lace collar, and only had a few cents in her purse, and is supposed to have walked from her home to Pasadena and on up the mountain.

Feathered Tattlers Caught in the Act.

Miss Margaret Cecilia Gray,

A pretty Hollywood debutante whose engagement to Dr. De Ver Wright Gray was announced yesterday by a flock of bluebirds released over the heads of her departing guests.

Society Novelty.

WHOLE FLOCK OF LITTLE BIRDS TELL HER SECRET.

LITTLE birds are reputed to be forever telling interesting secrets, but it took a cage of them—and bluebirds, too, which signify happiness—to betray Miss Margaret Cecilia Gray's engagement to Dr. DeVer Dwight Gray—a secret which up to the very moment of the interesting announcement had not been suspected.

Miss Gray, who is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gray of No. 1936 Carmen avenue, Hollywood, gave a reception of handsome appointments yesterday afternoon, complimenting her cousin, Miss Ethel Ayers of Peabody, Kan. The bidden guests passed the afternoon pleasantly in embroidering, augmented by an impromptu musical programme. Later an elaborate high tea was served in the dining-room, converted into a floral bower of pink.

Then came time for farewells, and the unsuspecting guests, grouped on the veranda where stood their hostess, were suddenly startled by a fluttering cloud of bluebirds, released from a bird cage above their heads, showering the ladies with tiny envelopes bearing the names of Miss Margaret Cecilia Gray and Dr. DeVer Dwight Gray. They are not related.

No date is set for the nuptial event, though it is to be this fall.

Bidden were Mrs. Harlan G. Palmer, Mrs. Earl Andrews, Mrs. Clarence Davison, Mrs. Orvill Routt, Mrs. Robert Lyons, Mrs. Berner Armstrong, Mrs. Meredith Goodwin, Mrs. Harold Kurmerine, and Misses Maud McAllister, Nina McMillan, Beulah Mott, Beryl Mitchell, Marie Haller, Ruth Alexander, Susan Joyce, Shirley Parkhurst, Maud Parkhurst, Helena Farnum, Sophia Palmer, Sue Vennum, Lulie Beattie, Margaret Grastt, Mildred and Helen Hughey, Hazel Welch, Hilda Mutton and Mildred Pettit.

COUNTY BATTLE CRISIS NEARS.

Civil Service Affairs Hold Center of the Field.

Presence of Two Registrars of Voters Hastens Blow.

Grand Jury Inquiry Involves Supervisors and Others.

When the office of Registrar of Voters closed last night and long after that time, Thomas McAleer, the incumbent, was still on the job. All day long he had been transacting the business of the office.

D. B. Lyons, who was appointed registrar by the Supervisors Tuesday, appeared at the Hall of Records yesterday morning, took the oath of office and then dropped down to the precinct where Registrar McAleer was pursuing the even tenor of his way.

Mr. Lyons said he was a peaceable man and didn't intend to have any trouble.

"What is your attitude in this matter?" he asked Mr. McAleer.

"I am Registrar of Voters, and I'm going to remain," was the answer. "Legally, I can't be thrown out."

Mr. Lyons left, the certificate of appointment protruding from a breast pocket.

While Registrar McAleer is still clinging to his office, which he hopes to retain legally, he stands as the central figure in a fight for principle against the raids of the Civil Service Commission and the Norton-Hamilton-Woodley combination on the Board of Supervisors, upon county offices.

ARMED FOR FRAY.

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine fired by a recent attack upon his office by Supervisors Norton and Hamilton declares he has evidence against Chairman Evans and his associates on the commission and members of the Board of Supervisors, tending to show violations of the spirit and letter of the law in administering Civil Service rules.

When Chairman Pridham of the Supervisors announced he would not vote to remove any heads of departments until the resignation of Chairman Evans, now in the pocket of Supervisor Hamilton, is presented for action, he made the first official statement that the resignation was a fact.

The District Attorney was accused of bad faith by Supervisor Norton in Astonishing.

MORE BIG MEN DUPES OF LAD.

Congressman and Agent for Railway on the List.

Developments Follow Arrest and Amazing Confession.

Strong Memory Chief Weapon of Cool Young Crook.

Evidence that started to accumulate at the moment of his arrest, charged with impersonating a Federal officer, developed the fact yesterday, according to Federal officers, that Ernest J. Aplustill, the 19-year-old youth of a dozen aliases, not only hoodwinked veteran police officials, college professors, and regular army officers, but also "took in" a United States Congressman and several men high in railroad circles. Other prominent business men are expected to be heard from when Aplustill appears before Judge Bledsoe in the United States District Court this morning to plead guilty.

The marvelous sangfroid of the youthful impersonator and his wonderful ability to talk convincingly on any subject at any time, are said to be responsible for the ease with which he made sedate business and professional men bend to his slightest wish. In addition to these accomplishments, Aplustill possesses an excellent memory which enables him to remember facts told him in accidental conversation.

The youth furnished Federal authorities with an example of his repertoire immediately following his arrest. Using the name of J. L. Lenahan, Jr., an acquaintance of college days at Santa Clara, the prisoner wrote Congressman E. A. Hayes asking that the Congressman aid him in his troubles here. Aplustill evidently knew Mr. Lenahan is a constituent of Congressman Hayes. In his letter of appeal, the youth impersonated the character he had assumed so well that an answer was received here yesterday from the Congressman, addressed to Mr. Lenahan, care of the Federal authorities, who took charge of the message. In this letter Congressman Hayes regretted he was not at Washington, and therefore could do nothing for the supposed young Lenahan.

THE REAL LENAHAN.

Secret service men discovered the real Lenahan residing at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco. He is a former resident of Scranton, Pa., where his aged father, J. L. Lenahan, Sr., still lives. It was while at Santa Clara College that he became acquainted with Aplustill, and where the latter obtained his intimate personal knowledge of the life and habits of the young Pennsylvanian.

It would appear that Aplustill was extremely fond of the role of Lenahan, for several attorneys of this city were so convinced of the false identity that they wired Mr. Lenahan, Sr., for money with which to defend his supposed son. Secret Service Agent Walsh, also a former resident of Scranton, is another victim of the impersonation. The youthful prisoner convinced the otherwise skeptical officer by referring to places and characters of the Pennsylvania city, all of which information he had gleaned from casual conversations with the real Lenahan at Santa Clara. When the message from Congressman Hayes was received, Capt. Walsh awoke to the fact that something was wrong, and by clever questioning drew forth a confession from Aplustill that he had never been nearer Scranton than San Francisco.

The list of victims of the 19-year-old Wallingford was thought to have received a valuable addition yesterday when J. C. Sheehan, secret service agent of the Southern Pacific, arrived with a long and interesting tale of a deceived passenger agent, a forged telegram purporting to have been signed by E. O. McCormick, vice-president of the Southern Pacific, a special pass to a mythical "R. H. Wilson, wife and child," and a missing $805. Aplustill denied he was the Wilson of this instance, but Mr. Sheehan and other officials declared yesterday it will be easy to connect him with the fraud.

GETS CASH EASILY.

It appears from Mr. Sheehan's story that H. G. Pewtress, passenger agent for the Southern Pacific in San Francisco, received a telegram July 5 from Palo Alto, signed "McCormick," and requesting that a "friend," R. H. Wilson, be granted any wish when he appeared. "Mr. Wilson" appeared a few days later, and not only received a pass for his family, but had a check for $805 cashed by Mr. Pewtress, who wished to honor the friend of the railroad's vice-president.

When the fraud was discovered a few days later Mr. Sheehan was placed on the trail. He declared yesterday that by comparing specimens of handwriting on the original telegram and from letters of Aplustill, he has proved that Aplustill and "Wilson" are the same.

Incidentally, to add further complications, several checks drawn on Father Lally of Santa Clara College were received by the secret service men. Aplustill was private secretary to Father Lally while in college, and in this manner became familiar with the signature and size of Father Lally's bank account.

Information was received yesterday from the youth's mother, who lives on Washington street, San Francisco, that the prisoner is only 19 years old. He appears older and is very much more mature in action.

MASONIC SERVICES.

Funeral of Mining Man Who Met Sudden Death in Arizona will be Held Today.

The impressive Masonic funeral services will be conducted for William I. Thomas, 50 years old, who died while inspecting mining property at Swansea, Ariz., in Peck & Chase chapel at 10 o'clock this morning. Following the services, the body will be cremated and then taken to Denver, Col., by the widow.

Mr. Thomas leaves, in addition to the widow, two sons, W. LeRoy and Jay E. Thomas. He was a native of St. Ives, Eng., coming to this country several years ago. He first lived in Denver, and then came to Los Angeles, where he and his family lived at the Dagmar apartments.

Wilshire Lodge, No. 445, F. and A.M., will conduct the services.

the funeral of Mr. Wilson testified that Mrs. Wilson seemed ill the evening she went to his place to arrange for the obsequies, and she told him she was nervous and sick from loss of sleep, having refused to close her eyes for four days preceding Mr. Wilson's demise.

This witness, in common with the remainder, said he has known Mrs. Wilson for a long time and that her reputation is unimpeachable. Without comment Judge Dehy dismissed the case, it not being necessary for the defense to introduce any evidence.

It was the testimony concerning the passing of her husband that came so near completely unnerving the defendant. The mentioning of his name brought tears to her eyes. It was a most painful ordeal for the woman, but when the judge told her she was vindicated her face radiated the smiles of victory, and she rushed outside the courtroom to tell the good news to her children and many of her friends.

"WOULD KILL MYSELF."

"I am so happy that it terminated in this way," Mrs. Wilson said. "I am being persecuted systematically, and I think it is about time that it should be stopped. I love these children more than all the world. A day or so ago I was reported as having threatened to commit suicide if they were taken from me. It was not a threat. It was a fact. I would rather be dead than to live without them. I own a $30,000 home in Sawtelle and I maintain it for the happiness of these little ones. Take them away from me and I want to die. I don't care anything about the property. It would be useless to me if my children were taken, and I will fight to the last ditch to keep them."

Mrs. Wilson was accompanied to Juvenile Hall by many of her friends, and all of them showered congratulations upon her when they heard the court's verdict. They were no more solicitous than the preacher and members of her church, however, who promised to pray for her until they were given the same news.

The children are Vivian Lucinnee and Vivine Lucille, twins, and two boys, Loren Bresee and Sidney Bernard. They love their foster-mother with as much affection as she displays for them, and seemed even more happy over the way the case ended than Mrs. Wilson. She was represented by Attorney John Beardsley.

Proposal.

TO PLACE ALIEN ON FARM LANDS.

LABOR SECRETARY WOULD USE HEAD TAX FOR PURPOSE.

Says Newcomer Remains Foreign Longer if He Lives in City—First Name of Official Causes Speakers Much Trouble—Immigration Projects at Harbor Inspected.

Use of the head tax collected from immigrants to create a vast fund to place aliens and floating whites on the land was urged by Secretary of Labor William Bauchop Wilson as the solution of unemployment and kindred problems, in an address last evening at the dinner in his honor at the Sierra Madre Club.

"In the ten years prior to the last fiscal year a total of $10,000,000 was collected as a head tax on immigrants," he said. "This surplus is now lying unused. It could and should be used as a rotary fund to keep the willing aliens and natives going out on the vast unoccupied spaces that this country still has."

That it takes two more generations to Americanize the alien that lives with his brethren in the city than to so change the immigrant that goes to the land, was asserted by Secretary Wilson. Congressional action would be necessary before the surplus head tax could be used in the way proposed.

Secretary Wilson had a busy day yesterday in several ways, one of which was getting his front name straight in the public ear. Perhaps reminiscent of the days when "Tama Jim" Wilson of Iowa was Secretary of Agriculture, President Bulis of the Chamber of Commerce introduced him to the gathering at the Sierra Madre Club as "James" Wilson. Then followed Isadore Dockweiler with a glowing tribute to "James" Wilson, and Councilman Wheeler with recollections of the days when the Secretary was "Jim" Wilson to delegates at labor conventions they had attended together.

Under the guidance of two representatives of the Labor Temple, Supervisor Norton, Harbor Commissioner Gordon, Immigration Inspector Miller and Dr. A. R. Scott of the Entertainment Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Wilson saw the harbor yesterday and inspected the proposed temporary location for an immigration station on Municipal Dock No. 1 in the Outer Harbor and the two boats being built for the immigration service at the Fellows ship yard.

"I want to congratulate the city of Los Angeles on the magnificent dock system it has established," he said.

Secretary Wilson addressed the convention of the International Typographical Union yesterday afternoon and last night made a little talk in defense of the LaFollette Seamen's Act at the Chamber of Commerce smoker. He left at midnight for San Diego, accompanied by his two traveling companions, Robert Watson, chief clerk of the Department of Labor, and H. L. Kerwin, his secretary.

PRINTERS HOLD BUSY SESSION.

MANY SPEAKERS DISCUSS IMPORTANT TOPICS BEFORE THE CONVENTION.

With the galleries crowded with scores of women, and the large hall filled with delegates, William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, delivered a short address yesterday afternoon to the visiting delegates of the International Typographical Union assembled in Labor Temple. Mr. Wilson's talk featured a series of addresses that pleasantly dotted a busy session.

Others who addressed the meeting were H. N. Kellogg of the Newspaper Publishers' Association, Indianapolis; James C. Orr of Rogersville, Tenn., and Henry A. Rosenthal, representing the International Printers' League.

Many changes in the law governing the work of members of the union were discussed at yesterday's meeting. Some of the prominent questions brought forth in the report of the Laws Committee referred to the pensions for aged and infirm members, the mortuary benefits, laws governing the work of apprentices in printing offices, and a proposition submitted by James M. Lynch, New York State Commissioner of Labor, to make Indianapolis the home of the union.

Reports of committees, resolutions affecting various phases of type duty and discussions, crowded one another in the day's work. All delegates found themselves almost too busy to stop for lunch.

OFFICERS ARRESTED.

Motorcycle Policeman and Driver Found Running Machine Without Lights at Redondo Beach.

Motorcycle Officer Gilpin and Police Driver Parrot found out early last night what it is to be arrested for driving an automobile without lights, and the finding out cost Officer Gilpin $10.

The two, while on their way to Redondo Beach, blew out a tire of their automobile, about half a mile from the seaside city. They were unable to make repairs on the road and without lights, started to drive to a garage a short distance away.

"We both work for the Los Angeles police department," declared Gilpin.

"I don't care," was the only reply they could get out of the marshal, and Officer Gilpin was forced to put up $10 bail.

WIFE SEEKS DEATH.

Despondent Because Husband Refused to Remain Home She Swallows Poison.

Mrs. Marie Windhaus, 34 years of age, living at No. 419 East Fifty-seventh, early last night attempted to end her life by taking poison because she told the police her husband refused to remain at home last night. At the Receiving Hospital Dr. Hiller declared she will recover.

Mrs. Windhaus according to her husband sprang from a window while he was changing his clothing and ran to her mother's home where she swallowed the poison. He followed her and at once sent for the ambulance. The woman according to him has been in poor health for some time.

BELLES IN FILMLAND.

Dixie Girls Visit Universal City. Will Take Sight-seeing Trip and Visit Beach Today.

Twenty young girls, winners of popularity contests in North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia, who arrived from the Atlantic Coast Tuesday, spent the entire day at Universal City yesterday.

The party of Dixie belles, chaperoned by George B. Crater and Mrs. Crater of Greensboro, N. C., was welcomed at Universal City by Henry McRae and Harry P. Caulfield, and spent the morning in inspecting the plant. At 1 o'clock they had luncheon, after which they watched several of the companies engaged in the making of the movies.

During the afternoon the southern girls had their first experience as motion-picture actresses, participating in several scenes in a feature production.

Last evening the party attended the performance of "So Long Letty," and today they will be taken on a sight-seeing trip around Los Angeles and Pasadena, spending the afternoon at the beaches. The girls are all in love with Southern California, and a number of them are eager to make it their future home.

This is "Thrift Day," so designated by the Governor of California, to mark the closing of the first International Congress for Thrift, which has been held in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco.

We are especially pleased that over 91,000 people in this City are practising thrift by depositing some of their income in this Bank.

We desire to encourage thrift in this community in every possible way, and to that end, have for many years maintained an auxiliary department for children and others desiring the use of our small home savings banks, also a mail department, through either of which accounts may be opened with as little as one dollar.

PYTHIAN CEREMONIAL.

Twenty Thousand are Expected to Attend Celebration at San Diego Saturday Week.

A general exodus of the Knights of Pythias will occur August 21, the date to be observed at the San Diego exposition as "Pythian Day." Special rates from all points in the Southwest have been secured and it is expected that there will be approximately 20,000 lodge members present.

From information given out yesterday at the local lodge headquarters, San Diego will have a programme to be remembered. Arrangements are being made for decorating the city with the lodge colors, parades and banquets are being arranged and an official reception on the exposition grounds will be a feature of the entertainment provided.

A large class will be initiated with appropriate ceremony. More than 200 Dokkies with their patrol teams will participate in the ceremonial, which will be held on San Diego Bay. The Los Angeles Silver Star Lodge Band, composed of thirty-two pieces, will be present, and twenty members of the Los Angeles Temple of Pythian Sisters will give an exhibition drill.

Mayor Sebastian and Mrs. Sebastian have signified their intention of attending, and several members of the City Council are also expecting to be among the participants.

GREAT CHANCES HERE.

St. Louis Realty Operator Sees Marvelous Attraction for Much Eastern Capital.

Declaring that the investment opportunities offered in Los Angeles are marvelous, Simon Van Raalte, wealthy real estate operator in St. Louis, who is visiting here, said that eastern capital is bound to be attracted to this city.

Intending to stop only a short time, Mr. Van Raalte and his son, Julius, who is with him, have prolonged their stay from time to time in order that they might see more of the country.

"Since I was here, twenty-five years ago, Los Angeles' growth has been nothing short of wonderful," he said. "From an investment viewpoint I think it is the greatest city of the West."

They are at the Alexandria. At present they are visiting the San Diego exposition, but will return to Los Angeles Saturday.

DESERTS HER BABE?

Police Asked to Search for Young Mother, Missing; Also Her Brother-in-law.

Mrs. Eleanor Clara Sitton, 18 years old, left her 6-months-old baby at her home, No. 227 North Breed street, Sunday and disappeared. Her father appeared at the Central Police Station yesterday to ask aid in locating the young mother, and said he feared she had run away with her husband's brother, who was also missing.

Mrs. Sitton went away as usual Sunday, supposedly to her work, which is telephone girl at a hotel switchboard. On the same date, according to police records, Edward Sitton, her brother-in-law, left without explanation.

The San Diego police have been asked to search that city for the mother and Edward Sitton.

The Japanese was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Post and locked in University jail on a charge of battery and held for lack of $250 bail.

County Battle Crisis

a private conference over the alleged Serkin confession, and open war has been declared. The District Attorney has been shown to have had no personal connection with the alleged frame-up in which Edith Serkin figured, and that he is ready now to retaliate is an open secret in the Hall of Records.

Among other things which it is declared the grand jury will investigate are charges that a certain Supervisor has appointed friends to various offices regardless of charter restrictions.

Another phase of the Supervisorial situation which is being investigated by the grand jury is the alleged excessive charge for mileage and expenses made by certain Supervisors.

Supervisor Norton, for instance, has been howling about the "policy of economy" on the Board of Supervisors. He lives in the city and enjoys a pass on the street car lines, which is provided for by law, and yet he charges mileage at the rate of 10 cents a mile each time he attends a session of the board. He charges this 10 cents for each mile going and coming.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES.

The grand jury is investigating the campaign expenditures of Supervisors Hamilton and Woodley. The latter is said to have left an opening for the investigators, while the former, it is said, reported in his sworn statement that he had not received a cent to conduct his campaign. Testimony has been given the grand jury to the effect that one of his largest bills was paid by a prominent "Progressive."

That there is an approaching crisis in the affairs of the county there is no denying. The McAleer incident merely tends to hasten whatever action may be taken.

It became known yesterday that Gov. Johnson dipped into the local situation a few days ago when he caused to be sent to Registrar McAleer a letter warning him that if he did not obey the law regarding the handling of the non-partisan referendum he would be severely punished. That the letter was unnecessary is shown by the files, in which is a similar letter sent to Registrars of Voters three years ago, and by the further fact that any officer is presumed to do his duty without fear of what may happen to him if he doesn't.

REUNION AFTER YEARS.

Separated from All His Family a Quarter Century, Angeleno Greets Sister from New York.

Separated from his brothers and sisters when his mother died twenty-four years ago, L. W. Serrell, employee of the Home Telephone Company, who lives at No. 633 West Forty-first drive, met a member of his family for the first time yesterday.

When his mother died in Denver five of the six children were taken by his father's sister, Miss Ella Serrell, and raised at Plainfield, N. J. He was taken to the home of Mrs. Henry Moeller in St. Louis, where he lived until coming to California in 1907.

Yesterday his sister, May, now Mrs. R. W. Armstrong, reached Los Angeles, and a happy reunion ensued. Mrs. Armstrong is the wife of a New York electrical engineer, and recently won a trip to the Coast in a magazine contest.

During the time of separation, the eastern brothers and sisters of Mr. Serrell had kept in touch with him and of late years have corresponded with him.

At the time of the separation Mrs. Armstrong was 9 years of age, and he was 19 months. Mrs. Armstrong has been married several years and Mr. Serrell has a daughter several times as old as he was when she last saw him.

Stewart Edward White's New Novel of

San Francisco

A romance of the Golden Gate—of the quick transition from village to city, the stream of gold of '49, the influx of picturesque wanderers from every corner of the earth, the moral and municipal corruption that followed, the days of the vigilantes and the all-but-blighting effect of this feverish, tumultuous whirligig of humanity on the lives of a young lawyer and his wife.

This is the story of a "city that was" as no other American city has been or ever will be—the story of a man who was big enough, and strong enough, to rise above his own and his city's ruin and point the way to "the gray dawn" of a newer and better San Francisco. Beginning in

TO ASK COUNCIL TO REPEAL LAW.

Definite Steps Against Two-platoon Ordinance.

Business Men Unanimous in Condemning It.

Second Conference to Follow One Held Yesterday.

Definite steps were taken yesterday at a conference held in the offices of the Municipal League to advance the movement for a repeal of the two-platoon firemen's ordinance.

Representatives of various prominent business organizations discussed the situation and the question of resubmitting the question to a vote of the people. The sentiment for resubmission was unanimous, but some of the representatives of organizations had not received definite instructions from their bodies, and for that reason it was deemed best to adjourn for one week, and meanwhile to secure a definite expression from as many of the commercial and industrial bodies as possible, so that a special committee can go before the City Council with this backing and ask that the matter be resubmitted next October.

Participating in yesterday's conference were Dr. Elbert Wing and Harold S. Ryerson, president and secretary of the Municipal League; J. H. Braly, secretary of the Wholesale Grocers' Association; Neal R. Olson, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association; Jack Adams, secretary of the Retail Dry Goods Dealers' Association; Lee Mason, representing the Builders' Owners' and Managers' Association; C. W. Guy, representing the Furniture Dealers' Association; W. R. Mason and Dr. Kellogg, representing the City Club; W. B. Hoswell, representing the Founders and Employers' Association; W. W. Mines of the Los Angeles Realty Board; N. Bonsall, representing the Laundrymen's Association; former Councilman J. Whiffen, and others.

FIREMEN REPRESENTED.

Joseph Coyne, as attorney for the firemen, who are determined to fight for the retention of the two-platoon system, appeared before the conference and asked that he be allowed to present the arguments on behalf of the firemen. This he was not allowed to do, as some of the representatives had come with definite instructions as to their actions on the matter, and it was not deemed proper to submit arguments for the two-platoon system in such a situation. There was a free discussion of the matter, and practically every speaker voiced the sentiment that immediate steps be taken to secure the repeal of the ordinance whose provisions would mean such a drain upon the city's funds that other important municipal departments would suffer. Former Councilman Whiffen and other speakers said that the city has now learned a lesson, and that it is high time there shall be placed in the charter a provision which will prevent any city department from doing politics in manner similar to the campaign that was carried on by the firemen in behalf of the two-platoon ordinance.

Mr. Whiffen declared that the City Council would be slow to act in placing the resubmission on the ballot without the next election unless there were instructions from the people asking for such action. He declared his belief that a large proportion of the people were not fully informed on the provisions of the ordinance when they voted for it, and that if it were fully understood, and also its effect upon the city's finances, it would be repealed by the people at the first opportunity.

"I do not favor the 'babying' of any municipal department," said Mr. Whiffen. "That is what has been done for the fire department for many years. It has gotten almost whatever it asked for. It should stand on just the same basis as any other city department. People were carried away with sentiment and did not look at the matter from a plain business point of view. It is high time that municipal departments are shut out from politics for their benefit."

During the discussion it was brought out that Kansas City and Memphis are the only cities in the United States besides Los Angeles that have the two-platoon system for firemen, and that Seattle has just repealed an ordinance of this character.

Secretary Ryerson of the Municipal League was requested to prepare information and data showing just what the application of the provisions of the two-platoon ordinance would mean to other municipal departments. This will be submitted to various organizations during the ensuing week, and they will be asked to declare themselves and to send representatives to the next conference on the subject. This conference will be held in the offices of the Municipal League on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, at which time it is expected that a petition will be signed for presentation to the City Council on the following day asking that the ordinance be resubmitted to a vote of the people in October.

MORE CONCILIATORY.

FIREMEN AT CONFERENCE.

Representatives of the fire department, who last Monday refused to talk matters on the two-platoon ordinance with the special committee appointed by the Council, called on Councilman Wheeler yesterday to discuss the situation further. The firemen expressed regret that any announcement had been made regarding the $10,000 fund to fight any movement or repeal of the two-platoon ordinance, and it was explained that a public statement had been made.

Though the firemen were more conciliatory than when they told the Ways and Means Committee that they would "stand pat," there was no real change yesterday towards compromise. Councilman Wheeler was willing to suggest an amendment to the ordinance which the firemen would consider. He said he believes that the men are entitled to more pay, for placing the double shift in effect in the hazardous districts, and that it should also be changed so as to allow the Chief more authority in the management of the fire department.

Councilman Wheeler's report that the firemen had been unable to accomplish anything because of the attitude of the firemen was filed by the Council, and the committee was dis-

AUTO VICTIM'S FUNERAL.

Driver Who Accidentally Caused Death Makes Last Days Comfortable—No Family Dependent on Him.

The funeral of Henry Anderson, the victim of an unfortunate automobile accident, will be held today. His passing was made easier by the generous attentions of M. G. Doolittle of Monrovia, who struck Anderson down in an accident which the Coroner's jury pronounced unavoidable, and reflecting no blame on the driver.

After the accident Mr. Doolittle arranged for the injured man to be taken to a hospital where he provided the necessary funds for his treatment. The accident occurred July 17, and after an unusual defense against the shock of the accident, the young laborer died Monday.

Anderson had no family dependent upon him, and the statement to that effect, made by an attorney at the inquest, is believed to have been based upon misinformation rather than a desire to cast reflection upon Mr. Doolittle. Those who have investigated the circumstances say that the Monrovia man could have done no more than he did.

One Every Minute.

OLDEST BUNCO GAME WORKED.

"RICH RUSSIAN ANCESTORS" COST ALL SAVINGS.

Bundle of Torn Newspapers is Left San Pedro Man in Place of Twelve Hundred Dollars He Took from Bank to Show He was Thrifty, Deserving.

The police thought everyone in the world was familiar with the ancient and dishonorable bunco game involving the vast estates in Europe, until V. Simunovich of San Pedro walked into Central Station yesterday and told how he had contributed $1200 to the welfare of the game.

Not a detail unfamiliar to the police entered into the swindle. Until August 3 Mr. Simunovich was a contented laborer in San Pedro with a good savings account, a job and no suspicions that he was descended from a long line of conquering heroes, and then a stranger approached him.

He bowed with the greatest deference, doffed his hat and said:

"Is this Mr. Simunovich of the great Russian family of Simunovich?"

All the ancestry Mr. Simunovich recalled worked with perilous luck on small farms in the Russian plains. But he was not to be caught unawares and admitted the splendor of his ancestry.

"For years we have been searching for you, my fortunate man," the stranger continued. "You, by the marvel of luck, have become one of three heirs to the estate of the great Ivan Simunovich, the confidential friend and adviser of our father, the Czar. We wish to bring this great wealth into your possession."

Mr. Simunovich, who had long wished to own the lot adjoining his house, immediately saw the dream realized. He was ready for business. A later conference was arranged for that night, at which the attorney was to be present.

Together came the "attorney" and the bringer of good tidings. They asked carefully regarding the beneficiary's responsibility. It was necessary, they said, before Mr. Simunovich could come into this fortune to prove he had been a saving man, a thrifty person, upon whom the half-million dollars would not be wasted.

Mr. Simunovich, eager to prove his worth, told them he had saved earnestly and well, and had $1200 in the bank. They told him to bring it to them, that they might see, and then the details would be quickly settled.

Next day Mr. Simunovich converted his bank account into currency and returned to interview the men from Russia. They asked to inspect the money. They counted it carefully. It was wrapped in a newspaper.

"You have done well, Mr. Simunovich," they commended him. "You shall be richly rewarded for your thrift."

Then they handed him back a paper bundle, the same, he thought, as he had handed them containing his fortune. But there was one detail he most not forget. He must wait until August 11 to open the bundle and return the money to the bank. Yesterday at noon the hour arrived, he opened the paper to view his wealth, and saw a mass of torn newspaper strips.

He came to the police station. He told his story. He shouted:

"Liars, those liars, and they tells me I am the descendant of a great man." He was inconsolable for half an hour, weeping as he recalled the money.

As he started away he called Detective Frank Carroll aside and whispered;

"Do you think maybe I am the heir, after all," and he waited wistfully for the answer.

"Maybe," said the detective.

GAVE LOOT AS PLEDGE.

Identification of Diamond Ring Leads to Arrest of House Maid for Two Thefts.

Miss Laura Crandall, a house maid, thought she had an endless chain of easy living arranged, the police report, until her scheme went awry yesterday.

Some weeks ago she worked in Pomona, and according to the police detectives, her resignation occured a few days after some valuable jewelry was missed. She was not suspected.

Then she went to work for Mrs. D. Bidler on Third avenue, but left shortly after, taking with her, she admits, a quantity of valuable clothing and some jewelry. Mrs. Bidler accused her, and Miss Crandall promising restoration, gave as surety a diamond ring.

Detectives Boyd and Carroll identified the ring as part of the property gone from the Pomona household, where Miss Crandall had worked. Yesterday she was arrested on a charge of felony embezzlement.

"Ah'll Go to Jail fer Hunnerd Yeahs, if You Tries Me Friday tha Th'teenth," Cries Negro.

Ed Bellamy, a negro garbage collector, accused of making his rounds without a license, was up in Police Court yesterday. He wanted a trial.

"All right," said Police Judge White, scanning the docket, "Let's see. We will make it Friday, and that's the 13th."

"Wha's at date?" asked Bellamy.

"Next Friday, the 13th."

"Oh, Jedge, my goodness, Jedge! Not Friday, the 13th! Oh, Jedge, The stairs ain't right for Ed Bellamy on no Friday, the th'teenth. Ah'll go to jail for a hunnerd yeahs, shuah, if you tries this nigger tha day."

So the trial will be Saturday, the 14th.

ROOF GARDEN, CAFE AND MANY CONVENIENCES.

J. W. Robinson Company Completes Plans to Move into New Seventh-street Home on the First Tuesday in September—Building Last Word in Facilities.

Plans were completed yesterday providing for the removal to its new Seventh-street home of the J. W. Robinson Company on September 7. This prominent and pioneer business house will take possession on that date of the magnificent big building, seven stories and basement, which it has just completed on Seventh street at Hope and Grand avenue, where it will be a pioneer, as it was some eighteen or more years ago, when it was the first dry goods firm to move to Broadway.

The new store will incorporate a number of most interesting features, notably the first roof garden cafe and dining-room in the city. It will use for its own business all of the building, which contains nine acres of floor space. Women patrons will be interested in the magnificent beauty parlors constructed of marble quite in the luxurious mode of the ancient Greeks. Here the most up-to-the-minute details of steam, massage, electric treatments and in short every detail of the feminine toilet will be found. The shoe-shining department adjoins this, as does also the commodious ladies' parlor. This big room overlooking Seventh street and Grand avenue on the second floor will undoubtedly be one of the favorite haunts of the busy woman, since telephones, writing desks and materials, reading tables, in short, all the conveniences of the time will be afforded, while picturesque draperies and upholstery of chintz and wicker furniture will provide comfortable lounging places.

The fixtures of the new building are all unusually beautiful, those on the lower floors having been specially designed for the building. The entire equipment promises the last word in efficiency, and the arrangement of the departments, which will be according to the latest lines in use in the new and famous stores of the country, promises to prove exceptionally convenient. No special ceremony has been provided for the opening of the new building, the present plan being merely the opening of the doors for business, Tuesday morning, following Labor Day.

SAY PIE WAS BRIBE.

Boys Arrested for Stealing Sacks Accuse Cook of Giving Them Pastry to Do It.

With lemon pie as a bribe, four boys went foraging and stole 200 sacks yesterday for the man who provided the pastry. The man was Dexter Baker, a cook.

Robert Sweatnam, Nicholas McCarty, Fred Swann and John Baker, the four boys, all under 14 years old, went to the rear of a building occupied by A. J. Weaver, No. 1534 East Fourteenth street, and took the 200 sacks. They gave them to Baker, they said. Baker was arrested and will be charged with receiving stolen property. The boys were taken to Juvenile Hall.

MAY DOUBLE BOND IN SWINDLING CASE.

FEDERAL PROSECUTOR WANTS STRONGER HOLD ON PROMOTER.

When J. K. Tennant, indicted promoter of the Western Underwriting and Mortgage Company, is arraigned in the United States District Court this morning, United States District-Attorney Schoonover will ask the court for an order increasing the bail of $5000 to $10,000.

The District-Attorney is of the opinion that, as Tennant is supposed to have cleaned up not less than $300,000 in his various deals, the bond is not excessive. These profits are alleged to have come from the sale of 200,000 shares of the corporation voted to him for "services rendered," and "to be rendered." The stock he sold was not "treasury" stock, but his own. His friends allege that he is practically without funds.

Attorney Peyton H. Moore, representing Tennant, will be in court with a bond for $5000, signed by William Stell and Rex B. Clark of San Diego, who have agreed to take the places of H. A. Lanwehr and Kenneth Macrae, the orange grower, who became surety for Tennant Saturday, to prevent him from going to jail over Sunday.

Harry Z. Adams of Orange, secretary of the Orange County Dried Fruit Association, jointly indicted with Tennant and C. Longenecker, of El Paso, on the charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, is expected to be on hand for arraignment. He is at liberty on a bond of $2500. Longenecker will not be arraigned until later, as he is out on bond furnished at El Paso. He was an expert accountant in the employ of the Western Underwriting and Mortgage Company.

MUST WATCH CURFEW.

Two Parents Convicted for Letting Small Boys Out Late at Nights to Sell Papers.

First of the fathers to be arrested for letting their minor sons run about the streets late at night were arraigned in Police Court yesterday and sentenced. They were Louis Weinberg and Harry Goldberg. Each has a son who sells papers.

Police Judge White sentenced each of them to either pay a $50 fine or serve fifty days in jail. After a severe lecture he suspended sentence for two years.

In the future all fathers who permit their small sons to daily around the downtown streets at night will be brought into court and punished.

OBSTINATE JUROR

One obstinate juror prevented the will of Mrs. Georgia Tyler from being broken. In short, because one juror stood out against his fellows, Judge McDaniel called the jury into the courtroom yesterday morning, after they had been deadlocked twenty-four hours, and finding it was a matter of endurance, discharged them.

The attack on the will was made by Mrs. Abbie S. Bisbee, sister of Maj. Lauren S. Tyler, husband of the deceased, who alleged that her sister-in-law was not of sound mind. The bulk of the $75,000 estate was bequeathed to Mrs. U. J. Tarbell, a close friend of Mrs. Tyler's.

In view of the deadlock it is thought that the case may be compromised. Chapman and Biby, counsel for Mrs. Bisbee, will go into the Probate court with petitions for letters of administration.

Unparalleled.

HIS OWN SON IS CO-RESPONDENT.

ASTONISHING FACTS REVEALED IN DIVORCE COURT.

Contributing Charge Against Salesman's Wife and that Boy be Turned Over to Juvenile Court, Judge's Suggestion—Course of Reading Blamed in Matter.

"Did you accuse your wife of being too friendly with your son?" Judge Dewhirst asked Joiner P. Smith, a traveling salesman formerly of Long Beach, in his divorce suit against Adelaide Smith yesterday.

"I did," was the reply. "She said I ought to be proud that she kept him from running around. I told her that was a poor excuse."

The trial of this suit produced elements without a parallel in the history of the courts. The climax was equally sensational. The co-respondent, Archie Smith, is 19, and he is a son of Mr. Smith by a former wife. Mr. Smith is 54; Mrs. Smith only 28. Determined to verify his suspicions that his young wife was leading his son astray, Mr. Smith framed up an excuse to be away from home and returned unexpectedly. He repeated to the court what he saw. There was also corroborative evidence. The court reserved judgment.

Meantime, the transcript of the case will be sent to the District Attorney for action. In the opinion of the court Mrs. Smith should be charged with contributing to the delinquency of the youth and the latter should be turned over to the Juvenile Court.

Not viciousness, but a course of reading, seems to have produced this alleged bias in Mrs. Smith. Ben S. Hunter, attorney for Mr. Smith, stated to the court when the latter expressed the opinion that Mrs. Smith ought to be taken into custody.

"This woman has been reading a book exploiting almost the same situation. It is realistically portrayed. I am inclined to think the book itself is responsible for the condition in which she placed herself. The boy has been attending a military college. He has been removed where he cannot meet with harm. A strong affection exists between the boy and his father."

"He is the best boy in the world," exclaimed the father.

The Smiths were married in March, 1911. Mr. Smith has three children by a former marriage. Archie did not take the stand, but his interests were looked after by Attorney W. M. Peck, appointed by the court guardian ad litem. Mrs. Smith was subpoenaed, but when the case was transferred from Judge Monroe's court she remained there.

TO NAVAL COMMITTEE.

Morgan Adams was appointed a member of the Committee on Naval and Military Affairs of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by President Bulla. Mr. Adams has made an especially close study of marine affairs.

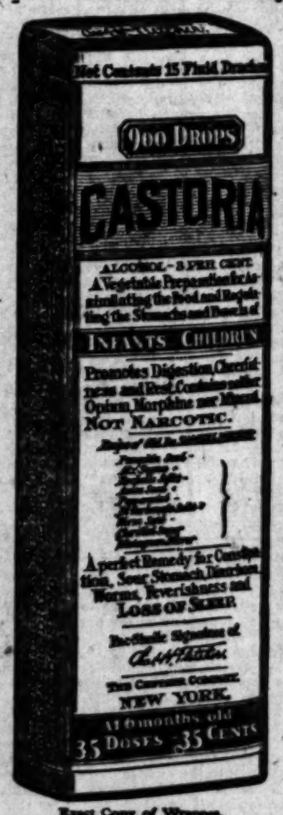
IRRIGATION PAYMENTS.

Where the Tejunga Water and Power Company has received payment for water and is unable to furnish it, the amount received shall be entered on its books as advance payment for the next irrigation season, according to an order handed down yesterday by the State Railroad Commission. The order is issued to aid the company in carrying out its contracts.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. Frederick D. Rogers, of Chicago, Ill., says: I have found Fletcher's Castoria very useful in the treatment of children's complaints.

Dr. William C. Bloomer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: In my practice I am glad to recommend your Castoria, knowing it is perfectly harmless and always satisfactory.

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

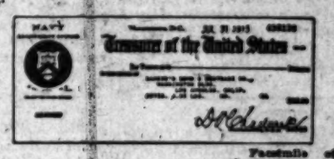
Men of our Navy own First Mortgage Bonds

E. Witting, J. D. Reyes, E. Gueto, F. D. Abonal and C. Ramos of the U. S. S. Maryland (Pacific Coast Fleet) are wisely placing their savings in 6 per cent. First Mortgage Bonds, secured from the Bankers Bond and Mortgage Co.

Why are most American wage-earners apparently satisfied with three or four per cent. interest on their savings? Why do they not place their savings in bonds and secure six per cent. interest?

Because until recently, First Mortgage Bonds were not generally obtainable in denominations of less than $500 and $1000. Today, even the common laborer earning $2 a day, can secure $100 First Mortgage 6 per cent. bonds on the partial payment plan—as little as $5 or $10 monthly—a wonderful new plan that encourages persistent systematic saving.



Facsimile of check drawn by U. S. Navy Paymaster on Treasury of the United States in favor of Bankers Bond and Mortgage Co. It is for payment of monthly installment due on purchase of bonds by an enlisted man on the battleship Maryland.

$100 First 6% Mortgage BONDS

This plan gives you something to work for. You get enthusiastic. You enjoy clipping the attached interest coupons twice a year, and cashing or depositing them at your bank. You see independence ahead if you continue to secure bonds—the basis of all great American fortunes—the preferred securities of conservative banks, trust companies and individual trustees. The bonds we offer are secured by first mortgage on established railroads, gas and electric properties, and improved real estate. We also have $500 and $1000 bonds.

The working people of France place their savings in bonds—they are not content with the low rates of interest paid by the banks.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The tendency to take profits, because of the high prices prevailing, caused a temporary lull to the general advance, though losses were not large enough to be of any consequence. London joined the local investors in demanding their profits, and were liberal sellers. About $20,000,000 in gold came in from England, together with securities said to be worth $30,000,000, supposed to be in payment for war supplies. France bought 100,000 barrels of our flour. Local bank clearings were $600,000 greater than a year ago on this date.

(For details, see financial pages.)

THAT'S WHAT IT'S FOR.

The girl under the sunshade knows a lot of things. One of them is that every man she passes will try to look under her parasol.

NOBODY FOOLED.

It is not fair stealing the fair name of an artist by imitating his features in some trashy output. The public is not fooled and the artist is maligned.

LOSS OF A FINE MAN.

George Fitch, passing at 38, at Berkeley, is a distinct California, and even a world loss. Fitch had delightful humor and a most refreshing style. His stories of old Si-wash College were deliciously droll.

DID YOU KNOW ABOUT THEM?

A Wisconsin wood nymph has been captured. We did not know such things existed outside of fairy stories and motion pictures. Even Margaret Edwards as the "Naked Truth" has not convinced us.

DEADLY ANTIDOTE.

Bulgaria wants Serbian Macedonia ceded to her and then it is said she is willing to fight Turkey. This proposition of letting one war cure the evils of another war shows how monstrously futile is all combat.

HE'S AN INSTITUTION.

We don't know what the Board of Supervisors is thinking about when it tries to oust Registrar McAleer out of his job. The average voter in Los Angeles county would never regard his registration as official or his vote as legal without having McAleer as a party to the transaction.

NOT SO ANCIENT.

Eight former presidents of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting on the brink of the tar pits at La Brea Ranch day before yesterday. The inference is unjust, even though obvious. They really are not as prehistoric as all that. Some of them are decidedly modern in their methods.

ONLY ESSENCES AVAIL.

Every institution pays one man for what he knows and all the rest for what they do, and the man who knows also does more than any one of the others into the bargain. To outline a programme exhausts the value of its origin. After that, the execution is only a matter of labor. In the first apprehension of an idea lies the only true power.

OUR OWN WORST ENEMY.

The United States makes a mighty fuss when some trawler is detained for investigation and is sunk with its contraband, but it makes no war upon its own Senate and House of Representatives when those bodies are responsible for the Seaman's Act which puts scores of American vessels out of commission. If charity begins at home, so does fighting.

WASTE MAKES WANT.

Surgeons should be more careful about leaving their material in patients on whom they operate. If they begin by sewing up their sponges, towels and tubes within their subjects how long will it be before they are also losing their instruments in this manner? Such a waste of goods is certainly the worst of economy. Waste makes want—but nobody wants this kind of waste.

LATERAL-MINDEDNESS.

Sometimes it strikes us that the world is overrun with the lateral minded. You hardly ever meet a man who will stick to the subject in such a way as to eliminate the extraneous and the non-essential. Something is always reminding somebody of something else, and they have to talk an hour about what we do not want to hear before you can get the one sentence that might as well have come out in the first place. All the world loves a lateral. Nearly any man will go a mile out of the way just for the joy of missing the track.

MEN PASS; MAN ABIDES.

Dr. Hector Alliot has been doing a lot of good work lately in a sincere effort to bring the lay mind to appreciate a fact of civilization, which is that every race of every age has its flowering time, even as a tree in its season. The peoples of the past have not been savages except in their infancy. They have all matured into the quickening of many delightful faculties. They have all possessed imagination and affection at the highest point in their career of race. They have all been dominated by the use of some one material and some one force. Once it was wood and steel, now it is steel and electricity. It may jump to radium and ether. Once it was stone, and then it was copper, but every age reached one of those climaxes which marked the brief commas in the long story of man.

RIGHTS OF MEN, AUTOS AND STREET CARS.

It requires the use of all the gray matter under the hat of a pedestrian who undertakes to cross Broadway or Spring street in business hours to avoid being run into or run over by an auto. It requires great skill and care on the part of a chauffeur to prevent his machine from being sent to everlasting smash by a trolley car. But the motorman on the street car is not required to look out for the interests of anybody except his passengers. He must not stop or start so suddenly as to throw them neck over heels on entering or leaving the car, and he must sound his basoo on approaching crossings. But in the middle of the block it is his privilege to run over any man, child or dog who gets in his way.

The law of the road is that a pedestrian, an automobilist and a trolley car have equal rights in the street. The law as practically administered by the street car companies is that they own the street within the lines of their tracks, and no auto, horse vehicle, or pedestrian has any rights that a motorman is bound to respect.

The automobile man is sovereign in his sphere. He consults his own safety by getting out of the way of the street car and he consults his own convenience by compelling the pedestrian to get out of his way. The street car is compelled by law to stop at the crossings, which it does. The auto driver is required by law not to pass a standing street car, which law he often cheerfully disregards. There are chauffeurs so filled with the milk of human kindness that they will halt their machines to allow women, children, cripples and old men to get on a street car. There are others who dash by standing cars, and if anybody gets on or off the standing car it is at the risk of life or limb.

When we leave a street car line and take a city avenue or a country road, the law of the equal rights of pedestrians and autoists applies not only to cross walks, but also to any point in the street where a pedestrian may wish to go. "It applies with like force where he is deposited by a public conveyance at a point in the street not located on the crosswalk, and where he crosses diagonally from one side of the street to the other."

The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts said:

"There is no law or principle of law or of reason which confines foot passengers to particular crossings. Such a restriction would be very inconvenient and annoying. The street should be kept in such condition that foot passengers may be able to cross, with a reasonable degree of safety, using proper care themselves, at any and all places. The necessity of this might be illustrated very fully by reference to the common and ordinary course of business. A person who is left by an omnibus in the middle of the street should be able to go in safety to the sidewalk, at the nearest point, and not be compelled to make his way among the carriages in the middle of the street till he can reach a place particularly set apart and designated for the purpose of crossing."

The Supreme Court of Iowa says that blind persons have an equal right with those of keen sight not to be run over by autos. Arkansas holds that a lame man is as entitled to protection as a foot racer, and Massachusetts says to the chauffeur, "Suffer little children to cross the highway in safety and run over them not."

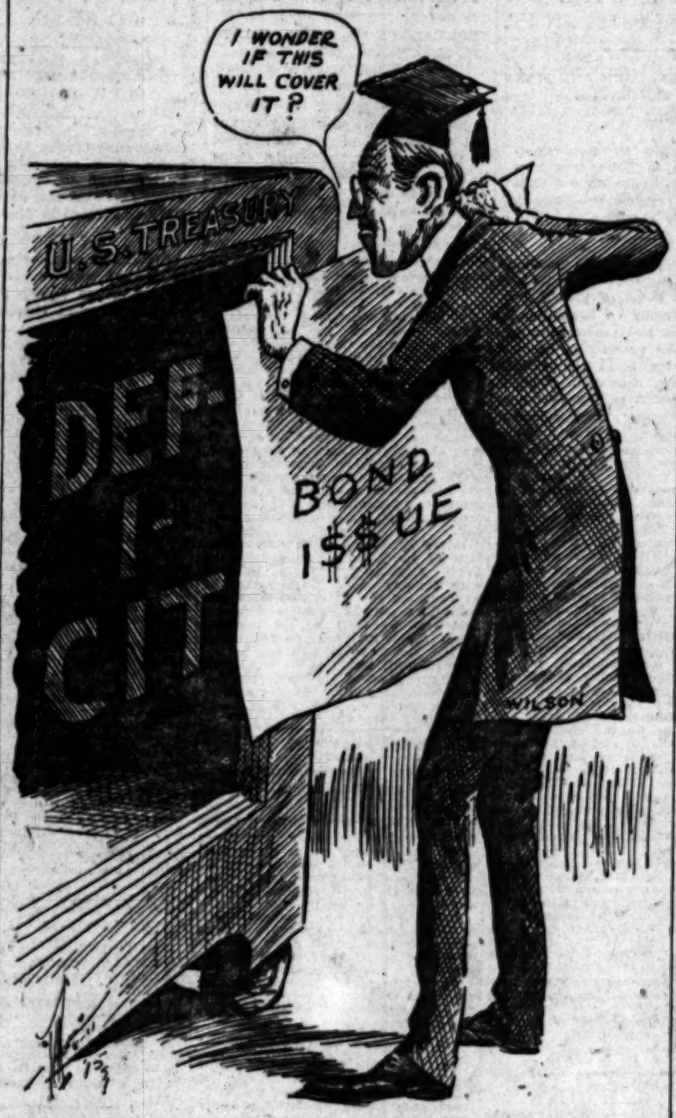
The Appellate Courts of Washington, California, Georgia, Kansas, Delaware and Missouri agree in the statement that all parties using a highway must exercise reasonable care; the pedestrian to prevent injury to himself, the operator to prevent accident or injury to others. The duty of the operator is the same as that which the law imposes on the driver of a team, except that the greater speed calls for greater watchfulness. Greater care is required of the operator at street crossings and in the more congested districts than in the less obstructed streets in other parts of the city. And where the peril of a pedestrian is discovered by the operator, a new duty arises to exercise all reasonable care to avoid injury.

The Supreme Court of Georgia, in the case of O'Dowd versus Newham, reported in 13 Ga. App. 220, makes such a clear statement of the reciprocal rights of pedestrians and automobilists that The Times will quote it at length:

"The pedestrian and the automobile have equal rights upon the highway, but their capacity for inflicting injury is vastly disproportioned. It follows, also, from this, that the driver of an automobile cannot be said to be using the highway within his rights, or to be in the exercise of due care, if he takes advantage of the force, weight, and power of his machine as a means of compelling pedestrians to yield to his machine superior rights upon the public highway designed for the use of all members of the public upon equal terms. Instances are almost a matter of daily occurrence where apparently the drivers of automobiles operate their machines as if they have been granted a right of way over the public highways, and as if it is nothing more than the duty of the pedestrian to yield precedence to the automobile, and to stop and wait until the automobile has passed before attempting to proceed in crossing the street or otherwise using the highway. If there is anything in the argument of priority, man was created before the automobile, and, to paraphrase a quotation from Holy Writ, man was not created for the automobile, but the automobile was created for man. Generally, the natural instinct of self-preservation will inspire in the pedestrian a due degree of caution for his own safety, when he is aware of the approach of an automobile, and this the law will require him to exercise. But he has the right to assume that the drivers of all automobiles are on the lookout for him too, and if he is properly upon the public highway, which he is entitled to use equally with them, he has the right to assume that they are both willing and able to regard his rights. The care required of a pedestrian to prevent injury to himself imposes upon him no imperative duty to be continuously looking or listening to ascertain whether automobiles are approaching, but he is required to make reasonable use of all his senses to avoid danger. He is not, however, chargeable with contributory negligence for failure to run to avoid injury."

It is suggested that jitney bus and auto drivers cut this article out and paste it on their machines. The pedestrian public will do well to cut it out and paste it in their hats, and gentlemen who wish to test their legal right can cross Broadway in the middle of the block and wave their hands at an approaching auto. If the miscreant honk sounder refuses to heed the rights of the pedestrian the courts will be open to the latter—after he comes out of the hospital, and if he doesn't go to the cemetery.

Planning On It.



THE BETTER PART.

To play the better part is no easy task in a world where consideration for the other fellow is seldom appreciated even by the other fellow himself. Yet there is compensation for every injustice a people suffers and international deeds of charity, though rare at present as the pearls in oysters, are by the recipients highly valued.

The actions of the United States have come in lately for a good deal of misconstruction and abuse; we have been badgered and baited and bullyragged to suit the conveniences or necessities of the warring nations of Europe; but behind the selfish attempts of the belligerent diplomats to cajole or force us to accept their views on international law, lies the combined gratitude of suffering thousands who have received from us the rare pearls of international kindness. When Servia or Belgium speak of what they owe to American humanitarianism, they speak with no uncertain voice.

America during these dark days has only to stick to her determination to play the better part and she will win by kindness what no other nation can ever wrest from the human race by force and fury.

The quarrel between the god of darkness and the goddess of light has lasted ever since the building of the Tower of Babel led to the confusion of tongues. Both the powers of darkness and of light are summoning to their aid the service of science and for the time being the dark gods make the most alluring offer and so science is being perverted to the programme of destruction.

Ahead of our nation, then, is the duty to wrest science from the service of the destroyer and direct it as a powerful weapon in the employment of peace so that the gods of war will shrink from it aghast. To consummate this purpose the brains and sentiments of such a thinker as Thomas Edison are more to the matter in point than the charities of philanthropy or the rhetoric of impassioned peace advocates.

Writing half a century ago, Winwood Reade predicted the reign of universal peace as a result of three scientific discoveries, a new motive power to take the place of steam, aerial locomotion and the manufacture of food in chemical laboratories. The first two inventions have already arrived. The last one nobody is very keen about or it might have come too. And we are as far apparently from universal peace as we were in the nineteenth century.

Yet Winwood Reade was on the right tack. In the main the practical inauguration of the universal peace era is in the application of science to the betterment of universal conditions.

Science must harness greater forces yet before it can make war so horrible as to be a thing unthinkable to every normal human being. From the United States came the latter day inventions that are being turned to such cruel and wicked destruction in Europe. From the United States must come more wonderful inventions, so powerful and complete, that none dare use them except in the enforcing of just and humane laws on all nations, great and small alike.

Our services for all suffering innocents, as in Poland, Servia and Belgium, will never be called upon in vain, but we need the humanity of science to overcome its present inhumanity, to make hereafter such suffering impossible and such service unnecessary. Prevention is better than cure.

Word has gone forth that the time is ripe for raising the standard of humanity above the flag of greed. The future even seen through the crimson glasses of modern Europe is full of hope. For the same agency that has made the present war the most shocking in the history of mankind can be raised to a higher degree and so become powerful enough to banish the thought of war from the human brain for ever. America has both the scientific brains and the humane sentiments to bring this about and against such a combination the gates of hell shall not prevail.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

EXERCISE.

A good long walk each day is wise, but as old age approaches, we hate the thought of exercise, and ride in cars and coaches. And it is when we're waxing old that exercise is needed; if we'd dispel the fat and mold, our trilbys must be speeded. We ought to walk to work and back, and shun the elevator, and do the chores around the shack, and hoe the beet and 'tater. Instead of riding in a car, on seats of padded leather, 'twere better if we walked afar, in every kind of weather. We ought to sweat beneath the sun, absorb the heat it launches, and then perhaps we wouldn't run to double chins and paunches. We let all rules of health go hang, and when in bad condition, we do not walk a parasang, but send for a physician. Instead of climbing sunlit hills, inhaling wholesome breezes, we take a pint of purple pills and grunt of our diseases. We dodge all forms of exercise, which course is truly batty; and when we die the doctor cries, "Degeneration fatty!"

Pity the Poor Blonde.

You must, above all things, if you are to avoid cancer of the skin, stay out of the hot sun.

That admonition was made tonight by Dr. Frank C. Knowles during an illuminating discussion on the treatment of skin diseases before 300 members of the Philadelphia County Medical Society. Dr. Knowles said:

"A great percentage of skin diseases are cancerous growths. The blonde type of woman, when subjected to the rays of the sun, is very susceptible to the disease. Not only the blonde woman, but the woman possessing a freckled face, must avoid the sun. Such preventive measures will save them much trouble."

QUANTITY AND QUALITY IN HUSBANDS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Of course husbands have always been interesting. Now they are the burning topic of the day. They are understood to be at a premium, way above par. Submarines and shrapnel, poisonous gas, hand-grenades, 42-centimeter guns and mere rifles have had a good deal to do with bulling the market, but even before that, the bears were getting anxious.

Clever society mammas have felt the urgent necessity for their superlative efforts, for not only is the supply of husbands decidedly shy, but eligible bachelors have shown an irritating disposition to postpone their fate. We are even discussing polygamy, seriously weighing the advantages and disadvantages of divided possession. That half a husband is better than no man, receives a certain amount of well-considered support.

All of which will explain why the New York World is giving a certain Widow Stevens her full share of publicity. The lady advertised for a husband and received more than five hundred written proposals in reply. Her first name is Martha, which may account somewhat for her luck. Many a man who has tried Imogen or Dorothea or Gwendoline, is prepared reluctantly to admit that a Martha might have been more valuable.

Now the Widow Stevens, with an embarrassment of choice, feels that she can afford to lay down a few essential rules. She demands that the prospective spouse be healthy, cheerful, successful in business, artistically appreciative, love wife and home and prefer their company at nights. And on no account will she consider a gentleman who belongs to clubs, is sporty, or a "good fellow"; is too religious, bossy or grouchy, sickly. He must not be too good, too old, travel for his living, or be a divorcee, and she is suspicious of handsome men, since they are invariably spoiled. She objects to excessive drinking, but does not demand a teetotaler; he may smoke in moderation, and she puts the ideal age at 38.

It would appear, however, that of the five hundred odd proposals the widow has received, the majority of them are widowers with families, or poorly educated, judging from their imperfect epistles, or business failures, or alimony widowers of too much experience. Several wrote their offers on postcards, which the widow considers rotten bad form, and several more sent typewritten letters, which is unthinkable.

So that while, in the first flush of reading, the widow's experience putteth hope in the feminine breast, a careful study of actual conditions is depressing unto tears.

The cold fact is, dear sisters, that quantity and quality in husbands are strangers to one another. That most any girl can get a husband tomorrow if she is not too particular. That she must, alas, stoop quite considerably—and remain stooping, to conquer.

That does not necessarily mean that the standard in men has lowered, but it does mean that the standard in woman has improved. They were quite right when they opposed education for women. We know so much—too much. It is a little exasperating that, at a time when we have cultivated our tastes, our independence, and our general discrimination, the market offers a more pitiable and scarce selection than ever before. We asked so little here before and were frequently sweetly resigned to still less. Now—well, now we are seriously considering whether it will not be necessary and desirable to shake up the few men who answer to our requirements, since stooping to conquer is almost more than we can bear. A most depressing state of affairs. When our tastes were modest and unambitious, it was easy to regard polygamy as a subject taboo, quite unthinkable. Then it truly seemed preposterous. But now, it stands out in a new light. We feel that there might be virtue in taking our turn at wearing one beautiful rose, rather than enjoying the exclusive possession of a dandelion.

Polyandry might be better, of cohrse—it would take at least three average men's combined good qualities to make up our minimum intellectual, business and lover-like requirements—but the shortage in the market precludes that.

The Widow Stevens flouts the idea that she would marry any but a professional man. "Fancy me marrying tradesman—a butcher or a barber, a street car conductor or a policeman." Evidently a profession would cover a multitude of sins in the widow's eyes. But there are quite a number of policemen and street car conductors and tradesmen who are much more attractive than some professional men we can think of. Wives of professional men must often be tempted to elope with the gardener. We have often commended their self-restraint in not doing so. If the widow gets her professional man, she may be urgently advising him to join some of those clubs yet—for a little respite.

The prospective bride's case is a sorry one nowadays. She is nearly always selecting the best of a bad bunch. Then she declares she "respects" him, knowing very well that she could never convince us it is love. Respect is a ghastly thing to marry on, so exacting. Love is pleasantly short-sighted. That's why it is the most important thing in the world.

It is about our only chance of solving the husband problem. If we love him, it won't matter whether he is a professional man or a car conductor. It won't matter whether he is a successful business man or a failure. It won't matter whether he is handsome or plain. It won't matter whether he is healthy or sick. We shall be comfortably satisfied that what he is is what we wanted, and our fatal critical faculties will be in abeyance. And if we don't love him, nothing he ever does or is will be right, and we shall be better off in single blessedness, earning our own salt. There isn't a society butterfly, or a successful business man's wife, or any prosperously placed woman who would not be prepared to swap all her glory for love. It's the only real thing, and nothing else matters.

Is the word "Turkish" on such tobacco now a misbrand?

What Matters It?

What matters it that all the skies be dark,
And black the night, and tears?
With morning came the singing of the lark
And joy for recompense!
What matters it that ever, day by day,
Is that to be taken as an anti-suffragist's declaration? The reverential attitude of chivalry to women is, cerebrally, at all events, a graceful survival of the age of chivalry beloved of Don Quixote. It has been a stock complaint of the anti-suffragists that the so-called "emancipation of women" would mean the dethronement of woman, installed as "man's equal," she would lose her place as man's superior.

We have taken little stock in that argument, believing the real root of the matter's chivalry toward woman to be the reverence which every man fit to be called one instinctively feels for his mother—or her memory. He instinctively treats women as he wishes his own mother to be treated by other men.

We noted a motorman the other day helping a sweet faced old lady, incumbered with a heavy parcel, off his car, with the gentle solicitude of a good knight and the chivalry of a Sir Galahad. We thought we could guess whom he was thinking of as he did it.

Up rugged slopes we fare!
And sweeten all the air?

Life's pathway is a toilsome one, I ween,
Thick strewn with many a thistle;
But oh, the joyance of the occasional green
And rosy smile of morn!
And slacken near the goal,
But one clear bird song comes to us apace
And cheers the fainting soul.

And so what boots it though the skies be dark,
And black the night, and tears?
Since morning brings the singing of the lark
And joy for recompense!
One day of golden summer heals the pain
For winter's storm and stress,
One brief hour of pleasure will remain

SEES CITY AS HUB OF WEST.

Head of Manhattan Borough Predicts Great Future.

Tells Ideals of Government that Touches People.

Gardening as a Population Tonic also Explained.

Marcus M. Marks, president of the borough of Manhattan, made the prediction last night at the August meeting of the Chamber of Commerce that Los Angeles will in a short time be the New York of the West. He has visited nearly all of the large cities in the United States, and he declared Los Angeles now is more like the great eastern metropolis than any of them.

"Your beautiful city is a sister of New York," he said. "There interests are identical. What is good for one is good for the other, and it is up to you and to us to pull together."

The distinguished visitor gave the chamber members a talk on city government, and his remarks were warmly received. He spoke from the viewpoint of a New Yorker, who is president of a borough of 2,600,000 population, but he declared the conditions could be met in his own locality are applicable to Los Angeles.

"There is a strong and growing desire in New York for borough autonomy," said the speaker. "There are five boroughs in that city, and each wants independence and self-government. There is considerable conflict between the five borough presidents and the Mayor, Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen of New York, but we are trying to solve our problems and are meeting with great success.

SAFE GUIDANCE.

"My principle has been to do as the people want me to do. I have discovered that any time the president of a borough acts in accordance with the consensus of opinion of the representative citizens he cannot go wrong, and that is my policy. Any time a Mayor or other official attempts to override the will of the people he will himself be overridden. The Mayor or any city official is in office to do as the people want him to do, and if he tries to be a boss he will be overthrown.

"I have divided Manhattan into sixteen districts and have appointed a commission for each one consisting of five men and two women. I make it my duty to call upon those commissions whenever there is any public action to be taken that will affect them. I tell them, 'If you don't know what to do, call in your neighbors and tell me I want to be instructed as to what should be done.' If I get their advice and do not heed it, I don't deserve to be at the head of their department.

"The standard of ethics in business have found to be the highest, but in politics—well, it will always be so. All business men just like those represented here tonight do what you would do in politics. When you wake up to the fact that you are the power, that you should have charge of the affairs of the city, then you will place the proper men at the head of your government and will have a good government. If the business men of Manhattan or any other city will become unselfish enough to take up the fight for better politics and better government they will get it."

Mr. Marks told of some of his plans for solving the problem of the employes and the citizen. When he became the head of Manhattan, he said, the first thing he did was to go to the Municipal Building and inform the employees that he wanted them to treat the citizens with the greatest respect. "They are your bosses and pay your salaries," he told them, and declares that after they thoroughly understood what he meant there was a great difference in their attitude toward the public.

ABOUT GARDENING.

While the members were waiting for the arrival of Mr. Marks, George H. Maxwell, an expert agriculturist, entertained them with a talk on "City Gardening." He declared that by intensive cultivation of city lots Los Angeles soon would become as large as New York, as it will make the city irresistible to the man of the middle west.

"Los Angeles can easily be made the home of the average man," he said, "and that can be accomplished by the development of the back-yard garden.

Mr. Maxwell said if every man in Southern California would devote his spare time to his back-yard garden there would be no idleness, and he declared when everyone sees the efficacy of his plan the problem of no employment will be solved.

Municipal marketing in New York, by utilizing waste spaces for stalls, was discussed by Mr. Marks yesterday morning before the directors of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. Mr. Marks asserted that the scheme, of which he is the father, has been entirely successful, and that nearly all bridge approaches now have such markets.

Mr. Marks has been president of the National Association of Clothiers many years and of the Clothing Trade Association of New York. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Civic Federation.

CHIVALRY STILL EXISTS.

Though a Congress of Mothers Recently Declared it Could Not be Relied Upon.

[Milwaukee Sentinel:] The Illinois Congress of Mothers, now in session, declares that "the chivalry of men can no longer be relied upon."

Is that to be taken as an anti-suffragist's declaration? The reverential attitude of chivalry to women is, cerebrally, at all events, a graceful survival of the age of chivalry beloved of Don Quixote. It has been a stock complaint of the anti-suffragists that the so-called "emancipation of women" would mean the dethronement of woman, installed as "man's equal," she would lose her place as man's superior.

We have taken little stock in that argument, believing the real root of the matter's chivalry toward woman to be the reverence which every man fit to be called one instinctively feels for his mother—or her memory. He instinctively treats women as he wishes his own mother to be treated by other men.

We noted a motorman the other day helping a sweet faced old lady, incumbered with a heavy parcel, off his car, with the gentle solicitude of a good knight and the chivalry of a Sir Galahad. We thought we could guess whom he was thinking of as he did it.

Prophetic.

Head of Manhattan Borough Predicts Great Future.

Adds Ideals of Government That Touches People.

Gardening as a Population Tonic also Explained.

Marcus M. Marks, president of the Borough of Manhattan, made the prediction last night at the August dinner of the Chamber of Commerce that Los Angeles will in a short time be the New York of the West. He has visited nearly all of the large cities in the United States, and he declared Los Angeles now is more like the great eastern metropolis than any of them.

"The beautiful city is a sister of New York," he said. "There interests are one. What is good for one is good for the other, and it is up to you and to us to pull together."

The distinguished visitor gave the chamber members a talk on city government, and his remarks were warmly received. He spoke from the viewpoint of a New Yorker, who is president of a borough of 2,600,000 population, but he declared the conditions that exist in his own locality are applicable in Los Angeles.

"There is a strong and growing desire in New York for borough autonomy," said the speaker. "There are five boroughs in that city, and each has independence and self-government. There is considerable conflict between the five borough presidents and the Mayor, Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen of New York, but we are trying to solve our problems and are meeting with success.

SAFE GUIDANCE.

"My principle has been to do as the people want me to do. I have discovered that any time the president of a club acts in accordance with the wishes of opinion of the representatives he cannot go wrong, and that is my policy. Any time a Mayor makes official attempts to override the will of the people he will himself be overridden. The Mayor or any city official in office to do as the people want him to do, and if he tries to be a boss he will be overthrown.

"We have divided Manhattan into six districts and have appointed a commission for each one consisting of seven men and two women. I make it a duty to call upon those commissioners whenever there is any public action to be taken that will affect them. I tell them, 'If you don't know what to do call in your neighbors and tell me. I want to be instructed as to what should be done.' If I get their views and do not heed it, I don't deserve to be at the head of their department.

"The standard of ethics in business is found to be the highest, but in politics—well, it will always be so that business men just like those represented here tonight do what you refuse to do in politics. When you wake up to the fact that you are the people, that you should have charge of the affairs of the city, then you will place the proper men at the head of the government and will have a businesslike government. If the business men of Manhattan or any other city will become unselfish enough to take up the fight for better politics and better government they will get it."

Mr. Marks told of some of his plans for solving the problem of the borough and the citizen. When he became the head of Manhattan, he said, the first thing he did was to go to the Municipal Building and inform the employees that he wanted them to treat the citizens with the greatest care. "They are your bosses and not your salaries," he told them, and he continues that after they thoroughly understood what he meant there was a great difference in their attitude toward the public.

ABOUT GARDENING.

When the members were waiting for the arrival of Mr. Marks, George H. Maxwell, an expert agriculturist, entertained them with a talk on "City Gardening." He declared that by intensive cultivation of city lots Los Angeles now would become as large as New York, as it will make the city irresistible to the man of the middle west.

Los Angeles can easily be made the home of the average man," he said, "and that can be accomplished by the development of the back-yard garden."

Mr. Maxwell said if every man in Southern California would devote his spare time to his back-yard garden there would be no idleness, and he declared that when everyone sees the efficacy of his plan the problem of no employment will be solved.

Municipal marketing in New York, utilizing waste spaces for stalls, was discussed by Mr. Marks yesterday, after addressing before the directors of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. Mr. Marks asserted that the plan, of which he is the father, was entirely successful, and that the approaches to all bridge approaches now are such markets.

Mr. Marks has been president of the National Association of Clothiers for many years and of the Clothing Trade Council of New York. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Civic Federation.

Forest Fire.

the north of Pomona, rising in gigantic spirals that could be seen for miles around.

Several hundred acres have been burned already, with some prospect of conquering the fire today. If the backfires are successful the flames will be under control by nightfall.

Forest rangers declared last night that this fire was probably started by the same persons who caused the little blaze of a week ago. Word has been passed about that there is gold in the canyon, and as a result, many prospectors are investigating claims. Some of these are blamed for the present situation.

ON NORTH BROADWAY.

Fine New Store Owned by Angeleno of Wide Experience to be Opened Saturday.

Business facilities and attractions of the shopping center will be augmented next Saturday when the Golden Bay Tea and Coffee Company will formally open a wholesale and retail establishment at No. 201 North Broadway. The head of the store is William J. Walshe, who has been in business in this city twenty-nine years. A public reception will be held at the opening.

By a peculiar coincidence next Saturday is Mr. Walshe's fiftieth birthday and the twenty-sixth anniversary of his wedding.

A wholesale and retail business in teas, coffees, butter and eggs will be combined with an extensive stock of imported and domestic groceries and produce.

Three years ago Mr. Walshe was compelled by ill health to suspend his business, but declares he has entirely recovered and is as sound as ever in his faith in the prosperity of Los Angeles and the opportunities that offer here.

WOMAN BITTEN IN DOG FIGHT.

"Biddie," a poodle owned by Mrs. John Badgett, No. 1217 Lemon street, tried to make friends with a larger and sterner dog yesterday, but the big dog barked, bit and bowled "Biddie" into the dirt. When Mrs. Badgett ran to the rescue of her pet the big dog turned and bit her on the right arm. She went to the Receiving Hospital to have the wound cauterized.

LECTURES ON GARDENS.

Noonday talks on "Rural Revival," by George H. Maxwell, executive director of the National Reclamation Association, were arranged yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce as an addition to its lecture schedules. These talks will be delivered Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. Mr. Maxwell will explain the advantages of the intensive cultivation of back gardens and other small patches of ground.

THE TONS OF WATER.

A Little Computation Reveals an Enormous Consumption of Water for Our Food and Drink.

[New York Evening Journal:] Experts of the Agricultural Department at Washington say that growing plants require about a thousand times their weight in water to bring them to maturity.

The housewife who takes a loaf of bread out of the oven, for instance, is lifting a product which, in case the loaf weighs a pound, represents the utilization of about two tons of water, that is, 500 gallons.

The ten-pound roast of beef which the family attacks at dinner has been brought to its maturity only at the expense of 200 tons of water, which, as a little figuring assures us, is exactly 75,000 gallons, or 600,000 pints.

The soup, the fish, the vegetables, the dessert, the beverages, all represent equally surprising amounts of the fluid, and as most of us eat three meals a day it is not difficult to realize that, directly and indirectly, each of us is absorbing rivers.

The average man uses a ton of water for drink in the course of a year, 400 tons in bread and 4000 tons in meat. This of itself figures out 4,000,000 quarts, which would keep quite a respectable river flowing for some time.

In addition, there is the water in the fruits which we eat, in the vegetables, the desserts and various other articles of diet, which, in all probability, doubles the estimate.

Two-thirds of the earth's surface is water, and normally the air contains a very large percentage of it, while numberless streams exist beneath the surface. It is, all told, a tremendous volume, but, in the light of the facts, none too great to support the vast life processes which, whether in plant or animal, depend absolutely upon it.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

[The Times invites strong, clear, bright expression of opinion on current subjects, timely, pertinent and popular. Brevity should be kept in sight. Essays eschewed. Religious and personal controversies are tabu. Value is added to such letters by the signing of the writer's true name, which will be either published or withheld at the owner's request. Letters offered for publication should be in "parliamentary" language, and are subject to editorial supervision.]

The Smoke-blower.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this beautiful city surely there is a way to eliminate the smokers from that portion of Central Park reserved for women and children. As I sat there at different times to enjoy a few breaths of God's fresh air and sunshine I was invariably annoyed by smokers. True, they were escorts. Is there not a way to have those women accompany their escorts to a part of the park where smoking is not offensive? Surely this city can afford to let us have space enough for a few seats where we will not be annoyed by men who really must smoke. I am not alone in this, for I have observed many annoyed in the same way. Are we to sit still and suffer it? We do not even dare make a complaint in the offender's hearing, for as a rule he just starts more steam—even makes a special effort to direct it into your face, thereby proving what an awful effect the weed has on his nature. Everything taken into this system of ours creates an intelligence within us. What kind of an intelligence does this weed (tobacco) create—a higher or a lower?

M. D. W.

How Shall We Know?

PASADENA, Aug. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The ministers employ Billy Sunday, but claim they do not indorse all his teachings.

Dr. Aked says there is no such God, no such Christ, no such heaven, no such hell. In The Times' reports of the international gathering of the Young People's Christian Union it was stated seventy-eight denominations were represented.

What teaching is true and how am I to distinguish between superstition and religion?

I am anxious that my children may become good citizens and take a proper attitude upon all moral questions. I hope we will have an able editorial in The Times that may help some of us to decide.

JAMES C. BROWN.

THE DEADLY PARALLEL.

If Russia is Short of Munitions of War How About the United States' Few Guns?

[Chicago Journal:] If Russia has been smothered by superior gunfire, how would America fare in a death grapple with a first-class power, properly armed?

One shudders to think of the answer. Accurate figures are not available, but it is likely that Russia at the beginning of this war had twenty times as many heavy guns and fifty times as much ammunition as the United States possesses today. Industrially, this country is immeasurably superior to the empire of the Czar, and could turn to the manufacture of artillery in much more efficient fashion. But does any one imagine that an enemy would be obliging enough to wait until our foundries manufactured in war time the supplies we failed to accumulate in days of peace?

When Congress meets next fall it must face facts. It must make provision to safeguard this peaceful republic in the world as it exists today, instead of blindly reckoning on conditions which might exist if all war lords and military cliques were suddenly converted to the doctrine of sweet reasonableness. If war comes to our shores—and no man knows when war may come—our young men must not be sent to useless slaughter for lack of training, of guns or of ammunition.

JAPANESE REPARTEE.

Are Apt in Proverbs, Keen in Wit and Vivid in Illustrations of Points at Issue.

[Washington Star:] It has been said that the Japanese are as apt and unique in their proverbs as they are in their works of art. What, for example, could be more appropriate to men in certain desperate circumstances than this: "Man may shout when he can no longer swim?" "While the tongue works the brain sleeps," is another saying of the Japanese, which expresses their contempt for loquacious persons.

The Japanese are quick at repartee, their wit is keen and tempered, and they can often administer a perfect snub in brief, terse form. In illustration of this there may be cited the following instance:

There was being tried in a court a case involving the possession and ownership of a piece of property. The litigants were brothers. The holder, who was clearly not the rightful owner, had assaulted and ejected his brother and was protesting his right to defend his claim.

The examining magistrate listened very patiently to him until he closed with the words: "Even a cur may bark at his own gate." Then the judge quaintly voiced the judgment, as if stating an abstract point of law—"A dog that has no gate bites at his own risk."

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

A CHARMING FEATURE of the entire summer in Southern California has been a noticeable inclination to revive the old-fashioned garden party, and certainly to those possessing the lovely country places, with their rambling gardens and plenty of God's good out-of-doors, should fall at this season the lion's share of entertaining, barring only the beach residents.

But it so happens that the garden makes the ideal setting for a tea or afternoon at cards or dance, so it is little to be marveled at that the former popular mode has found its own again, and entered with zest into the scheme of events social. Summer frocks and lingerie hats, exquisitely toned silk sweaters, beauty of surroundings, the sunshine and gaiety that it engenders, together with more or less informality bound to result from just being out in the open, all makes for a perfect function. And pray tell me what hostess does not crave success for any event she sponsors?

This form of entertaining is on Saturday afternoon to attract to the beautiful country place of Mrs. Hugo Eckardt in Alhambra nearly 100 favored guests, who are bidden "from 3 p.m. to midnight."

There are no superior tennis and croquet courts in this part of the State, and consequently these sports are to claim their particular devotees, as will auction bridge—that is, during the afternoon—for an elaborate supper is to be served 'neath the spreading shade trees at 7 o'clock, with dancing until midnight.

Visitor from Dublin.

Honoring Miss O'Brennan, special correspondent on the Irish Times in Dublin, who is to be a visitor in Los Angeles soon, Mrs. Martha Duffill of No. 643 West Twenty-eighth street is giving an informal tea for twenty guests on the afternoon of Saturday. Mrs. J. W. Fair and Mrs. I. V. Sherman are to pour, and there will be musical contributions and readings, combined with sociability, to make the afternoon one long to be remembered. Miss O'Brennan is a brilliant woman, to whom the literary colony will extend a genuine welcome.

Pretty Nuptial Service.

Amid a wealth of radiant September roses, Enchantress carnations and asparagus plumosus, Miss Glen Wilkins, the lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delos A. Wilkins of No. 739 North Mariposa avenue, last night became the happy bride of Frank E. Garbutt, the service being read at 8 of the clock by Rev. G. C. Patterson of the Wilshire Presbyterian Church, in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends, numbering less than fifty.

Misses Melodie and Theodore Garbutt, who are sisters of the groom, were beautiful bridesmaids in short frocks of pink satin, veiled in much tulle, and they carried glorious September Morn roses.

Little 6-year-old Katherine Labry, the winsome daughter of the W. E. Labrys, who are cousins of the bride, made an exquisitely dainty flower girl in her filmy frock of embroidered white organdie, with fetching sash and coiffure bows of pale pink, and she carried an old French gold basket of rose petals, which were showered along the path of the bride.

Miss Wilkins came down the stairway on the arm of her father, taking her place before the fireplace, banked solidly with September Morn roses and enchantress carnations, with a background of greenery. She has never looked quite so beautiful than as a bride, in her handsome gown of white satin charmeuse, covered in white tulle. It was made low, with full court train hanging from the shoulders, and enriched with pearl trimmings. Her long veil, bordered in rose point lace, was arranged in cap effect about her fair face, with orange blossoms, and she carried white orchids and lilies of the valley en shower. Marshall McComb, who has been a friend of Mr. Garbutt for many years, attended him.

Miss Margaret Marshall officiated at the piano, playing Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the party entered from the second floor. She played softly throughout the ceremony.

A reception and supper followed, the happy couple leaving later for a honeymoon trip aboard the bridegroom's yacht. They will visit the two expositions and go whither their inclinations take them.

Upon their return they are to take an apartment until they decide upon their future plans.

Mr. Garbutt is the son of the millionaire sportsman of Los Angeles, and his charming wife has long been prominent in social and musical circles, being accomplished in both voice and piano.

Back from Berkeley.

Miss Mary Brodbeck, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Brodbeck of No. 212 North Soto street, will return home today from attendance upon the Delta Gamma Sorority convention at Berkeley. She will be accompanied by a party of delegates to the convention, who will stop over at Los Angeles before returning to their homes.

Off to the Island.

Observes Her Birthday.

Mrs. Lucius L. Vogel added to the pleasure of the week's social calendar by giving a dancing party at her pretty home, No. 2271 Cambridge street, Tuesday night, the function being planned as a happy observance of her natal day anniversary. Purple asters in a riotous profusion added to the beauty of the parlors, where lightly tripped the Terpsichorean devotees through the mazes of the modern steps. Excellent music was provided, and an elaborate supper was served.

For Guests.

Mrs. A. Simon, who with her son, Louis, spent last week at Ocean Park, will today dispense enjoyable hospitality to friends at her cozy apartment on 217 West Fifty-second street, entertaining with cards, Mrs. R. Simon, Mrs. R. Weinberg, Mrs. H. Dormke, Mrs. R. Rogasner, Mrs. M. Karger, Mrs. Rice of Denver and Mrs. Rice of Los Angeles.

In Their New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold English are occupying their beautiful new home on No. 856 South Wilton place, where they are now receiving their innumerable list of friends. They have been out of the city much lately, and their return will be heralded with joy.

An Oriental Evening.

Over 200 bidden guests have in prospect a pleasurably anticipated "oriental" function tomorrow night, with Mrs. Margaret C. LaGrange hostess, who will receive her guests in the pretty gray and white ballroom of the Regent. The room itself has the air of a salon, and tomorrow night's affair will largely savor of such a gathering of literati. The cultured hostess who has traveled extensively around the world, making long stays in India and the Orient particularly, has enjoyed an entree into the temples and other interesting and historic palaces not ordinarily opened to individuals traveling. Inasmuch as she has ever been a deep student into the religions and mysteries of the Far East she was extended many distinct privileges. The hostess will give "A Scene from an Eastern Garden" and a breath of the Orient is to be wafted into the interior of the ballroom by appropriate background and decorations. Many society matrons are to assist.

Charity Garden Party.

A garden party for the benefit of the building indebtedness of the Church of the Epiphany will be given by Mrs. A. K. Smith and Mrs. H. E. Brett at the home of the latter, No. 137 North Workman street, from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon. For diversion a programme of music, together with the presentation of an amusing little sketch, entitled "A Cup of Coffee," will be presented by the Misses Florence Black, Wava Blount, Ethel Ivapon, Dorothy Washer, Hazel Way, Lillian Williams and Alice Smith. Piano and violin solos are to be given by Adrienne Enright and Reba Thornburg. Refreshments are to be served by a group of young women of the parish, who are actively assisting the hostesses in making this affair the great success it deserves.

Returns to Visit.

Mrs. Frances King Headlee, formerly a resident of Los Angeles, where she had headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce as coast representative of the Hawaii Promotion Commission, is to arrive in the city Saturday and remain until Tuesday. She will be at the Auditorium Hotel, where her friends will be given an opportunity of welcoming her. Her son, Colin Headlee, who is coming with the Annapolis midshipmen, will join his mother here for a short visit. This is his third year with the navy, being stationed on the steamship Missouri.

Mrs. Headlee, who was here from 1907 to 1912, has for the past three years been secretary of the Welfare Commission for the State of Washington, with central offices in Olympia.

MEN AND THINGS ACROSS THE SEA.

Invaluable German Chemists.

[Washington Star:] Chemists woke up Germany's second firing line. "What must we have?" asked the experts at the ministry of war when the struggle began. "What is it we dare not run short on?"

Gasoline, for one thing. Without gasoline the Taubes could not fly and the intelligence department is crippled. Without a motor transport the men would go hungry. Rubber is essential. A motor without tires is dead. Copper is needed to band the shells. Above all——

"Nitrate," said the experts. "Nitrate puts the punch in the big guns. Without it they are silent. Without it we cannot fight."

The chemists have supplied each of these needs. They have more than supplied them. Germany is today producing more motor essence than she needs for her engines of war. She is making a substitute for rubber which will at least replace the natural rubber in a satisfactory manner. She is making more nitrate than her guns can burn, and as a by-product a fertilizer which will tremendously increase the yield of her wheat fields. Chemists also devised a substitute for copper.

King George a Loser.

[Baltimore American:] When King George abolished liquor from his households and asked all to follow his example, he cut deeply into his revenues, for he owns the celebrated Lochnagar whiskey distilleries, situated on his Balmoral estates in Scotland.

These were started by Queen Victoria and her husband, and supply many royal cellars, including those of the Czar, Kings Alfonso and Haakon, and, until the present war, those of the kaiser. The brand is also on the list of many leading clubs here and in other cities.

The king derives sufficient money from the sale of Lochnagar whiskey to pay all the expense connected with the Balmoral Castle and estates and leave a large profit. Queen Victoria reaped again and again an amount equivalent to all she paid for the Balmoral property in the early years of her marriage.

In producing drink, King George has as companions most other European monarchs. Francis Joseph of Austria has several brandy distilleries, and extensive vineyards, from the grapes of which Tokay wine is gotten. The kaiser brews beer and produces Rhine wine, much of which is sold publicly, while the late King Oscar of Sweden often recommended his own beer to those who dined with him.

At the same time the intoxicated monarch is going out of style throughout Europe. King Alfonso never drinks anything but water and never did. He doesn't like liquor, he says. King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is another total abstainer.

The kaiser is abstemious, but publicly encourages heavy beer drinking. The king of Sweden and the queen of Holland never touch strong drink. The czar takes very little, while Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, his commander-in-chief, has been a total abstainer since he induced his cousin to issue the ukase prohibiting the consumption of vodka by the Russian army.

Boxing with the Feet.

[Washington Star:] The form of boxing known as "La savate," in which the feet are used as well as the fists, and kicks are as legitimate as blows, has for a long time been a popular exercise in French gymnasia and schools of arms. In this country it is practically unknown, although attempt has been made at various times to introduce it here.

The first principle is that the whole weight of the body shall be placed on one leg, and that the farthest from the adversary. The disengaged leg is used as an adjunct to the fists, and flies out with astonishing swiftness and accuracy of aim.

The "coup de savate" proper is the "chasse" off the right foot, or "shin hit," a dangerous blow, but one that is easily avoided by raising the left knee to the level of the waist. Formidable as this method of assault and others, such as the "coup d'arret," or straight stop hit, and the "coup de figure," or swinging face kick, may be, and undoubtedly are with an expert, the parries and guards are simple and sure if properly used.

He likes a grim joke, especially against the Prussian Ministers. Lately two under-secretaries arrived from Berlin, and after giving them an icy reception, he invited them for a drive in his motor car. He drove them right into the line of Russian fire. As they drew near the secretaries did not dare protest, but as the bullets began to whistle around them they begged the general to stop the car. "Quite impossible," said Von Hindenburg, and imperturbably drove on. In a little while, though, the situation became so extremely perilous that he had pity on his guests and returned to camp.

Legion of Honor Cleared.

[Washington Post:] President Poincare has just promulgated a decree providing for the forfeiture of all crosses of the great national order of the Legion of Honor granted to Germans, of high and low degree. The measure concerns only the Germans and is not extended to citizens of the Austro-Hungarian empire or to the Turks, despite the fact that they are foes of France in the present great international conflagration.

If the Germans have thus been discriminated against in the matter it is because they are looked upon by the allies as having violated all the laws of war and the usages of civilized nations in the conflict now in progress, and as having rendered themselves guilty of such acts of barbarism and of vandalism as to place them beyond the pale of Christian people.

There must be many thousands of Germans on the roster of the French order of the Legion of Honor, all of whom will now disappear therefrom, no matter whether they be sovereigns or statesmen, diplomats or captains of industry and of finance, or German veterans of the French Foreign Legion, who have won their cross fighting for France in Mcrocco, in the interior of Africa, and in Tongking. This is the first occasion of any government adopting so sweeping a measure of this kind. But it must be confessed that President Poincare and his ministers have been entirely warranted in taking this step by the methods of campaigning adopted by the Germans during their invasion of Belgium and of France.

Theater Forecast.

OPPRESSION OF JEWS IS THEME.

Promising Bills for Local Playhouses.

Ida St. Leon and the Burbank Company are pleasing big audiences nightly in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," adapted from Kate Douglas Wiggins's charming book of the same name.

Next week, commencing with the Sunday matinee, Michael Morton's powerful drama, "The Yellow Ticket," dealing with Russian injustice to the Jew, and particularly to Jewish women, will be the offering. Marjorie Rambeau will appear as the persecuted Jewish girl, who is forced to apply for the stigma of shame, "The Yellow Ticket," in order to gain a passport to a distant city to visit her sick father. Louis Bennison, Winifred Bryson, James Applebee and Edmund Lowe all have congenial roles. This is the first time "The Yellow Ticket" has been presented at popular prices.

Orpheum.

Gus Edwards, king of "Tin Pan Alley," and his Song Revue of 1915, a "Fountain of Youth in Six Spouts," will headline the new Orpheum bill next week, beginning with the Monday matinee. The number contains six scenes, in which appear a bevy of pretty girls, a few boys, Betty Washington, the little violinist; Marguerite Dana, little Georgie and Cute Cuddles. All the latest of the Edwards songs will be given, and a lot of music, dance and comedy.

Others on the bill will be Nan Halperin, in songs; Allan Dinehart and company in "The Meanest Man in the World;" The Volunteers, a novel quartette, and Johnny Dooley and Yvette Rugel, secured for another week by request, together with the holdovers, the Misses Campbell and Bert Melrose.

Pantages.

Ethel Davis and the Baby Dolls are the feature of the Pantages show, starting Monday afternoon. They appear in "The Candy Shin."

Others will be Jessie Hayward and company in "The Quitter;" Cain and Odom, cross-fire comedians; Bigelow, Campbell and Reyden in songs; Billy Rogers, eccentric dancer, and Neuss and Elrid, a team of acrobatic comedians.

Hippodrome.

Elsie St. Leon—who gained her first fame with the Barnum and Bailey circus, and later succeeded her sister, Ida, now at the Burbank, in "Polly of the Circus"—and her popular brother, George, will head the new Hip bill opening next Monday afternoon. They bring with them their own steeds, and will present their two-ring Barnum and Bailey feature.

Other features will be Gladys Middleton, soubrette; Teresa Miller, singing comedienne; the Florenis, acrobatic comedians; Hendricks and Paula, rag artists; "Pals," the prize fight sketch by Hall Davis, and the Bodini Brothers, accordeon players.

Republic.

The filmy-garbed bare-limbed dancers in the "Society Classic Dancing Contest," this week at the Republic Theater are proving a highly attractive feature. The awarding of the grand prize will occur Sunday night.

Interest is already being awakened in the appearance next week of Maximilian the Great, the man-ape, who has been called "the missing link." Maximilian eats, walks, and drinks like a human being.

"Mission Play."

The crowds are still flocking to the "Mission Play" in spite of the hot weather. The world's champion athletes will attend the pageant drama this afternoon. They have just arrived in this city after competing in the A.A.U. championships.

Among them are Loomis, the champion sprinter; Mucks, the champion weight man; Kohlemainen, the wonderful long-distance runner, and Ray, the boy who beat the world's greatest miler, Taber.

Tally's Broadway.

Mary Pickford in "Rags," is drawing crowds to Tally's Broadway this week. "Rags" is in many ways the most delightful picture play in which the popular young woman has yet appeared.

Next week another film favorite, Blanche Sweet, in "The Secret Orchard," will be the attraction.

Clune's Auditorium.

"The Clansman" appears to be without limit as regards its drawing power. So great is the demand for seats that it will be necessary to show the film again next week.

Clune's Broadway.

"Bold Emmett," portraying an incident in the life of Robert Emmett, the Irish patriot, done by Irish players in Ireland under the direction of Sidney Olcott, will be the feature at Clune's Broadway during the remainder of the week, closing Sunday.

This picture, produced amid the hills and dales of the west coast of Ireland, is said to be a most beautiful and interesting one, offering a succession of lovely scenes and an abundance of Celtic atmosphere.

Woodley.

Bessie Barriscale still continues greatly to please the capacity audiences who are seeing her in her latest photoplay, "The Mating," at Woodley's this week.

Next week a stirring drama of army life in India, "The Toast of Death" will be presented. This master picture vividly portrays picturesque India with its native bazaars, oriental streets and famed Indian temples. Louise Glaum, favorite screen actress, will play the star part.

Alhambra.

Pauline Frederick in "Sold" at the Alhambra, is drawing big crowds daily. Miss Frederick is well known for her film characterization in "The Eternal City," and her work in "Sold" adds much to her fame.

Next week Elsie Janis in a breezy film comedy written by herself, will be the attraction.

Majestic.

Francis Bushman in "The Second in Command" at the Majestic, has been attracting large audiences. Capacity houses have been the rule all week.

Next week William Faversham in "The Right of Way," supported by Jane Grey, will be the offering.

Empress.

D. W. Worley has assumed the management of the Empress Theater, and has converted it into a motion-picture house with a 5-cent admission fee, though all pictures are announced as first runs. Mr. Worley considered a vaudeville policy, but finally decided on pictures at jitney prices.

Palace of Pictures.

Admirers of Harry Mestayer are thronging the Palace of Pictures this week to see the former Burbank star in the leading role of "The Millionaire Baby," a picturization of Anna Katherine Green's absorbing mystery story. Mestayer is ably supported by a well-chosen cast which includes charming Grace Darmond.

Next week the programme will be headed by "The Rosary."

Miller's.

Hobart Bosworth as the minister in "The Scarlet Sin," is winning his audiences at Miller's this week. Jane Novak is charming as the wife. The "Romances of Elaine" will be the added feature during the remainder of the week.

Theda Bara in "Lady Audley's Secret," is the promising attraction for next week.

Prince Witte's Plainness.

[Truth:] When the late Prince Witte had once got a project in his head he never faltered from his purpose, and if opposition were too strong he resigned and disappeared. He generally spent his retirement in his native Caucasus and worked as a private explorer in completing the geological survey of that country. He knew he would be sent for some day.

One reason for his unpopularity in society was that he would never wear a uniform in a country where a man's worth is estimated, or was until quite recently, by the quantity of gold on his epaulettes. This wonderful man began life, after taking a university degree, as a booking clerk at Tiflis railway station.

I met him at St. Petersburg at the time of President Faure's visit. Certain courtesies had been extended to French journalists, and I wished to share in them. I had found the Foreign Office officials there rather slow, though I recognised they wanted to be obliging. A Russian said to me: "Why don't you go and see Witte at the Finance Department, and if he can do what you want it will be done at once." "But I don't know him." "It doesn't matter. You don't even need to ask for an appointment. Wednesday is his day; he receives everybody." At the treasury I found thirty or forty people sitting around a waiting-room, some of them holding envelopes, probably petitions. An usher added my name to a list and I took my turn. Witte gave about one minute to each applicant, collecting the envelopes as he went down the room.

When he came to me, not noticing I was a foreigner, he said: "Shto vy sprocitie?" which may be translated by the shop phrase, "What can I do for you?" He asked this in a quiet, indifferent way without any political effusiveness. I stated my object briefly in French. He replied in the same language, and in the same quiet manner, and see my chief secretary, and you came from me." Without for my thanks he gave me a and jerky handshake and pass to the next visitor.

I wondered whether I had been off, but on calling on the chief tary I was gratified to find that thing I wanted was granted on the spot, and a civil and quite for initiative taken in effecting further favors, all charming important. Witte had great powers and a magnificent looked sad, often gentle, and tually angelic in his private life could be witty, but as the he did not like his wit to be the flesh.

OAKLETS CLOSE TO THE CELLAR.

Angels Once More Stamp Rowdies to Defeat.

Ryan Takes Second with it Occupied.

Four Runs in Sixth Cinch the Game.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Pa's athletes whaled the Oaklets, 5 to 1, and found the whaling so easy that they were not compelled to resort to a ninth-inning rally. This time they staged their big splash in the sixth, plastering four runs. These added to one manufactured in the fifth made the situation so safe that they did not exert themselves in the final spasm.

JAWN RETIRES.

Aside from running amuck on the bases a couple of times, Jack Ryan, who pitched for our side, did very well. They got but one run off him, and that was due to a bum heave by Butler in the seventh. After this happened Jack retired to the clubhouse to have a lame finger treated and cool off. He sat under the shower bath while Dr. Finney, the club's skilled physician, fixed the finger, which had been jarred loose by a wicked drive from Rube Gardner's vicious bat as early as the second inning.

Johnny Williams then went in and successfully preserved the game for the rest of the afternoon. It was so warm that Dillon was afraid that the game might spoil unless carefully preserved. Johnny got along very well, disposing, among other things, of a pinch-hitter.

A HOT RALLY.

That sixth-inning rumpus could be termed either a winning rally for the Angels or a losing rally for the Oaklets. Both sides were to blame in a large degree. In that round, five hits were made off Shotputter Pruitt, the famous nature student, and Oakland made three funny errors. Of the three runs scored, only one was pure. At that, the Angels might have made a lot more had not Jack Ryan been assailed with a hurricane in the head.

Twice in this inning Jack tried to go from first to second despite the fact that there was a runner on that base. The first time he failed, and was chased back to first base. He was not to be thwarted twice, however, and the second time he made ago of it. He simply went down to second and ran the other guy off, so to speak. When Jack can't get where he wants by diplomacy he resorts to force. Don't ever think that when he makes up his mind to run around the bases anything is going to stop him short of a barbed-wire entanglement or a hidden mine.

THE TROUBLE.

The trouble with Jack is that he runs with his head down like a bloodhound, and does not see what is going on about him. Unless he takes to running with his head up they are going to strap a bayonet to his breast with the point of it directly under the chin. Then whenever he starts to lower his face the bayonet will stick him in the chin, and he will jerk it up quick. A more humane way might be to place a bit in his mouth and fix a check-rein on him the same as a buggy horse.

It was hot enough to poach an egg in the water bucket. While this was unpleasant, it was not without its good results, as it tended to help out the struggling ice cream industry.

Ed Finney was again on the job behind the bat, while Stingaree Bill did the base running for the firm. Bill was remarkably spry for a guy who has been stabbed in both feet by a stingaree. It is believed that nothing short of a swordfish can put him on the bum. Bill has a remarkable constitution, and his feet are embodied in the constitution.

HOT FIELDING.

There was a lot of fine fielding mixed in with the sordid kind. Zeb pranced around with his usual eclat, and went out of his way to cut off a couple of budding base hits. Buemiller, however, staged the keenest stunt of the day in the fourth with Middleton on first. Jimmy Johnston landed on the pill with a noise like three bases.

CHANCES GOOD FOR TITLE.

Last night the Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club held a blowout to celebrate the probable win of the locals in the national interclub shoot of July 25.

On that occasion the local shots made a score of 2294, the best recorded to date. Phoenix ran second with 2289. Fort Pitt club of Pittsburgh made 2286. Bucyrus, Ohio, made 2176. St. Paul made 2175. The Quinnipiac Rifle Club made 2259. All others were worse.

Ten of the best clubs in the country have been heard from and none of them have made better scores than the locals. The dark horses yet to be heard from are: Engineers' Club of Cleveland, Honolulu Rifle Club and the Missouri Rifle Club of St. Louis. The local heroes feel quite confident, however, that they have won the national championship, hence the celebration.

POLLY ANN IS BIG SURPRISE.

Grand Rapids Mare Takes a Snappy Race.

Hal Boy, Favorite, Fails to Win Pace.

Rusticoat Easily Wins Big Matron Stake.

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) Aug. 11.—The third day's Grand Circuit programme here was marked by the work of Polly Ann, a bay mare, locally owned and driven, which won the 2:12 class pace from a field of fast starters. It was the mare's first big-time race and in the last three heats, which she won, she finished well in front, the only fight being for second place.

Hal Boy, a favorite, with heavy backing, could do no better than second in the Comstock stake for pacers. Judge Ormonde, a popular second choice, being winner in straight heats.

Rusticoat, the speedy three-year-old, had no trouble winning the trotting division of the Matron stake, the chestnut son of Axworthy being popular choice for the money. Native Spirit won the place with Henry Todd third.

Tomorrow is get-away day, and three events are carded, the 2:13 trot, the 2:09 pace and 2:04 trot.

THOROUGHBREDS TO COME SOUTH.

LOS ANGELES HORSEMEN ASKED TO CO-OPERATE.

Golden Gate Association Laying Plans to Branch Out—Santa Anita Track Could be Used for Racing and All Exposition Horses Would Come to Southern California.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 11.—A circuit of thoroughbred race meetings for the Pacific Coast is the plan of the Golden Gate Breeders' Association, which is promoting the coming races at the exposition track and is fathering the turf revival in California. The association is figuring on running only thirty days or so at various meeting points and it realizes that it is at a disadvantage in attracting horses with only one track so far secured on which to race.

The Golden Gate association is accordingly laying plans to branch out so that more inducements will be offered the horsemen and their gallopers.

Horsemen in Los Angeles will be asked to co-operate in launching a club there similar to the breeders' body here, so that a race meeting can be promoted for thirty days or so in the south. Mrs. Anita Baldwin, so it is understood, has been approached and favors the idea.

The Santa Anita track would be available in that event, and the hundreds of horses that are coming here could proceed to Southern California.

FINALS TODAY IN CORONADO GOLF.

WATSON AND BARKER WILL FIGHT IT OUT FOR HONORS.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 11.—In the semi-finals of the annual golf tournament of the Coronado Country Club today, Elson Barker beat W. E. Inglelow, 5 up, and Dr. F. E. Watson beat R. H. Pickford, 1 up, in nineteen holes. The Waston-Pickford match was closely contested to the nineteenth hole when Dr. Watson, by a clever putt from the edge of the green, won.

The defeat of Morris Phillips by Inglelow yesterday is still puzzling golfers as Inglelow played far above his usual form. He made a score of 76 for the eighteen holes and won 2 up and 1 to go. Phillips was picked to win, but Inglelow won by splendid work on the putting greens.

The finals will be played tomorrow by Dr. Watson and Barker at thirty-six holes.

STANFORD PLAYS BIG RUGBY GAME.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) Aug. 11.—The big game of the Rugby season between Stanford and Santa Clara University will be played at San Francisco, November 13, it was announced today. Details of the meeting have been settled by Graduate Manager E. C. Behrens for Stanford and the Rev. V. V. White, athletic moderator of Santa Clara.

RACE HORSES ARRIVE HERE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Among a shipment of twenty valuable horses which arrived here today on the steamer Minnehaha were several English thoroughbreds. One of these is the untried stallion, The Curragh, five years old, by the derby winner Spearmint, out of Currajong, which won the Kempton Park jubilee stakes and the Princess of Wales stakes last year, while owned by Lord Cadogan. The Curragh was purchased recently for breeding purposes by John Sanford, owner of the Hurricana farm, near Amsterdam, N. Y. Two other thoroughbreds, Brotherton and May Bud, winner of the Nottingham stakes, were consigned to Harry S. Page, a prominent American turfman and owner of race horses.

YACHT RACES ARE POSTPONED.

COMMODORE MITCHELD DECIDES TO CHANGE DATE.

Many Club Members are Absent on Los Angeles-San Francisco Race—Motor Boat Club will Stage Races, However, Next Saturday and Sunday.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Aug. 11.—Commodore Mitchell of the Sunset Yacht Club has postponed the club races for August 13, 14 and 15 for two weeks. However, the big midsummer regatta of the Los Angeles Motorboat Club will be held off this beach next Saturday and Sunday.

The commodore stated today that so many of the club members sailed on the Los Angeles-San Francisco race that it would be inadvisable to hold the important races for the Commodore's cup, the Hotel Virginia cup and the Hearst cup at this time. He thinks that in about two weeks the boys will be rested up from their cruise north and will be ready for these three races.

Officials of the Los Angeles Motorboat Club today conferred with Secretary Livingstone of the Chamber of Commerce on the regata to be held here during the week end. A large entry list for the races was shown the secretary.

There will be nine, and possibly ten, events in the two days' racing. The complete programme has not yet been made public. Thirteen trophies, some of them beautiful examples of art, will be given winners. The perpetual Nordlinger cup will be raced for by the speedy ones. The commodore, vice-commodore and rear-commodore have each offered a cup.

The race will be divided into six classifications, as follows: Speed boats, open boats, cruisers over 35 feet in length, cruisers under that length, handicap cruisers, portable motorboats and auxiliary cruisers. The starting point will be just off Pine-avenue pier, where a scow will be anchored. It is probable that thirty-five boats will be entered.

The races will be over a four-mile course, as follows: From the starting point to a buoy just west of the Virginia Hotel, thence straight out to sea to a stake boat half a mile from shore, thence to another buoy, anchored half a mile east of the pier, and return to the starting point.

Commodore George F. Barber and Port Captain J. T. Dixon will have charge of the races.

RAIN PREVENTS TENNIS CONTEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Rain prevented the second round of the national elimination tournament in doubles which was to have been played on the tennis courts of the Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, today.

The challenge round between G. M. Church of Princeton and Alex Squair of Chicago for the western championship in singles will be played Friday.

A.A.U. BOSS IS IN TOWN.

Arthur J. Lill, Jr., president of the A.A.U., arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and is stopping at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. This is the first visit of the Amateur Athletic Union's head to the Pacific Coast, and he is greatly impressed with it.

He remarked often on the spirit of the western athletics and of those in charge of it in the north. He says that the A.A.U. championships at the exposition are without a doubt the greatest ever held by the A.A.U.

Mr. Lill was the referee of the meets, and in charge of the officials. His work was truly remarkable. As soon as one track event was finished another was started. The field events ended at the same time the track events did. So there were no waits. It was managed so well that 15,000 people sat through a regular gale without complaining or getting tired.

He even had announcers to tell the crowd just who was competing in all events. In the field events the announcers gave the distance. During the longer races they told the crowd who was running, first, second and third, and the time for the distance covered.

VIKING III SIGHTED FIFTY MILES SOUTH OF GOAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The many anxious relatives of the six yachtsmen on board the S.C.Y.C. yacht Viking III, which left San Pedro August 1, in the race for the P.P.I. Exposition cups, will be glad to know that the delayed racer was sighted late this afternoon off Pigeon Point, which is fifty miles south of this port.

On board are Commodore Albert Soiland, Charles Hubbell, Ben P. Weston, William Bloeser, Dr. Arnold Severin and Harry L. Rhodes.

Much interest is being taken here in the yacht race next Saturday between the sloops Albert, Genevieve, Active and Sir Tom.

DRAWINGS FOR SPACE IN AUTO SHOW WILL BE HELD

DRAWINGS for space in the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show, which will be held in the building now occupied by the Boston Store, October 22-30, inclusive, will be held Stepember 15, Manager Conwell and the committee representing the Automobile Dealers' Association fixed the date at a meeting yesterday.

Applications for space have been coming in rapidly during the past few days. Mr. Conwell said last night that more than two-thirds of the available exhibition space has been taken. Further applications will be received until the full amount has been taken, after which they canot be accepted.

All exhibitors will be on an absolutely equal basis. Every applicant for space will be represented at the drawing. The winner of first choice will be expected to decide on his location promptly so the winner of second choice can decide, and so on until all the space has been allotted.

Virtually every leading car will be represented at the big downtown show, which promises to be the biggest ever held here, not only because of the number and excellence of the exhibits, but specially in point of attendance.

It is estimated that several times as many people will be able to see a conveniently-located downtown show as one held further out. In addition many thousands will be attracted by the musical features, the unique decorative scheme and the great flower show which will occupy an entire floor. There will be many out-of-town exhibitors in the flower show, and arrangements will be made for excursions from many near-by points. During the week of the show the big department stores will offer special shopping attractions.

LOWRY VISITS CORONA HEADS.

Representing a squad of the racing drivers now in the East who wish to compete in the next Corona road race, Frank Lowry, who officiated at the last Corona classic, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Chicago. Today he is to have a conference with the race boosters at Corona regarding the date of the race and the division of the $15,000 purse.

According to Lowry, practically all of the drivers are anxious to drive on the Corona course this fall. They will be at liberty after the middle of October, the date set for the Chicago speedway 300-mile race, and it is believed that Corona will have a larger entry list this fall than last year when Eddie Pullen established his sensational mark on the Mercer.

PORTLAND, Aug. 11.—Portland shuffled its infield today, Bates moving across to first base and Davis going in at third, but despite this strategy Vernon kalsomined the Beavers, 3 to 0, in the second game of the series.

Both Decanniere and his youthful opponent, Coveleskie, pitched brilliantly. Except for a bobble in center field by Dave Hillyard and Coveleskie's mistake in cutting off a throw to the home plate, the score would have ended 1 to 0.

However, 1-0 or 3-0 it all looks the same in the standing of the club's column. All that kept the Beavers from dropping another notch was the Angels' second rout over Oakland.

Close to 2000 fans were out—counting the women—for it was ladies' free day—and not one in that young throng could find any fault with Walt McCredie's new infield arrangements.

Bates played the first each like a Hal Chase and annexed his usual swat. Bobby Davis made his initial appearance since his injury over one month ago and bagged one hit in three. The little infielder wrenched his knee again turning first base late in the game and all hands gathered around him and for a time it looked as if it might be well to send for a pulmotor. Bobby finally got up and finished the game.

Another of Mack's new men poked his head into print near the top of the story, to-wit, Wallie Carlisle. Carlisle featured the fielding with a spectacular running catch.

As between Carlisle and Walt Doane, principals in the recent trade—the edge was Carlisle's today by an eyebrow. In addition to his stellar catch, Carlisle looked much better at bat than our old ex-Beaver because he failed in only one pinch at bat, while Doane fell down twice with men in position to score.

Double plays had considerable to do with Portland's inability to score. Decanniere was stingy with his hits, but the six the Beavers did garner were bunched in mid-section of the game and along with the hits came two double killings at psychological times.

Vernon's three runs clattered across the home platter in the fourth inning. Wilhoit, Purtell and Berger almost spiking each other in the heels in their excitement.

After Bayless's out, Wilhoit singled to left, Purtell singled to the same spot. Gleichmann filed out to Hillyard for the second out. Berger then drove a single to center and in his haste Hillyard let the ball get past him. Of course, Wilhoit scored on the hit, but if Coveleskie's brain cogs had been working well Purtell would have been nailed at the plate on Hillyard's throw home. Instead, Coveleskie cut off the throw, Purtell coming up at third base and scoring on a right to right scored the first run of the inning.

HUSTLE IS BIG F IN SUCCES

One Element of Sensational plained—Dillon has Men up o Make the "Breaks" for Th ing for Bill Rodgers.

BY HARRY A. W

THE conduct of the Angels has caused a lot of people to begin talking about them.

Good ball teams are supposed to win games, but the Angel record of forty-four wins and only nine defeats is so far out of the ordinary that folks are beginning to wonder how they do it.

In answer to the query why they are winning so many combats, Dillon says:

"To start with, they are a good ball club, and well-balanced. Also, they are hitting in the pinches. More than that, they are getting the breaks. Luck is a big factor in baseball."

The analysis is all right as far as it goes, but it does not go deep enough.

It is not enough that the Angels are getting the breaks. "Why are they getting the breaks?" Answer that and you have one of the main elements of success, and the answer is not luck.

They are getting the breaks mainly because they are hustling—getting after them as they have not moved for years before. In the short space of two weeks they have developed into one of the greatest fighting teams in the history of Coast ball. They possess the decline to acknowledge defeat while the last man has taken the count.

Some fine examples of this determination to win regardless of the odds against them were seen in Tuesday's game. The two rallies which put the Angels in the running were staged with two out, and when the Angels didn't seem to have any more chance than a rabbit in hell.

The real turning point in the game was a weak little drive that Maggert shot into a base hit by risking his neck. In the seventh, with two gone, and the Oaklets leading by six runs, Maggert drove a vacillating little fly over to Ness. Under the circumstances it seemed hardly worth the effort to try and run it out. But Maggert went down to first as though the score were 1 to 1 and the winning run on the drive. By throwing himself into the base head first he beat the ball to it. To get to first with two outs and the team six runs behind does not look like much of an achievement, but as an analysis of the play it seems to have been the turning point of the contest. In the same inning, Wolter, by dint of desperate effort, beat out a bunt that looked hopeless, and drew the opposing pitcher into making a bum heave. Three runs scored in this round, and after a small start, it paved the way for some things.

Ness served to shake the confidence of the opposing pitcher and add to their own. The next inning the determination of Ness summed up with two gone. The man who had had them at his mercy for six rounds was knocked out of the box. Four runs scored, and the game, which ten minutes before had been a one-sided, listless affair, changed into a real combat. Swiftly, the Angels had been transformed into a team with the lust to hit the pill, and nothing in the shape of a pitcher could stand before them. In the second they hammered another man in the second, and pounded a third while the opposition had been sent to a crushing defeat.

* * *

Baseball love is all littered up with the names of clubs which refused to win. We shudder to think of the games which have been lost because the pitcher, through sheer laziness or pride, refused to run out some grounder which was muffed! Then there is the guy who makes a sharp play, and content with these few plays goes into a batting percentage, and down to first. There is a boy in the outfielder. Had the batted down to first and made sure of the fumble. This would have put a runner in position to score on a single.

In those things, which may seem small at the time, that just about mean the difference between a winner and a loser in a close race when every game is priceless. Pa is to be admired.

Despite his comparatively weak hitting, George Metzger stands strong with President Darmody. And I like about Metzger in addition to his great fielding, is the fact that he always gives the club his best. In the years that he has been with the team he has looked for an instant, and no more, that the club has received a hard enough to make him feel that feather. His fighting spirit is a good thing for the morale

The Why.

TLE IS BIG FACTOR IN SUCCESS OF ANGELS.

...Element of Sensational Winning Streak Ex...—Dillon has Men up on Their Toes, and They ...the "Breaks" for Themselves—Maier is Negoti... for Bill Rodgers.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

...of the Angels has ...ed a lot of people to begin ...about them.

"At that, I think that he can improve his hitting. His main weakness, to my way of thinking, is to be ... in the half swing which he takes the ball. As a result, when he does connect, it is usually with not a great deal of force and his blows are easy handle. I believe in a batter taking either a full swing or making a chop stroke with the bat. The latter is to be preferred, as the chances of connecting are better with the chop, while it generally produces a sharp, wicked grounder that is hard to handle. I believe that by changing his system Metzger can add twenty-five points to his batting effectiveness."

The Tigers are engaged in a winning streak, which, while not as prolonged as that of the Angels, is in percentage of games won one of the most sensational seen here in many a year.

To speak specifically, Maier's club has copped nine out of the last eleven games. They won a double-header the final day of the Portland series here, took five out of seven from Oakland and have taken both games played with Portland this week. If they maintain this lick for any length of time, the slightest slump on the part of either Los Angeles or San Francisco will put the Tigers in a position to finish one-two.

Some have been inclined to regard it as strictly a two-club race from now on, but as the writer pointed out Tuesday, the winning or losing of a few games is calculated to inject a new element into the chase.

"It would be folly to claim the pennant in a race as close as this," said Maier, "but I am absolutely confident that the Tigers will finish one-two. The distance between us and the leaders is so small as to be almost insignificant with almost three months to go. We have the best pitching staff in the league—this is conceded even by our rivals—and good pitching will be the deciding factor from now on. In fact, the club is just getting started. Berger, after a slow start, is playing championship ball, while Gleichmann, long hampered by an injury, is at last getting into his stride. It seems to me that nothing short of an epidemic of injuries can keep us below first or second place. If things go right, and we finish lower, I will be compelled to confess that my judgment is at fault."

Maier, while he believes that the club as now constituted is capable of a strong and winning finish, is taking no chances, and will endeavor to add a few points to its effectiveness, if possible.

He is negotiating with Garry Herrmann for the services of Bill Rodgers, last season the crack second baseman of the Portland club. As Rodgers is being used by the Reds mainly as a pinch-hitter, Maier believes that he stands a chance to get him, although Herrmann has not yet given a definite answer to his wire. Should Rodgers be secured, Purtell will be shifted to third and Wildcat Rader used for infield utility purposes.

* * *

Because of the backwardness of the majors about spending big money for minor league players this year, Maier does not expect to lose more than two players. The White Sox have first crack at the club, and can take Piercy for $4000 under the terms of their optional agreement. However, Rowland is well stocked with pitchers, and Maier is inclined to think that he may pass Piercy up. In that event, Bill is likely to be drafted unless sold outright in the meantime. Should the Sox take Piercy, it means that either Risberg or Wilhoit will be drafted, in all probability. Piercy is the best pitching prospect seen on the coast in many a year. Were the major league magnates as prosperous as formerly, big offers for him would have been filling the air long before this. In the halcyon days before the Feds spoiled the game financially, Piercy easily would have attracted bids of $10,000 or more.

TIGERS SHOW NEW HEAVERS.

HAINES AND HOWARD SIGNED TO BOLSTER UP THE WEAK STAFF.

The Detroit Tigers are showing two new pitchers, Haines and Howard. Haines is a collegian. Howard comes from the Saginaw team of the Southern Michigan League. Since pitching is the greatest problem that confronts the Tigers, Manager Jennings is hoping for much from the newcomers. Reagan, the Cornell University pitcher, has been released to Indianapolis.

TRACK ECHOES

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

Kelly or Kirkpatrick could have won the decathalon at the exposition championships. Alva Richards's showing was nothing remarkable. Thomson and Brundidge, the great all-around men, figure that a real champion should do over 7000, despite the fact that they did less. They simply fell down and admit it.

The event is made for men like Kelly and Kirkpatrick. Fast as they are in the 100 and 440, they could clean up heavily on the clumsy field that was entered in the north. They could gain in those two events over 200 points. Kirkpatrick would fall down in the shot put, but there again Kelly with his 42ft. puts would gain on the majority of the field and hold his own with Richards.

In the broad jump both Kirkpatrick and Kelly can do over twenty-one feet. That would give them a total for that event of over 750 points, as good as anybody did Monday in San Francisco.

In the pole vault Richards, who can vault 11ft. 8in., would gain on them. But both of these men are good for 10ft. 6 in. Kirkpatrick could probably do eleven feet. Richards's lead for that event would be less than 200 points, which would only counteract either the sprint or 440.

In the 110 meters both would score heavily, getting up in the 900 column in points. Richards is a fish in that event. Their lead would be about 300 in that event. Richards's leap in the high jump of 6ft. 2in. would not be more than 200 points in that event better than Kelly and Kirkpatrick could do at their worst. If Kirk should leap 5ft. 8in., as he has done, Richards's lead would be less than 150 points.

In the javelin they would both about hold their own, perhaps gaining some. For it happens that both Kelly and Kirkpatrick are excellent javelin throwers, not as good as the champions, but better than the average all-around man.

In the 1500-meter run both would again score heavily over Richards, who is a dub at it and no endurance man at all.

In other words both would show Richards up in the 110 meters, the 400 meters, the 110 hurdles, the 1500-meter run; at least hold their own in the broad, javelin and lose somewhat in the high and pole vault. Kirk would lose in the shot, but Kelly would gain. That gives Kirk good scores in four events to Richards's strong points in three and an even break in the other two. Kelly would score heavily in four events to Richards's two and lose out in only two.

How the Coast Pitchers Stand.

PIERCY SHOWS AN IMPROVEMENT.

TIGER YOUNGSTER GETS MORE EFFECTIVE WITH EXPERIENCE.

Pruiett of Oakland and Piercy of Vernon showed the most improvement during the past month when it comes to rating Coast League pitchers on the basis of the average runs for which they have been responsible per nine innings.

A month ago Pruiett's record showed him responsible for 3.47 runs per average nine innings; during the month he held opponents to low enough scores to cut down his average so that up to August 9 Pruiett's record shows him responsible for 2.98 runs per average nine innings.

Piercy of Vernon made the second best improvement and climbed up to the leading position in this rating among pitchers who have worked 150 innings or more. Last month Piercy had been responsible for 2.76 runs per nine innings; this month his record shows that for the season up to August 9 he had been responsible for 1.94 runs per nine innings.

Johnson of Vernon, who had worked only ninety-four innings, was the only other pitcher whose record showed a responsibility for less than two runs per nine innings. Johnson has been responsible for 1.62 runs per nine innings.

Following Piercy of Vernon, among the pitchers who have worked 150 innings, the run responsibility rating puts Love and Hughes of Los Angeles, Henley of Vernon and Fanning and Baum of San Francisco. Lefty Williams has been responsible for 2.62 runs per nine innings, and is Salt Lake's best bet.

Klawitter of Oakland has the best record of regular Oak slabsters, being responsible for 2.73 runs per nine innings. Portland must earn an average of close to three runs per nine-inning game to win if the dope sheet is to be believed, for Lush is the best Beaver bet in this rating and is well down the list with a run responsibility of 2.83 runs per nine innings.

With the season nineteen weeks old on August 9 only three pitchers had shown an ability to go the full route on the mound on an average of once a week. Lefty Williams of Salt Lake had climbed to within six innings of being on even footing with Klawitter of Oakland as the hardest worked pitcher in the league, but Williams tied Klawitter's record of pitching through twenty-one full games in the first nineteen weeks.

Ryan of Los Angeles, with twenty full games, was a close second. Other pitchers who had worked more than ten full games were: Hughes Los Angeles, 17; Henley, Vernon, 17; Fanning, San Francisco, 17; Baum, San Francisco, 17; Prough, Oakland, 15; Love, Los Angeles, 14; Pierce, Vernon, 13; Hitt, Vernon, 12; Krause, Portland, 11; Higginbotham, Portland, 11; Hall, Salt Lake, 11.

Ten pitchers had worked more than 200 innings in the first nineteen weeks, Klawitter of Oakland holding his position as hardest worked pitcher in the league with a total of 284 1-3 innings of work; Lefty Williams of Salt Lake was a close second with 278 innings; then came a big gap down to Ryan of Los Angeles, with 242 2-3 innings of work; Fanning, San Francisco, 230 2-3; Higginbotham, Portland, 220; Baum, San Francisco, 221; Hughes, Los Angeles, 218 1-3; Prough, Oakland, 218; Hall, Salt Lake, 204 1-3; Love, Los Angeles, 203 1-3.

More runs have been scored against Lefty Williams than against any other pitcher, 111 scores being charged up to him, for 81 of which he has been responsible. Other pitchers against whom more than 100 runs have been scored are: Hughes, Los Angeles, 106; Higginbotham, Portland, 106; Klawitter, Oakland, 101, and Hall, Salt Lake, 101.

Higginbotham of Portland has been responsible for a total of 88 runs, more than any other pitcher. Hall of Salt Lake runs him a close race, being responsible for 83 runs. Klawitter of Oakland has been responsible for 86 runs, and Lefty Williams with 81, is the only pitcher responsible for more than 80 scores.

Following records are complete up to August 9, showing total innings pitched by each pitcher, total runs scored by opponents, total runs for which each pitcher has been responsible, the average runs for which each pitcher has been responsible per nine innings, and the average for each pitcher a month ago:

M'LOUGHLIN QUALIFIES.

REDHEADED STAR REACHES THE SEMIFINAL ROUND.

SEABRIGHT (N. J.) Aug. 11.—Maurice E. McLoughlin of California, T. R. Pell and Karl H. Behr, won their places today in the semifinal round of the Achelis challenge cup single in straight set victories on the turf courts of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club here.

The Californians met Harold A. Throckmorton, the Princeton and metropolitan junior champion. Throckmorton's swift, twisting service temporarily checked McLoughlin, who had let himself out on drives and volleys to win.

The doubles finals will be decided tomorrow.

Third round—M. E. McLoughlin beat H. A. Throckmorton, 6-2, 6-0; T. R. Pell beat Ward Dawson, 6-4, 6-1; K. H. Behr beat R. Leroy, 8-1, 6-2.

Doubles:

STRENUOUS PRACTICE TO BEGIN FOR L.A.A.C. MEN.

THE Los Angeles Athletic Club football team is going to startle all the natives in Southern California this year. Sid Neighbours is responsible for this statement and he says you can believe him or not but it's true just the same.

"Last year," said Sid, "we put up a pretty fair exhibition of the American sport. We won a good many games and we dropped several. Some of our men practiced consistently and some of them didn't. A few didn't practice at all. And, of course, this had a rather fatal effect on the team."

"This season, however, things are going to be very different. We're going to start practice on the first of September. Every man who ever expects to make a place on the team will turn out that day and work his head off. It's going to be a case of work-out or get kicked out."

Sidney Neighbours was very positive about all this and the way things are coming out it looks like the real stuff for the L.A.A.C. An elaborate schedule has already been mapped out. The team will go to San Francisco for a week and will probably play four games while there.

The first game is to be with Occidental College, October 2. This will be a practice affair for both institutions, but it should be a mighty good exhibition at that. These early scraps are usually first-class roughhouses and it's always more fun to be a spectator than a participant.

Four more contests are to be run off in this same month. October 16, Whittier will be taken under the wing of the Athletic bunch—perhaps. A week from that time the University of Southern California is to be given the acid test. And seven days later Redlands is to be tackled. On October 31, the local boys will play a bunch of huskies from the San Bernardino railroad shops. This team is composed of hard guys who are muscle and nothing else. They have consented to take enough time from their work to trim the L.A.A.C. team and they claim to be able to do it with their hands tied behind them. They don't know very much football but they've certainly got lots of pep.

Then comes the big league stuff. The Athletic Club championship of the Pacific Coast is to be fought for on the grounds of the exposition. Three squads will mix up: The Los Angeles Athletic Club, the Olympic Club of San Francisco and the Multnomah Club of Oregon. All of these clubs are lining up excellent teams and there should be a tremendous fight.

Several new men are in sight for the L.A.A.C. team. Holmes, the promising freshman at Occidental last year, will try out for a position. Frank Murry is sure to find a berth and there is a possibility that Carl Brandstetner, the sensational full-back, will join the eleven.

Most of the old candidates are back on the job. And most of them are in far better condition than they were last season. Cass, Neighbours, Murphy, Bernell, John, Carne, Couterier, the Doyle brothers, Hayward, Sidner and Groat are now signed.

So I choose Van Dycks.

AT THE STAGE DOOR

By GRACE KINGSLEY

The London music halls are after Charlie Chaplin, but so far he hasn't accepted any offers.

Solid Mahogany.

Frank Mandel has written a new play, entitled "Sherman Was Right." It deals with the present war. A girl supposed to have a wooden leg is the heroine, and is beloved of two men.

Cheer up, you wooden-legged girls!

Irene's Hands Up.

Irene Franklin hasn't been seen on the Coast in many a long day, but she will come in "Hands Up" next winter.

Two of a Kind.

Jesse Lasky is putting out but two vaudeville acts this year, a one-act play with James Carson in the leading role, and a revival of "The Peaches." Carson will be remembered as the man who made such a big hit at the Orpheum last winter as the salesman in "The Red Heads."

Likes Tragedy.

Rose Cowan, the nifty dancer with Miss Morgan's girls at the Orpheum, in spite of her success in dancing, will probably go into dramatic work next season, as the tragedy stuff appeals to her.

Knock on Wood.

Sarah Bernhardt, despite her recent illness and the amputation of her leg, declares herself able to work, and will open her New York season September 20 with "Jeanne Dore" and other new plays. Negotiations looking toward an American tour of the principal cities are under way.

New Noise on Rialto.

Those pretty Campbell girls, playing at the Orpheum this week, are preparing a new vaudeville act for next season, in which a number of colored singers and dancers will be used. The act tells the story of two girls who want to go on the stage, but don't know what line of work to pursue, with the amusing result that they do a bit of everything in Stageland, from singing and dancing to heavy dramatic stuff. Sounds good!

Big Boy Now.

When Sarah Bernhardt appears here next year, Eddie Lowe may find himself in a good job. For when the divine Sarah saw Mr. Lowe at the Alcazar on the occasion of her last visit to the Coast four years ago, she said that when he grew up she wanted him for her leading man.

Just Dance, My Dear.

Marion Morgan, lady impresario of the dancing girls, claims to have discovered the secret of feminine beauty. "Dance for five minutes every day," she says. "It's better than five hours all in a bunch one day out of seven or so."

Of course, she doesn't say just how many days it will take to make some of us beautiful.

Film Thrills.

Daddy Comes West.

James H. Ring, the Boston publisher, and father of Blanche and Frances Ring, arrives next week to visit his daughters and their husbands, Messrs. Charles Winninger and Thomas Meighan.

Tears for Peggy.

Mrs. Peggy Powell, most efficient head of the engagement department of the Lasky company, will resign her position at the end of the present week and will retire to private life. Everybody out at the Lasky place, as well as all the newspaper folk, are wearing crepe.

Happy St. Leons.

The St. Leon family, which has so ably as a representative locally in the person of Ida, now at the Burbank, will have a reunion next week, when a brother and sister will be on the bill at the Hippodrome, presenting the original circus act which gained the family its first theatrical fame.

Fleet Steed Stuff.

The Campbell sisters at the Orpheum, like most southern girls, are expert horsewomen. They went for a long ride in the Pasadena foothills yesterday morning, and were arrested for speeding across a bridge on the way home. They barely reached the theater in time for their act, and their fleet steeds were covered with foam.

War Note.

Unknown Quantity.

"X," the unknown quantity, was Francis X. Bushman's middle name, all right, at the Majestic Theater last Monday night, when the house announced Mr. Bushman would appear and make a talk, and Mr. Bushman didn't.

On his side Mr. Bushman states he wants the people to know that he did not receive the invitation in time to prepare either oratorically or sartorially for the occasion; that, in fact, he didn't hear about it until he got into the theater that night, clad in a sport shirt and ice cream trousers. And he wishes those people to know that he is always pleased to appear in person where his pictures are being shown.

Altitude Record.

"The Clansman," playing in its seventeenth week at Clune's Auditorium, is said to be showing to 50,000 patrons weekly throughout the country.

Look Out for Eddie.

Eddie Lowe, who plays the reporter in "The Yellow Ticket," threatens, if anybody tries to get his job away from him, to tell his paper on the would-be interloper, and have him properly shown up.

Star Dust.

Pauline Frederick, who is doing such excellent work in "Sold," the film drama being shown at the Alhambra this week, is to play in a film version of "Zaza," the picture being released in October.

Prophetic Stuff.

As announced exclusively in this column several months ago, when the Famous Players were in this city, Mary Pickford is to appear for that organization in a filmisation of "Madame Butterfly," according to the New York announcements.

Marguerite Clark will be presented in Mark Twain's "The Prince and the Pauper," to be filmed by the Famous Players.

Half-portion Rogers.

Will Rogers, the cowboy dancer and rope thrower who made such a hit at the Orpheum here last fall, is a dad again for the third time, a boy having been born to him out in Oklahoma a few days ago. Whenever a youngster is born to the Rogers family Will doesn't buy it a cradle, nor mend up the old one. No-sir-ee. He buys a pony for the little one and fixes up a cradle on its back, taking the baby for an airing every day. So his youngsters literally learn to ride before they can walk.

Big Jim to "Film."

Francis Bushman of the Quality Players departed yesterday for Big Bear Valley, where the production of "Pennington's Choice" will take place. Jim Jeffries will be seen in the production in a numeer of training scenes, which will be taken at his camp in the Sierra Madres.

Famous diva and her protege.

The picture shows Geraldine Farrar, the great operatic singer, who has been taking part in a series of film plays for the Lasky company, and Margery Daw, the 14-year-old photoplay actress, whom Miss Farrar will educate in singing. The noted artist became interested in the young girl while witnessing the latter's clever work in the pictures.

MARMON BOSSES HERE IN TOWN.

TWO LEADERS OF INDUSTRY IN LOS ANGELES.

Officials will Study Conditions of the Automobile Industry Here in Southern California—Will not Discuss the New Models Which are to be put Out by Their Company.

F. E. Moskovics and A. E. Morrison of Nordyke & Marmon Co., Indianapolis, arrived in this city yesterday and registered at the Alexandria. Mr. Moskovics is commercial manager and Mr. Morrison Pacific Coast representative of the Marmon factory. They will remain in Los Angeles until the end of the week.

The Marmon officials would not discuss the new models which are soon to be announced by their factory other than to say that the new Marmon models will show a great advance in modern automobile engineering. Mr. Moskovics is chairman of the Indiana section of the Society of Automobile Engineers.

WRESTLING TO BE REVIVED AGAIN.

The first step toward a general revival of wrestling in Southern California was taken yesterday, when Tony Ball, well-known eastern middleweight wrestler, who arrived here recently from Chicago, issued a formal defi to Tony Ajax, now holder of the Pacific Coast middleweight championship.

Francis X. Bushman, who is an ardent wrestling fan, is acting as Ball's backer, and is willing to wager that the latter can defeat any middleweight or light heavyweight wrestler on the Pacific Coast. Yesterday he instructed Joseph A. Eliason of the Eliason "gym," where Ball has been working out, to issue a challenge to Ajax to wrestle before the club offering the best inducements. The match is to be catch-as-catch-can style, weight 158 pounds, for a side bet of $500 or $1000.

Bushman is himself an able heavyweight wrestler and works out with Tony Ball almost every morning at Hollywood before starting in on his studio work.

Oaks Close to Cellar.

but Al thwarted him by going into the air and making a fine catch with one hand. He then threw to first, doubling Roxy. Marcan also pulled off a neat stunt in the third, when he gathered in Rowdy's wide throw with his left paw and tagged Buemiller stealing.

Johnston looked better at short than on Tuesday, and handled a batch of hard chances. Note the "t" in Johnston's name. Jimmy is very particular about the spelling of his moniker. He says that if the "t" slips out people will think he is a Swede. Possibly he prefers to be known as a Norwegian, or something like that.

MORE BEER.

Rowdy let Beer pitch the last inning. Beer was warmed up, but the name sounded cool, anyway, and that helped some. His curves were quite select and he fanned two.

Yesterday's victory was notable in that it increases to two games the Angel lead over the Seals, who were being harpooned by the Bees. It was also notable because it places the Oaklets within one point of last place.

Los Angeles got over the hurdles for the first time in the fifth. In this round Rowdy was overcome by the heat and the Angels stole four bases on him before he could get cooled off.

Brooks started the inning with a single to right, the first of three hits he was destined to make. Butler sacrificed, and Ryan walked. Reaching first base, Jack put on a heavy sweater. He probably feared that there might be a sudden change in the weather and it would begin to snow. Jack didn't know how long he might be kept on first base, and he didn't intend to be caught out in the snow.

NO LUCK.

However, his fears were groundless, as Maggert quickly forced him at second, and Jack got back on the bench where he would be protected from the chilling blasts. Brooks took third on this, and scored on a double steal with Maggert, when Rowdy's throw to Marcan went a bit wide and the latter dropped the pill. By this time, Rowdy was pretty well discouraged and did not throw when Maggert stole third. Buemiller walked, and stole second with Maggert sticking around at third. This time Rowdy threw only as far as the pitcher's box, that seeming to be the only safe thing to do under the circumstances. Wolter retired the side, Ness to Pruiett, and made such a close play of it that Stingaree Bill had to do some swift calculating.

Koerner started the sixth-inning cataclysm with a sharp single, and went to third on an equally keen one by Bassler to center. Johnny went down to second when Tobin bounced a low throw off Litschi's shins in an effort to salt Beef at third. Zeb flicked a Texas Leaguer just over short, Beef scoring and Bassler taking third.

STILL MORE.

Bassler scored on a jitney single in short center by Brooks. Butler bunted to Pruiett. The shotputter threw to third for what looked like an easy forceout on Zeb, but Litschi allowed the pill to proceed through his hands and Zeb, instead of being forced, came clear home. With Brooks on second, Ryan singled to right. Jack, his head sagging, did not see what was happening. He expected a play on Brooks at the plate, but Gardner's throw to Elliott stopped Clarence at third and Butler was forced to halt at second. Jack dashed right along toward that base, and then discovered his mistake. Rowdy hurled to Ness, and Ryan looked like a dead bird until Ness shot to Rowdy to prevent Brooks from scoring. The throw was low and all the runners retreated to their bases in good order.

Right after this, Jack went on another rampage. Maggert flied to Middleton in short left. Roxy heaved the ball in so fast that Brooks made only a bluff at scoring. Jack lowered his head again and charged clear down to second, a base which still belonged to Butler. However, Johnston in trying to relay Middleton's throw, kicked the ball out of the diamond, and Brooks came home. Johnston recovered the ball in time to throw to Marcan and trap Butler, who was trying to get back to second, seeing there was no chance to reach third. Jack seemed happy, for he had at last reached second base, which seemed to be the one goal of his ambitions. Jack was finally tagged out en route to third on Buemiller's grounder to Litschi.

Oakland escaped skunking by scoring one in the seventh on infield hits by Johnston and Ness and a wild heave by Butler. The score:

How to Dress

The attempts of a few are responsible for the queerly-dressed creatures which we occasionally see on prominent thoroughfares.

Fortunately, there is a publication which will aid her—The Woman's Home Companion.

Every woman would be attractive in appearance if she made her gowns according to the designs and patterns furnished by the Companion.

Pasadena.

Noted Yachtsman and Wife Visit Pasadena.

Contractor Dies After Stroke of Paralysis.

Father Arrested for Kicking His Young Son.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—Charles Elmer Iselin, banker, yachtsman and member of one of the oldest families of New York City, accompanied by Mrs. Iselin, a maid and valet, arrived in Pasadena yesterday and will leave today for San Diego to visit the exposition.

To evade notoriety, Mr. and Mrs. Iselin did not register at the Hotel Raymond, where they are stopping, and were loath to even state where they would go from here.

After seeing the exposition of the southern city the party will go to San Francisco, from there returning to New York.

Early in the spring Mr. Iselin's brother, Adrien Iselin, Jr., president of A. Iselin & Co., bankers, visited in Pasadena and other parts of California and was so pleased with his trip that the distinguished yachtsman decided to follow in his brother's steps and see for himself the beauties of the Pacific Coast.

Notwithstanding the unusual heat of yesterday the Iselins spent a great part of the day motoring about the down City, to the beauty of which Mr. Iselin preferred to confine his conversation.

He refused to break his life-long habit of giving an interview, but said that he had sold his yachts Columbia and Vigilant, defenders of the America cup.

CONTRACTOR DIES.

Charles F. Crowell of No. 581 South Los Robles avenue, one of the well-known contractors of Southern California, died yesterday at his ranch in Highland from a stroke of paralysis. He was taken sick two weeks ago although known to be in a dangerous condition, his death came as a great shock to his family and many friends.

Born in Nova Scotia fifty-nine years ago, Mr. Crowell had lived in Pasadena for twenty-six years and had built a number of the largest business buildings and residences in the city.

Besides the widow, Mr. Crowell leaves four children. They are Mrs. Robert Debereiner of Los Angeles, Miss Margaret Crowell, a high school student; Raymond Crowell and Lorin Crowell, who is manager of the ranch. He also leaves two sisters and three sisters, William Crowell of Pasadena, Weymouth Crowell and Mrs. Allison Spinney, Mrs. J. A. Gardner and Mrs. A. D. Cook, all of Los Angeles. Funeral arrangements will be made this morning.

KICKS HIS SON.

Because he kicked his son after he fell off a wagon, B. Strandstra, of Fair street and North Fair Oaks avenue, was haled into court yesterday by Humane Officer Charles Kelly. Strandstra readily admitted the charge and blamed his quick temper for the act and expressed himself as being sorry for his action.

Mr. Kelly swore to the complaint against Strandstra and is prosecuting the case. According to Officer Kelly, the boy is still suffering from the effects of the kicks and blows although the assault took place last Sunday. Judge McDonald declined to pass sentence on Strandstra until he had an opportunity to question the eyewitnesses. He allowed Strandstra to go on his own recognizance.

CITY BRIEFS.

What are believed to be two of the most expert sneak thieves operating in any part of the country were captured by a Pasadena storekeeper yesterday. One of the men, John Hanley of No. 400 East Pico street, Los Angeles, confessed his guilt, but his companion, Paul Corral, of No. 434½ Boyd street, Los Angeles, pleaded not guilty. The two men were held to answer Friday for trial.

Out of 1200 dog owners in Pasadena only 420 have taken out licenses. Dog Catcher Kelly has obtained the names of those who have failed to take out licenses and is prepared to swear out complaints charging them with violations of the provisions of the dog-license ordinance. Under the terms of the ordinance persons failing to obtain licenses before August 1 are liable to be fined or to be sent to jail.

LANCHMAN TAKES MELON THIEVES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN GABRIEL, Aug. 11.—Growing tired of the depredations of watermelon thieves who sneak into the patch at night, ruining numberless melons and stealing all they can carry away, ranchers in the eastern part of the section have adopted stringent methods to abate the nuisance. The latest watermelon patch of Charles Hansen on the El Monte road has been raided repeatedly, and warnings have all no avail.

Constant Richardson took matters into his own hands. Stationing men at vantage points through the patch, he soon succeeded in rounding up the watermelon thieves and turned them over to Constable B. F. Parker, who, who were from Los Angeles with the exception of one, were all released on bonds, and will be arraigned tomorrow. They are Frank and George Davis, Joseph Dought and Frank Loving. The last-named is under the conviction that loving melons and fresh night is not always worth while.

Hansen is one of the best-known ranchmen in this section of the county, being a son of Solomon Hansen, the pioneer settler who died several months ago. He has declared his intention to put an end to the depredations by prosecuting anyone found trespassing on his property.

JANITOR MUST HAVE BRAINS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 11.—Pasadena has decided that being a high-brow town, it needs an educated gentleman for a janitor for the beautiful new high-brow postoffice which some people think will be completed—some time. So the non-educational examination, which had been set for August 16, has been cancelled, and an educational examination will be held August 28 instead. College graduates, please take notice.

TRANSFER TROOPS BORDER TO CITY,

CHANGE ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY IN THE ESTIMATION OF COMMANDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, Aug. 11.—Orders have been received by Capt. Arnold, commanding troops A and K of the First Cavalry, encamped here, from Gen. Arthur Murray, department commander at San Francisco, transferring the two companies to San Diego. This section of the border will not be left unguarded, however, as orders have gone to Troops B and M now at San Diego, ordering them here. The change will be made within ten days if the present orders are not countermanded.

The new developments in the Mexican situation formed tonight an absorbing topic of conversation here and in Mexicali, just across the line. While other parts of Mexico have been in turmoil the north district of Lower California has been peaceable under the administration of Gov. Esteban Cantu. The Governor has given allegiance to Villa, but his relations with Americans has been such as to give confidence that he will continue them so.

It is feared, however, that political enemies, who are believed to have been conspiring for his overthrow, will take advantage of any breach in the international relations to strike at the Cantu administration.

SAY BOY IS CRIMINAL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 11.—Louis Delrosa, a 14-year-old boy of Colton, is charged by the officers of Redlands with having floated half a dozen worthless checks in this city. The discovery that he was the author of the checks, returned from the bank marked "not depositor here," was made after Louis had been arrested for stealing fountain pens at the Smith book store. He had a tray of the pens out of the case before Walter Alden, the manager of the store, discovered it. Alden called the police. Delrosa protesting that he wanted to cash a check and that was all. Later he confessed to the officers that he was making an attempt to steal the pens. Then they began an investigation and discovered that several merchants had cashed the checks which were worthless. The boy spent most of the money in having a good time.

HEAD'S RAMMED THROUGH MIRROR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, Aug. 11.—While playing horse at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Moore, on the Base Line road north of this city, a bevy of children tipped over a bureau on which there was a coal oil lamp, set the house afire and nearly turned a howling comedy into a dark tragedy. One child was pinned beneath the bureau with his head rammed through its mirror, while the frightened household put out the flames.

Mrs. L. Mauscher and two children went over from Lordsburg to spend the evening with Mrs. Alex Moore, and while the two women were playing on the old eight-stop cabinet organ, their children were playing horse in an upstairs bedroom. They tied a rope from the knob of the dresser to the post of the bed and began to swing on it.

After considerable teetering the dresser fell over, knocking a little boy down and ramming his head through the mirror. The lamp crashed to the floor and was broken. The little Moore girl kicked the Mauscher baby under the bed to get it out of the fire zone, and the two mothers, who rushed in to smother the flames with blankets, had great difficulty in locating the lost child, because the little girl was so frightened she could not remember what had become of it. No serious damage resulted.

BLOOD AS FOOD.

Russian Provincials Use It in Bread Making and Recognize Its Richness in Mineral Salts.

Prof. Kober of Munich, has published a little treatise on the utilization of blood as food, from which Die Umschau quotes the following statements concerning the use of blood in breadmaking: For centuries blood bread has been the staff of life of the Esthonians of the Baltic provinces and their colonies in all parts of Russia. It is made of rye flour, with an admixture of at least 10 per cent. of whipped hogs' blood. In the vicinity of Petrograd ox blood is also used. Blood bread is very nutritious and is highly praised by Esthonian physicians because of its richness in organic compounds of phosphorus and nerve restoring salts. Bread made with ox blood dries very quickly, but this defect can be remedied by the addition of potato flour, which is now a common practice in Germany. Blood bread is the most natural substitute for meat, and, with government control of the slaughter houses, it need cost little or no more than ordinary bread. According to the Frankfurter Zeitung, rye bread containing hogs' blood has been used in Oldenburg.

AIR CASTLES ARE VANISHED.

Fortune Fades with Glibe Confidence Men.

Bundle of Waste Paper in Place of Money.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 11.—A castle in Spain for V. Simunovich vanished in thin air last night when he opened a package, supposed to contain $1200 in currency that he had withdrawn from a Los Angeles bank a few hours previous, and found nothing but some pieces of newspaper neatly clipped to exact size of greenbacks. This morning, after thinking his experience over, he appealed to the police to find the confidence men who took the money.

Simunovich is a Slavonian who has toiled long and hard in the sewer ditches in the harbor district and saved his money. Sunday he met two well-dressed Spaniards, who told him they were looking for just such deserving laborers as he.

MYTHICAL NOBLEMAN.

A Spaniard nobleman with a deep sympathy for the men who toil had just died, they told him, and decreed in his will that all his vast estate should be distributed among frugal workmen who had toiled and saved their earnings. Each was to receive an amount equal to his savings provided he could prove that he had the actual cash.

All that would be necessary to get a part of the estate while it lasted, Simunovich was told by his newly-found acquaintances, would be to produce the cash to prove that it was his. An appointment was made for the following day and the Slavonian went with the Spaniards to the bank and drew out all that he had.

The money was secured in currency, according to instructions. Simunovich gave the money to the men to count. They counted it carefully. Then they wrapped it up in a newspaper and handed back what the Slavonian thought was the money and told him to put it in his pocket, say nothing about the transaction and return home. In due time, he was informed, he would receive his share of the estate.

DIVING FOR LAUNCH.

Capt. V. Vitilich, owner of the launch Mary, which was rammed and sunk off Portuguese Bend before daylight Sunday morning by the launch Zenobia, is negotiating with Japanese divers who will attempt to raise the boat, which is valued at $2000. The boat is in ninety feet of water.

Yesterday a white diver attempted to reach the boat, but could not go lower than sixty feet with his apparatus.

TUNA RUNNING.

Tuna are now running at Anacapa Island, and the canneries are being supplied with fish from that vicinity. Nearly all the canneries in the harbor district are running daily now, although not to their full capacity. The Tuna Exchange has made arrangements to run relay boats from Anacapa to bring the fish to the canneries so that the fishermen may put in full time fishing.

Another innovation to enable the fishermen to put in full time is a bait supply. A contract has been made with Italian sardine fishermen who formerly supplied the Booth cannery at Monterey, now closed down, to catch bait for the tuna cannery fishermen. Lack of bait has seriously handicapped the fishermen at times. The sardine fishermen catch the bait at night, something which has never been done successfully by the local fishermen, who find it cheaper to buy the bait than to lose time getting it themselves.

FINLAND HELD UP.

The Panama-Pacific liner Finland, en route from New York to this port, is tied up by the recent big slide in the Panama Canal, which has temporarily blocked traffic. The liner arrived in the canal Saturday morning, and owing to the delay, will be unable to reach this port for a week or more.

More than 300 Harvard students and graduates are aboard the vessel. They are en route to San Francisco to attend the nineteenth annual meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs.

NATURAL CAUSES INDUCE DEATHS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOLDIERS' HOME, Aug. 11.—Mortality's toll of five veterans within the past twenty-four hours is not attributal, as many in similar circumstances have been heard to surmise, to the unusual heat prevailing just now. Air circulation and exactly suitable temperature are conditions to which Chief Surgeon Hayden devotes particular attention, so that no matter how warm the day may be, atmosphere within the hospital building is always found delightfully cool and refreshing. In places where natural air currents would fail in this respect, electric fans are provided.

The ages of the veterans who died range from 75 to 86, besides which they had been drifting for long through tedious and debilitating illnesses and had simply come to the end.

Recent deaths include: Ebet J. Tenney, formerly of Co. K, Tenth Wisconsin Infantry, a native of New York, admitted from Chula, Cal., in 1915; died August 10, aged 76. Uriah Thompson, formerly of Co. C, Fourth California Infantry, a native of Missouri, admitted from Phoenix, Ariz., in 1901; died August 10, aged 86. Ira Pierce, formerly of Co. K, First California Infantry, a native of Massachusetts, admitted from Mt. Nebo, Utah, in 1902; died August 10, aged 86. Henry Campbell, formerly of Co. G, Twenty-ninth Massachusetts Infantry, a native of Ireland, admitted from Roseburg, Or., in 1915; died August 10, aged 75. Thomas Andrus, formerly of Co. C, First New Jersey Infantry, a native of Ireland, admitted from Los Angeles in 1902; died August 5, aged 67. Dudley P. Bancroft, formerly of the First Wisconsin Heavy Artillery, a native of New York, admitted from Pasadena, Cal., in 1915; died August 5, aged 83. Edward J. Connors, formerly of Co. A, Two Hundred and Third New York Infantry, a native of New York, admitted from Los Angeles in 1915; died August 6, aged 67. Charles E Morris, formerly of Co. NEW PASSENGER STATION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, Aug. 11.—Orders have been issued by the city officials vacating North Bridge street, a portion of Oak street and a short stretch of Church street as the city's contribution for plans for the construction of the new Espee passenger station. Plans for the station have been passed on by the State Railroad Commission, this action being taken after the drawings had been submitted to officials of local publicity bodies for their approval. According to the officers of the Espee, the total investment for the new passenger station here will be in excess of $25,000.

DISAPPOINTMENT AT LONG BEACH.

Two Justices of the Peace Dispute Jury Sentence.

Unpatriotic Hucksters Shown Error of Ways.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Aug. 11.—Officials of the Craig shipbuilding plant, who are turning almost their entire attention to the building of submarines for the United States government, have received word that Secretary of the Navy Daniels has postponed consideration of bids on sixteen of the underwater boats until September 30. Hopes of harbor boosters that the local sector of the Los Angeles-Long Beach twin port is to become famous as the building place of submarines are thus deferred.

Criticism of the action of Secretary Daniels was freely heard by friends of the shipbuilding plant today. The postponement of the opening of the bids from August 2 for nearly two months not only will leave the navy short of submarines for that period of time, but the course of Secretary Daniels has been questioned. It is declared that the postponement was on request of two large shipyards on the Atlantic coast, which have never built a submarine before, and which want a chance to make a proposal.

Navy officials who are constantly inspecting the building of the two submarines here are satisfied the Craig Company is doing the work as good as any concern which contracted for the construction of these boats. The Craigs felt sure that if the bids were opened on August 2 they would have secured the contract for the construction of several of the submarines.

The submarines are being finished with accuracy and dispatch. The hulls of the two under-sea vessels are practically completed, and a small army of experienced workingmen is finishing the metal work of the interior. It is believed that the two vessels will be ready for launching in four months' time.

TWO VIEWS OF JUSTICE.

There began a heated controversy today between justices of the peace of Long Beach and Santa Ana over an alleged excessive fine imposed on a local business man by Justice Cox of that city. Justice Underwood of this city staunchly represents the man who was fined $50 for alleged speeding, which fine the District Attorney of Orange county is alleged to have declared was "$10 for the court and $40 for the jury." It was a jury trial.

The Long Beach business man asserts that his speedometer was out of order while motoring near Santa Ana and he was not guilty of exceeding the speed ordinances. He asked for a jury trial and was given it. He was fined $50, an amount said to be far in excess of the usual speed fines in Santa Ana, and the defendant declares that he was told that $40 of the fine was for the jury.

When Justice Underwood took occasion to remonstrate with Justice Cox against the fine and the alleged statement about the "$40 for the jury," he received in reply a quotation from the penal code showing that jurors are entitled to a fee. Justice Cox also wrote the following remarkable ultimatum, according to Justice Underwood:

"I treat all men alike in my court. If I did otherwise, you might as well be on an ocean of blood, in a boat of iron with a sail of lead and oars of stone, the wrath of an avenging God for a gale, Hell the nearest port, and expect to land on Canaan's happy shore as to expect any fairness or justice if I was partial.

"I know that royal blood cuts some figure in some courts, but not with me. If this defendant was clothed in royal robes, with a five-clawed dragon reaching from the ocean, he would, if guilty, have to pay a fine in my court just the same as the man that uses clothes-line for bridle reins and bedcords for stirrup straps."

Justice Underwood is preparing an answer to this remarkable epistle. He says the local man should not have been assessed for pay for the jury.

LOCAL PRODUCTS.

City Commissioners today passed an ordinance affecting the public market which boosts local products and penalizes the huckster who buys his goods from any Los Angeles produce house or fruit dealer.

Following the establishment of the market and its immense success, hundreds of residents have endeavored to pay part of their living expenses by raising fruits and vegetables on town lots and near-by acreage. These will pay but a dime a day for the privilege of selling, while the man who makes bold to buy from Los Angeles is charged as much as a dollar per day.

BEACH BRIEFS.

The school tax rate this year will be 84 cents on the $100 instead of 87 cents as in 1914, according to an estimate and budget gotten up by the Board of Education. The budget for high and grammar schools and kindergartens will be $351,200, while the income will be $292,648. This expense estimate will necessitate the cutting down of the number of teachers and the paring of operating figures throughout the district.

The health department is being kept busy by protests of residents in the harbor district against the dumping of fish refuse in the channels. A woman resident of a houseboat on Channel No. 2 returned from a shopping tour today to find a scow loaded with refuse which smelt to the skies tied to her back yard, as it were. The scow was towed to the three-mile limit and dumped. Yachtsmen in the harbor complain that parts of fish from the tuna-packing plants are giving offense to their nostrils.

DOG DITCHES AUTO.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 11.—A stray dog caused an automobile with three Anaheim men in it to turn turtle on the Newport boulevard this evening. Carl Jansen was driving with Henry Schocker and Thomas Miles in the machine with him. When a dog tried to cross the road, the car hit the dog. The machine swerved into the dirt embankment and went over. The men crawled out only slightly bruised. The dog yelped away, more scared than injured.

VAN NUYS GETS AQUA AQUEDUCT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VAN NUYS, Aug. 11.—The people of this place are rejoicing over the fact that Owens River water is now available for domestic use. Some 300 families are being supplied with aqueduct water and the universal verdict is that it is the best water ever supplied to residents of the valley.

The Van Nuys water system has been absorbed by the Los Angeles city water system and the rates under the new regime are 75 cents per 1000 cubic feet, 7 cents per 100 cubic feet for all used in excess of the minimum. The old rates were $1.50 per 600 cubic feet.

In order to connect the local system with the aqueduct mains it was necessary to lay some two miles of pipe along East Eighth street. The Franklin Canyon main was tapped with a sixteen-inch pipe, which was gradually reduced to eight inches at the point of contact with the main pipe of the Van Nuys system.

Owing to a shortage of funds in the city water department, this betterment was made possible only through the action of the Board of Control advancing the money for the necessary labor and material.

The raising of the funds and the construction of the pipe lines was done under the direct personal supervision of H. J. Whitley and George Hanna. Delay would have compelled the people to wait for many months before realizing the beneficial use of the aqueduct water.

Owens River water is also available for irrigation purposes on several thousand acres of land near Van Nuys, also at Marian, and some 3000 miner's inches is being used at the latter place on the sugar beets, of which there are 3800 acres.

An ideal way to spend the week-end is to visit Arrowhead.—[Advertisement.

THANK GOD FOR OCEANS.

They Separate Us from the Warring Nations and May They Never be Reddened by American Blood.

[Philadelphia Ledger:] There are eight great powers in the world. When placed in alphabetical order the list stands like this:

Austria-Hungary.
France.
Germany.
Great Britain.
Italy.
Japan.
Russia.
United States.

They are all at war save the United States. We have no ungratified territorial ambitions, and no boundary disputes, and no commercial desires, the fulfillment of which is sufficiently threatened by the rivalry of other powers to justify an appeal to arms. We are assured of our place in the sun by 3000 miles of ocean on the east of us and by more than 4000 miles of sea on the west of us. The old salt water laves our shores and temper whatever war spirt there may be. It makes our invasion of foreign lands difficult and discourages foreign nations from contemplating any invasion of our shores.

Thank God for the oceans and may they never be reddened by the blood of our citizens defending their native shores!

LONDON JOINS IN THE GENERAD LIQUIDATION MOVEMENT.

Railroads, War Shares and Steel Were All up at the Start but Lose All of Their Gains by Closing Time Because of the Selling for Profit Pressure.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The same forces which influenced yesterday's broad and strong market were again in evidence today, albeit trading was somewhat less active, and realizing sales more effective. Shares of the leading railways were lifted to higher prices in the early dealings, the movement coinciding with the announcement that the Interstate Commerce Commission had granted a general freight advance to the western roads. Every division of the railway list shared in the rise, particularly Canadian Pacific and allied issues, which gained from 2 to over 5 points. Granger and the Harriman and Hill issues added 1 to 2 points to yesterday's best quotations. Later the weight of the European selling, which aggregated fully 50,000 shares, combined with heavy local realizing for profits, caused material reductions of these advances. In the final hour some of the leaders were a point or two under yesterday's final figures, and the entire list developed a distinctly reactionary tendency. United States Steel led the movement, being offered in lots of 1000 to 10,000 shares at from 2 to 3 points under yesterday's record price, with general irregularity in other speculative favorites. London offered large amounts of Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Erie and Steel, together with smaller lots of Atchison and other grain carriers. War shares were again shunted to a place of secondary importance, with declines of 2 to 6 points. Striking exceptions to this tendency were shown by Bethlehem Steel preferred, at 151¼, Willys-Overland at 168, and Studebaker at 68, all new high records. Total sales of stocks amounted to 975,000 shares. Exchange on London and Paris fell to new low records, despite the receipt of $20,000,000 gold from London via Halifax. Demand sterling was quoted at 4.74¾, and checks on Paris sold at 5.81¼. There was a better inquiry for investment bonds, with greater activity in subordinate issues. Total sales, par value, aggregated $3,640,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Mining Stocks Active on the Exchange—Little Demand for Oil Securities and Trading Limited.

Business was rather quiet on the Stock Exchange yesterday, although prices continued firm. Mining securities were the chief traders, and Big Jim advanced to .19 a share at the close. One thousand shares of Consolidated Mines brought .02 a share, but Yellow Pine was weak at .90. Los Angeles Investment is holding its market in fine shape, and the stock should go higher. Oil stocks were more or less inactive Wednesday, and the only sales recorded were 40 shares of Associated around 43.00, and 500 shares of United at .20. Bonds are growing gradually stronger, and interest was exhibited in Los Angeles Railway Corporation 6s for the first time in months.

GRADE CROSSING IS NOT ALLOWED.

Hearing Before State Commissioner Devlin Results in Continuing Indefinitely the Application of the Industrial Terminal Railway for Stock Sales.

President Lane of the Public Utilities Board and City Attorney Stephens, acting under instructions from the City Council, appeared before Railroad Commissioner Devlin yesterday and successfully opposed the application of the Industrial Terminal Railway for permission to sell stock and begin operations. L. E. Hanchett, promoter of the proposed railroad, is the owner of considerable property along its line from the Southern Pacific shop grounds at the Los Angeles River, near Alhambra street, to Alameda and Alisо streets. President Lane called the attention of Commissioner Devlin to the present movement for the elimination of grade crossings throughout the city. This road, he said, proposes to cross Macy street near Lyon street, at a point where a grade crossing would be a menace to public safety. Furthermore, President Lane argued, the railroad across Macy street is not a necessity for the industrial development of that part of the city because of the fact that extensions of existing spur tracks will afford ample switching facilities to the district that would be served by the proposed road. President Lane also expressed the opinion that the plans of Mr. Hanchett, if carried out, would endanger any future movement on the part of the city for a municipal terminal.

In continuing the application indefinitely, Commissioner Devlin said that whenever Mr. Hanchett may have a proposition to submit with the approval of the city, the Railroad Commission will be glad to reopen the case.

Chairman Topham of the General Viaducts Committee has called a meeting for 9:30 this morning for discussion of the programme of public hearings for the next few weeks. This meeting will be for members of the committee only, and Mr. Topham will suggest that the Macy and Ninth street crossings appear to be those on which immediate action is most desirable.

BAIRDSTOWN BUSY.
SEEKS FIVE-CENT FARES.

Citizens of Bairdstown, recently annexed to Los Angeles, began working yesterday for 5-cent fares on the Pacific Electric, and a mass meeting has been called by the Northeast Los Angeles Improvement Association for next Monday, when definite plans for their campaign will be discussed.

L. Jacobs, chairman of a special committee of the association, called on President Lane of the Public Utilities Board yesterday and discussed the situation. Mr. Lane suggested that the association present a petition to the City Council asking the Council to take the initiative with the Railroad Commission in seeking an order for 5-cent fares. In the event the Council issues instructions, President Lane said, the Utilities Board will be glad to present the case before the commission.

Since the Railroad Commission now has entire jurisdiction in the matter of rates, Mr. Lane explained, the Public Utilities Board is prepared to act as "prosecuting attorney" whenever its services are required in cases affecting city rates.

GARVANZA SERVICE.
NEW SCHEDULE ORDERED.

Better service for the Garvanza district is provided for in an order issued to the Pacific Electric Railway yesterday by the Public Utilities Board. Through service on this line was discontinued February 1, 1915, and since that time a shuttle car service has been subject for complaint that culminated in a petition from about 600 residents of the district presented to the Utilities Board. The order calls for the following schedule, beginning not later than August 16:

Ten-minute service between the hours of 5:55 a.m. and 7:40 a.m.; twenty-minute service from 7:40 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; ten-minute service from 3:30 p.m. until 6:05 p.m.; thirty-minute service from 6:05 until 12:05 a.m., and a car at 12:45 a.m.

All service to be through service from Sixth and Main streets, Los Angeles, to the northerly city limits on Avenue Sixty-four.

War on Gophers.

Residents of the San Fernando district and other agricultural territory recently annexed to the city will be permitted to shoot rabbits and gophers without violating the city ordinance against the use of firearms within the city limits. A new ordinance is being drawn by the City Attorney, acting under instructions given by the Council yesterday. The change was suggested by Councilman Brain, who, on a recent visit to the San Fernando district called on a friend who has a back yard that includes about 1000 acres. "I don't think your back yard and mine are properly subject to the same regulations," said Councilman Brain, in response to an appeal for a change in the firearms ordinance.

Municipalograms.

Protests against the change of grade in Bunker Hill avenue between Alpine and California streets, were denied by the Council yesterday. Protests against the widening of Hollywood boulevard, near Vermont avenue, were also denied.

The Hyperion sewer disposal question was reopened in the Council again yesterday by the receipt of a petition from the Venice city officials asking that immediate steps be taken to abate the nuisance. The petition will go to the Budget Committee, which has eliminated the appropriation and suggested a bond issue.

Hazel Kolschowsky asked the city yesterday to pay $15,000 damages for injuries she sustained last spring, when she fell over an enbankment in Marmion way. She says the city is responsible because the place where a footbridge was washed out had not been guarded. The City Attorney has been asked for an opinion as to the city's liability.

City Attorney Stephens has been asked by the Council for an opinion on the legality of several different ways suggested for disposing of a few carloads of short-weight scales and short-measure milk bottles, gasoline cans and other measuring devices. Some members of the Council wish to insure revenue to the city for the junk value of the lot, while others favor sumping the bottles, cans and scales in the ocean.

FAILS TO CATCH "HEAP KETCHUM."

FRIEND WHO PROMISED INTEREST IN MINE DIES.

So Guide Sues Estate but Finds that it is not Yet Time to be Awarded Money Pledged to Him When the Gold Deposits Have been Sold.

Thomas N. Carey owned two mines on North Baldy Mountain, the "Called Back" and the "Heap Ketchum." In a written agreement he promised John Stewart, who had been his guide, counsellor and friend in the operation of the mines, to give him $4000 as soon as the mines were sold. Mr. Carey died before the mines were disposed of.

Mr. Stewart presented his claim to John Kaler, executor of the Carey will, basing it on the written agreement although the mines still belong to the estate. The claim was rejected. Mr. Stewart brought suit against the estate to collect the $4000, and the action was tried by Judge Wellborn yesterday and practically decided in favor of the estate.

The attorneys were allowed a week in which to file authorities covering the issues raised.

These were that the claim was not due when it was rejected because if the property had been sold suit should have been filed within two months thereafter. No evidence was offered to show that the property had been sold, hence the suit was premature. If it was sold, then Mr. Stewart should have kept in touch with it and filed his suit within the legal time.

JUDGE ORDERS VERDICT FOR AUTO CASE DEFENDANT.

Four jurors, who seemed actuated by sympathy, stood out against eight jurors, who were guided by the evidence in the $25,000 damage suit of Mrs. Rosetta Kingdom against J. W. McBride, tried in Judge Wood's court yesterday. When the jury showed no signs of agreeing on an apparently simple case, the court sent for them and ordered a verdict for Mr. McBride.

The case had its pathetic side. Mrs. Kingdom is three score years and ten. On the day of the accident she was out walking with her grandson when Mr. McBride drove along in his auto and Mrs. Kingdom was struck. The evidence showed that the road was clear and that as Mr. McBride came up, he slowed down with the intention of asking Mrs. Kingdom and her grandson to get in the car to help them on their journey. She got in the way of the auto and was struck by the mudguard.

TORN NAMES ISSUE ON RECALL PETITION.

Declaring that the recall petition was sufficient so far as two of the Trustees of the city of Huntington Park were concerned, Judge Hewitt yesterday took under submission the question whether or not certain names pasted on and alleged to be torn and mutilated may be counted as to the other Trustees under fire.

The ruling was made in the writ of mandate asked for by George Cyphers against City Clerk Boss to compel the latter to certify as to the sufficiency of the petition. City Attorney Weber represented the City Clerk. The Trustees are alleged to have diverted park funds for a playground.

PORTABLE SAW

Mrs. Clara Lemon, head of a school for girls on Figueroa street, negotiated a loan of $225 from C. H. Haskins, giving her note and a chattel mortgage on furniture. When the note was not met, Mr. Haskins brought suit which was called yesterday in Judge Shenk's court.

Mrs. Lemon's defense to the action is that Mr. Haskins solicited stock in the Clayton Portable Saw Company and she delivered 1500 shares, which was in exchange for the note and mortgage which Mr. Haskins promised to deliver to her the following day. She claims he did not return the instruments.

The portable saw is the invention of Charles S. Lemon, her husband, who formed the Clayton organization. W. H. Dehm represents Mrs. Lemon.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

MOTHER WINS. Agnes Zilaitis, who left her husband and brought her son Stanie, 6 years old, to this city, using other names to escape location by her husband, Stanie Zilaitis, successfully resisted his efforts in Judge Taft's court yesterday to recover the boy. Mr. Zilaitis claims his wife is unfit to have Stanie's custody. The court was satisfied that the boy's tender age best fits him to be with his mother and she was awarded his custody until further order of the court. Meantime, the father may see the child.

HUSBAND GAINS DECREE. The man won yesterday in the Garrett divorce suit. The suit was filed by Mrs. Mary E. Garrett, who won prominence in political circles. She charged desertion. Henry M. Garrett filed a cross-complaint, and made the same charge. Judge Monroe gave the decree to Mr. Garrett.

FERRETING OUT SHEEP THIEVES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OWENSMOUTH, Aug. 11.—Sheep thieves were quite common in the old pastoral days when the tending of herds and flocks was the principal industry in this section, but since the advent of more modern civilization the species has become nearly extinct.

A scene was witnessed in Justice Glynn's courtroom today which harked back to the days of the padres, when Adolfo Sanchez was tried on a charge of stealing sheep from Joe Petuya.

The introduction of a fresh pelt and carcass as evidence, same having been found in possession of the prisoner, was deemed sufficient cause for remanding Sanchez to the County Jail, where he will await trial in the Juvenile Court, he being under 18.

PARTNERS BY MAIL.

Justice of the Peace Glynn of Chatsworth, who was called to the Owensmouth court to hear the case of the Woods Lumber Company versus Wise & Botwin of Cornell, found for the plaintiff.

It appears that Nathan Wise, recent postmaster at Cornell, and Israel Botwin, star route mail carrier between that place and Owensmouth, were business partners for some time.

The men finally quarreled over land matters. Wise is alleged to have ordered a bill of lumber before the partnership was dissolved, and now neither wishes to pay for same. Botwin gave notice of appeal to the Superior Court.

Collision Near the Hippodrome Theater Wrecks Two Machines and Stand.

Two automobiles and a lemonade stand were wrecked last night in front of the Hippodrome Theater when G. T. Griffith of Long Beach drove his machine into that of W. W. Ridot of No. 123 West Adams street. Ridot's machine was stationary, but the impact of the collision hurled it back into the lemonade stand of C. J. Russell, smashing it. Mr Russell was injured by the wreckage of his stand and treated at the Receiving Hospital for lacerations of the head. Griffith was arrested on a charge of intoxication.

ACCIDENTAL KILLING.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WATTS, Aug. 11.—Accidental killing was the Coroner's jury verdict at the inquest today over the bodies of Mrs. Pilar Martinez and Mrs. Marie Ramirez, Mexican women, who were struck last night by a Santa Ana Pacific Electric car on Compton boulevard. The jury was composed of C. M. Newby, N. Berger, George Witz, H. Irwin, A. J. Bowers and J. M. Baily. With one veil wrapped around their heads the two women stepped on the track in front of the car, traveling at the rate of thirty miles an hour, evidently not hearing the whistle blow.

AFTER LOTTERY DIVES.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 11.—Mayor Capps was today warned of an organization of hatchet men in the Chinese quarter. The Mayor received the warning in a letter from a Chinese who signed himself "Jim" and wrote the letter in pidgeon English. The letter said that some thirty Chinese lottery dives are in operation and that young boys not more than 12 years of age are gambling there. The Mayor expressed doubt of the existence of the hatchet men, but said he believed the lottery dives were operating and that they would be dealt with summarily by the police department.

MAYOR YOUNG GROWING OLD.

All of His Improvement Plans are Under Fire.

Wants a City Park and Seats Around the Plaza.

But the People Say He has no Power to Act.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 9.—Every time that Phoenix's altruistic and optimistic Mayor tries to do something for the uplift and amelioration of the masses, something bobs up to prevent.

At this time two of Mayor George U. Young's pet schemes are under fire. One is for the purchase of a municipal amusement park, the other the erection of a combined bandstand and comfort station on the City Hall plaza.

For some time a proposition to purchase Riverside Park, an amusement resort a mile south of the city, and operate it as a municipal park, has been tentatively discussed. It was known that the owners of Riverside had made a proposition to the Mayor and commissioners.

One afternoon the commission got together and passed an emergency ordinance empowering the manager to proceed with the purchase, lease or option of a park. The emergency clause reads as follows:

"It is necessary for the preservation of the peace, health, safety and welfare of the city of Phoenix and the citizens and inhabitants thereof, that a proper place of amusement and recreation be maintained."

PEOPLE KICK.

There are some citizens so perverse that they will not see how the peace, health and safety of the municipality is threatened by its nonownership of Riverside. These same citizens think that the $65,000 or $75,000 which Riverside is to cost could be more advantageously expended for street paving or more lights. There is talk of attacking in the courts the authority of the commission to expend funds for a park without the formality of holding a special election.

It is on the same ground that an injunction preventing the commission and manager from proceeding with the building of a bandstand and comfort station is to be sought. That structure is to cost $2500. It is also contended that the commission has no authority to use the City Hall plaza for such a purpose.

One improvement the commission has provided for, and which has not aroused any protest, is the paving of the streets in front of the Federal Building, the Central school and a lot in the northeastern part of the city owned by the school district. Until a short time ago there was no law under which districts could spend money for paving and other improvements on streets adjacent to school property. The Phoenix district has issued bonds and the cost of the paving to be done by the city will eventually be returned to the treasury. The city will have to pay for the paving at the Federal Building for Uncle Sam will spend no money whatever for street improvements.

SIXTEEN TO ONE.

Northern Soldier Failed to Hit Confederate Who Now Is Governor of Georgia.

[St. Joseph News Press:] The fact that he shot at Gov. Harris of Georgia sixteen times and missed each time—may win for L. C. Wade of Cornelia, Ga., an appointment on the governor's staff provided the governor can prevail upon the State Legislature, now in session, to abolish the age limit of sixty years. Gov. Harris is a Confederate veteran. Mr. Wade served in the Northern army.

When the present governor was camping a year ago he met Mr. Wade at Cornelia. Talk turned to the fighting at Mooreфield, Va., in the '60s.

"Where were you on the morning of the second-day battle when you fellows were making it so hot for us?" asked the Confederate veteran.

"I was on outpost duty on the extreme eend of the upper right wing and I thought every minute would be my last," replied Mr. Wade.

"You don't mean it. Well, tell me did you see a man saddle a roan horse and ride off at top speed?"

"Did I see him? Why, I shot at that man sixteen times and missed him every time."

"It's a good thing you missed," laughingly concluded Mr. Harris, "or I wouldn't be here. I'm the man you shot at."

A close friendship resulted from the meeting and culminated today in Gov. Harris announcing that he would try to have the Legislature change the age limit in Mr. Wade's favor.

UNCLE SAM'S MANY ISLANDS.

More Than Eight Thousand Over Lhich the American Flag Floats With Ten Million Population.

[The American Boy:] It will probably surprise you to learn that the United States flag flies over 8000 islands. According to a report received by the National Geographic Society, their population totals 10,000,000. Four hundred millions of dollars of American capital is invested in these islands, and each year they send to the United States products to the value of $100,000,000. Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Alaskan Islands have shown startling development since coming under the Stars and Stripes. Fifteen years ago there was but one schoolhouse in Porto Rico. Today nearly 200,000 boys and girls are attending school there. Three hundred and sixty-five thousands tons of sugar are now produced annually, as against 65,000 under the Spanish regime. Hawaii has shown a similar prosperity.

ENGINEERS RECALL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WATTS, Aug. 11.—Owing to the fact that City Clerk V. R. Franklin was included in the petition asking for the recall of the five Trustees of Watts and with whom the petition was filed August 5, City Engineer R. E. Kyle was appointed by the City Council to examine the recall petition as to its efficiency or insufficiency. He will have until the 15th to decide what is to be done, so far as the Council is concerned.

Opinion.

CARRANZA'S SECRETARY TALKS OF POSSIBLE CLASH.

Declares First Chief has Country Subdued and American Feet on Mexican Soil Would Mean Fight. Consul States Time for Armed Action has Passed.

Gustavo Spinosa Mireles, private secretary to Gen. Carranza and confidential agent of the Constitutionalist chief, reached Los Angeles yesterday, spent a few hours closeted with Adolpho Carillo, local Carranza Consul, and departed for El Paso shortly after noon.

He was accompanied by Senor G. Solano, editor of the Mexican paper El Progreso at Laredo, and former Congressman under the Madero regime.

"Gen. Carranza and the Mexican people will resent with force any invasion of Mexican territory by United States troops or troops of any other nation," said Mr. Mireles yesterday. "Gen. Carranza has 200,000 veteran soldiers, well armed and equipped, ready to die if necessary in defense of Mexican soil.

"While the Mexican people and Gen. Carranza desire above everything else to retain the friendship of the American people and to avoid war, the invasion of Mexican territory would be an act of hostility and be regarded equivalent to a declaration of war.

"The Constitutionalist government has established itself in twenty-six of the States forming the Mexican confederation. In all of these except in the territory where actual conflicts are being carried on with bandits the civil government is being conducted peaceably and in a lawful manner.

"The party controls every seaport of any consequence on the Atlantic and all but one on the Pacific Coast of Mexico. Uprisings have been put down and Gen. Carranza has defeated and scattered the forces of Villa and Zapata, and established law and order in Mexico. Except for parts of the States of Chihuahua and Sonora, his enemies have absolutely no foothold in the country.

"Now that he has succeeded in restoring to the people by force of arms all that they had lost during the rule of the Cientifico party, he does not intend that a power which does not represent the Mexican people shall interfere and set up a government which they must accept.

"Mexico is not alone in denying any foreign power the right to settle or interfere with rule within its borders. Central and South American countries view with disfavor and alarm the high-handed manner in which President Wilson threatens to interfere.

"Telegrams from Argentina, Guatamala, and other countries, that offered their good offices in securing peace, emphatically deny their sanction of armed intervention."

Adolpho Carrillo, who has charge of Carranza's consular affairs in Southern California, said yesterday: "Intervention by the United States at this time would be the signal for a coalition of the Mexican people. Fighting for a common cause, the Mexicans will stand shoulder to shoulder against a foreign invader. The time for intervention has passed. The war that would be precipitated would be long and bloody. Thousands of American lives would be the price of ultimate victory in Mexico.

"And there is no occasion for intervention. If President Wilson were to defeat the will of the Mexican people and force them to accept a government by which they have no voice—which is what armed intervention would amount to—he would be responsible for the bloodshed."

SAVING THE MUSTACHE.

European Soldiers Ordered to Shave the Upper Lip for Warsons.

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times:] A man has been denouncing his feminine partner for permitting fashion to influence her fashions is done has been or is to be affected by more important particulars of physiognomy. Throughout the European empire the up-pointed mustache, of course, has been tabooed since the Kaiser himself is said to have ordered the shape of his hirsute adornment. Now comes word of a military order to the Canadian expeditionary forces that the men shall not be allowed to shave their upper lips. The reason given is that the pressure irritates nerves connecting with the eyes and that the sight may thereby be injured. This is the official reason, but the civilian may be pardoned for fancying that some deeper reason is concealed.

The smooth-faced soldier presents a smarter appearance than his bearded brother, but the latter doesn't look half so fierce. It is said that the dreaded Germans owe much strongly upon their bristling mustaches to strike terror into the hearts of the enemy. One has only to study the pictures of our own Civil War to perceive—the contrast between the appearance of the boys of '61 and the modern fighting men. It is also well known that a very large proportion of the preservers of the Union were mere youngsters, but one would never guess it from the published portraits which portray them "bearded like the pard" as "they braved on to fame and reputation at the cannon's mouth."

MUNICIPALLY OWNED MOVING PICTURE THEATERS.

After Next Year the City of Norway May Assume Control of Moving Picture Theaters.

[New York Sun:] After a campaign led by women the Norwegian Diet has passed a law according to which the licenses of all moving picture theaters will expire next year. Then the municipalities will have the choice of running the theaters or renewing the licenses of private parties. Several cities, Vardo, Notodden, Fredriksstad and Tromso—have signified their intention of municipalizing their moving picture theatres. Several of the other cities have the same plan under advisement.

Trondhjem has notified the owners of the theaters that it will assume control of theaters on January 1. Then the mayor proposes to municipalize or maintain only the large theaters. While this is a radical move on the part of the Norwegian government, in Germany the moving picture companies have been under government control for quite a long time. Ten per cent of every dollar sold is paid to the Kaiser. In Sweden and Norway the government has made extensive use of the motion picture, popularizing the extension work of government universities.

Only in America, England, the Balkan countries and in the Far East has the management of moving picture theaters been allowed to remain in the hands of private investors and companies. It is estimated that in New York City would have an income of $4000 a day if the moving picture theaters were required to pay the same tax they pay in Germany.

WARNING BY BARNES

Fears an Autocracy is Incubating.

Forecasts a State Like that of Germany Unless We Check Ourselves.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Aug. 12.—William Barnes, Jr., today warned the constitutional convention, now in session here, that if a step was not put to what he termed "socialistic" or class legislation there would be established in this country an autocratic state similar to that of Germany, "denying utterly the American theory of equality."

Incidentally, the Republican leader compared Theodore Roosevelt to Bismarck and asserted that the Progressive party had inaugurated and was advocating the identical policy which had caused the Socialist party in Germany to become the largest single group in the Reichstag.

In his speech Mr. Barnes, referring to the European war, said:

WILSON INDORS TO MEXICA

[BY A. P. NIGH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Wilson, on his return from Cornish, N. H., today was given a comprehensive account of the Mexican situation in all its phases, by Secretary Lansing.

The Secretary told the President that official reports indicated the situation in the vicinity of Brownsville was of a local character, and that quiet prevailed at Vera Cruz, where there has been some anti-foreign demonstrations. He outlined in detail the discussion of peace plans at the New York conference yesterday of the American diplomats.

Neither the President nor Secretary Lansing was inclined to view the situation as requiring any further precautionary measures than have been taken in sending battleships to Mexican waters, and more Federal troops to the Texas border. They devoted most of their time to a discussion of the inter-American plan, on which they are placing their hopes for the early restoration of peace in Mexico.

The appeal to all factions has not yet been sent, although signed by Secretary Lansing and the ambassadors and ministers of the six Central and South American governments participating in the conference. A list of chiefs, generals and Governors is being compiled and as soon as the locations of all are determined the appeal will be telegraphed simultaneously to every part of Mexico.

CARRANZA'S REFUSAL.

On the eve of this action came the announcement from the Villa agency here tonight that Gen. Carranza had flatly refused to enter into any peace conference, and would treat with his opponents only on terms of unconditional surrender. Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of Gen. Villa, gave out letters which have passed between him and Eliseo Arredondo, the Carranza representative

"Pulse."

ALLIES CANCEL EARLY PEAC

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLU

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 12.—The Chicago wheat pit—the "pulse" of the world's grain trade—closed today in feverish excitement following the announcement by representatives of the allies of grain contracts aggregating over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat, recently bought for September shipment.

What word the European buyers received from abroad remained a mystery. It was of sufficient import, however, to cause the foreign buyers to surrender a profit of around 10 cents a bushel or over $200,000 on the contracts cancelled, so that they might be relieved of them.

Not only were cancellations reported by Chicago houses, but some of the seaboard exporters claimed to have closed out all open contracts, in one instance the United Kingdom buyer reselling at equal to 24 cents
